

Heartened America Cheers, Soviets Pooh-Pooh Shepard's Feat

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A heartened America cheered space pioneer Alan B. Shepard Jr. today, and stood by to give him a hero's welcome—while the Soviets pooh-poohed his grueling trip 115 miles into space.

But Shepard, whose code name is "Freedom 7", is far away from all this.

He faces two days of seclusion on Grand Bahama Island and a scientific grilling to wring from him the most minute details of his 15-minute adventure.

The White House and President Kennedy will wait until Monday—as will the nation—to give Shepard his welcome.

New York City and Los Angeles offered ticker tape parades whenever Shepard was ready.

There was little doubt that Shepard's feat—and the perfect shot of his Redstone rocket—were a major step for the U. S. man in space program, aimed at putting a man in orbit before the year is out.

But the official Soviet news agency Tass said the Project Mercury shot could not be compared with the 100-minute flight around the world by Soviet space pioneer Yuri Gagarin.

The difference is clearly the huge Soviet rockets and their ability to carry more weight at greater speeds into space.

But at least on existing evidence, Shepard's attempts to control his space capsule—even though it was backed up by automatic systems that insured against error—seemed somewhat more than Gagarin's.

If the Soviet Union was reluctant to credit the feat, Shepard's hometown of Derry, N. H., was not.

The whole town exploded into a full-scale holiday when news arrived that Shepard and his space capsule had splashed down safe and well into the Atlantic some 302 miles off the Florida coast.

Residents hailed Shepard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., and their daughter, Pauline.

The governor was thinking of proclaiming a state-wide celebration in the space pilot's honor—and some Derry residents seemed ready to change the name of the town to "Spacetown, U. S. A."

While the parents were tensely watching their son's exploit on television at Derry, Shepard's wife, Louise, and their two children watched on tv, too, at their Virginia Beach, Va., home.

"This is just a baby step, I guess, to what we will see," Mrs. Shepard said. To the question of whether she would like to see her husband orbited around the world in a rocket, she hesitated, then said: "Well, it is a hard question, but, yes, since he wants it so very badly."

Mrs. Shepard, 34, seems to know the same side of her rocket-steady husband as do the psychologists who helped pick him for the job.

Members of Congress have suggested that Shepard be given the Congressional Medal of Honor.

President Kennedy told a news conference he would ask Congress for more money to promote space efforts. Earlier he had said "All America rejoices" in Shepard's feat.

"We have a long way to go in the field of space," said Kennedy. "We are behind, but we are working hard and we are going to increase our efforts."

Salutes to Shepard's feat echoed through the capitals of Britain, West Germany, France, Canada, Spain, South Africa, Nationalist China and all through Latin America.

After his visit to the White House, he is expected back at this Florida base, for extended tours in the astronaut's flight trainer—a last attempt to relive the strange ordeal in space.

Scientists need to know everything they can of the brutal presures of speeding up and slowing down in rocket travel. And about the unearthly experience of weightlessness.

Shepard experienced some five minutes of continuous weightlessness and performed all of his assigned tasks capably during this time, taking some of the mystery out of the space flight phenomena.

The major physical stress of the flight was apparently during the encountering of the forces that crushed Shepard back into his seat during reentry—forces 11 times as powerful as gravity.

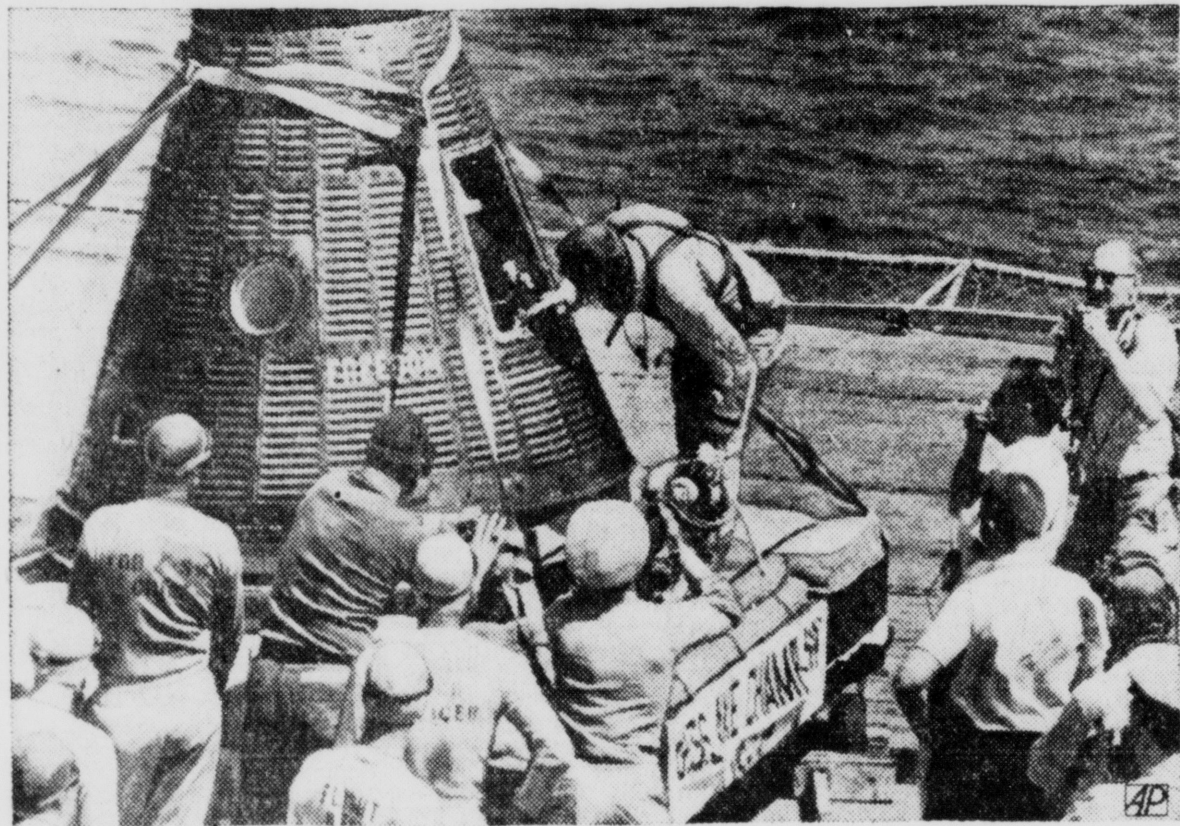

During this period of stress, Shepard's pulse rate rose to 120 per minute. Then it returned to 105 as the G-force lessened.

Space pilots who have faced G-forces in the centrifuge have learned reflex mechanics of coping with them. They deliberately tense up—and in this way help keep their blood flow normal.

Shepard, cheered by the sailors who lined the deck of the carrier that picked him up, was also toasted with champagne when he arrived by plane at Grand Bahama Island. But he didn't get any himself.

He had to be satisfied with a big shrimp cocktail, a roast beef sandwich and iced tea.

The six remaining astronauts saluted Shepard's remarkable flight. All of them had had a hand in it.

Astronaut Boosts Prestige of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON (AP)—Alan B. Shepard's ride into space gave a lift today to lagging U. S. prestige in the world and the wide open display of the adventure brought cheers.

Western Europe praised both Shepard's courage and the courage of the United States in not wrapping its first manned space shot in secrecy. Even the Communist world admired the astronaut's fearlessness.

The reaction in Communist capitals was admiration for Shepard, mild praise for the feat itself and reminders that the U. S. astronaut's flight could not compare historically or technically with

Unity Aim Of Rusk AT NATO

To Stress Drives In Laos and Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew to Europe today to tell Allied foreign ministers that the strongly aggressive operations of the Communist bloc in such places as Laos and Cuba make greater unity and military strength imperative.

Rusk left at 8:05 a.m., heading for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's foreign ministers' council in Oslo, Norway, starting Monday.

President Kennedy told a news conference Friday that he hopes NATO "will be strengthened by the meeting in Oslo and that we will make a more determined effort."

"I believe that as other situations become more difficult there is a common recognition of the need for closer collaboration," Kennedy said. "That is true of NATO."

To Recite Pressures
Rusk is expected to tell the Allies that as pressures from the Communist bloc increase in critical areas of cold war conflict the United States may face the WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's capital joined a jubilant America today in preparing high honors for Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., first American to travel into space.

Washington — which usually takes celebrities in stride—bustled in preparing a welcome Monday for the 37-year-old Navy officer. There was even some talk of the nation's highest honor—the Medal of Honor.

Due in Capital Monday
Everywhere in the capital there was pride and joy in Shepard's flight in the spacecraft Freedom 7. He was rocketed 115 miles into space and splashed into the Atlantic 302 miles below Cape Canaveral, Fla. The success eased the frustration of a long series of space disappointments.

Shepard will remain secluded with doctors on Grand Bahama Island until Monday, when he flies to Washington. Then a grateful nation begins to shower honors on its first spaceman.

Everyone from President Kennedy on down was trying to get into the act, all across the nation.

New York wanted Shepard for a ticker tape parade and his home state of New Hampshire planned a statewide celebration.

But Washington gets the first opportunity, and it doesn't plan to miss its chance.

Buddies to Join Him
Shepard is scheduled to arrive at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington at 10:30 a.m. Monday. There he will be met by his parents, and his wife, Louise, who waited out the tense hours

Matthew Bence, Served Armory 49 Years, Dies

One of Kingston's best known soldiers, Matthew F. Bence, retired superintendent of the New York State Armory here, died suddenly Friday of a heart seizure at his home, 259 Lucas Avenue.

He would have celebrated his 75th birthday on June 18.

Retired in 1955
After nearly a half century of service to his country, Mr. Bence retired from his position as superintendent at the Manor Avenue Armory in June 1955. At that time he left with the highest praise from the top command and the many who knew him through the various phases

Brief Tornado Kills 13, Injures 59 in Oklahoma

POTEAU, Okla. (AP)—A tornado that didn't last 10 seconds killed 13 persons and injured 59 late Friday as it tore through two tiny towns in eastern Oklahoma.

A family reunion turned into a tangle of horror when 13 died or were hurt as the twister smashed Reichert. Then it tore away half of Howe, a community of 500.

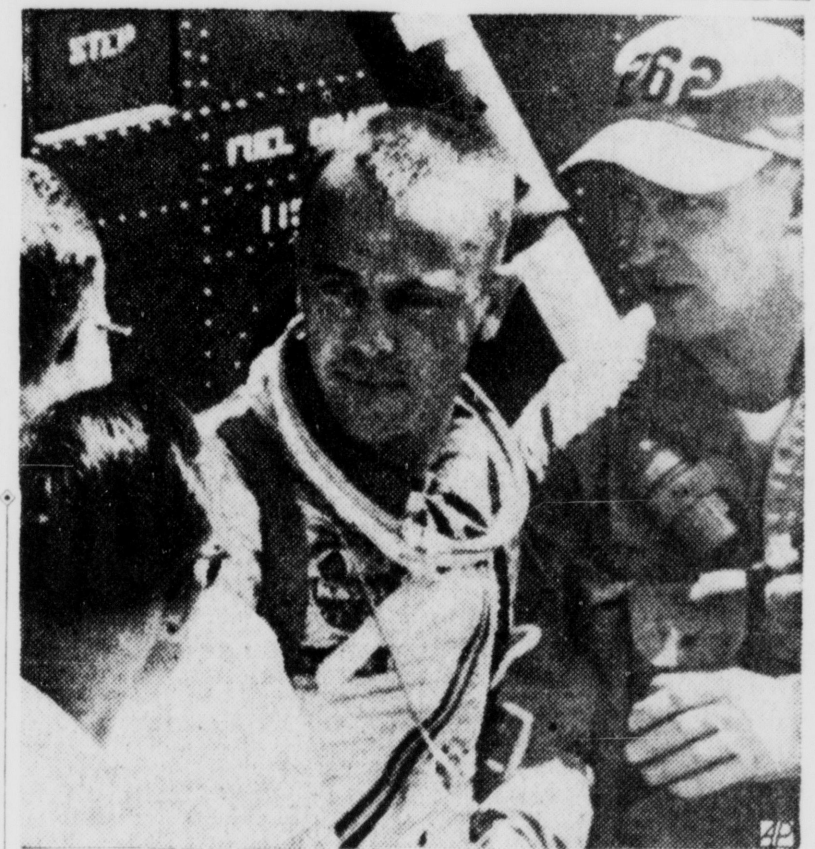

Nine died in Howe, four at Reichert.

It may have ripped a wing off a light plane. A young boy said he saw this happen and said he saw smoke rising from the forests on Winding Stair Mountain after it crashed.

The death toll may go higher. So could the number of injured. Both lists fluctuated Friday night, with victims taken to a half-dozen nearby cities.

"It didn't last 10 seconds," said Charles Lewallen.

But in those 10 seconds the big, happy reunion turned into a nightmare. Four members of the family were killed, nine injured, including two children.

Kennedy Rejoices But Tells of Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the United States still has far to go and must not relax on pride over its first human flight into space.

Outspokenly proud himself, Kennedy arranged a ceremonious White House welcome on Monday for astronaut Alan B. Shepard, Jr.

To Increase Efforts
Yet, while rejoicing with the country at Shepard's safe journey into the skies over the Atlantic, Kennedy reminded his news conference Friday that "We have a long way to go in the field of space. We are behind. But we are working hard and we are going to increase our efforts."

He said he would seek more funds from Congress, where a House committee already has recommended $126.6 million more than the administration originally sought for space projects.

He did not say how much he would ask at this time nor indicate how it should be used.

Kennedy emphasized that the United States would share its findings with other scientists in the world community and with "people who share our view that the probe into space should be peaceful, and should be for the common good."

Prods Reds on Peace
He nudged the Soviet Union to do the same. So far, he said, the Soviets have failed to come across with any information acquired from Maj. Yuri Gagarin's orbit of the globe last month. Further, he said when asked about the advance buildup of Shepard's jaunt, the United States would not be guilty of "what the Russians did."

Representatives of Britain and the Soviet Union went to the Indian foreign ministry in New Delhi early today with instructions for the International Supervisory Commission to proceed to Laos to certify that a cease-fire has taken place. The group is expected to leave for Laos Sunday.

When the cease-fire is found to be effective, Britain and the United States will agree to attend the 14-nation Geneva conference on the future of Laos.

Carry Back 5 to 2 Favorite in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fifteen of the country's top 3-year-old colts were posed for a shot at racing gold and glory in the Kentucky Derby today.

There was a threat of showers and scattered thunderstorms here but it didn't chase any of the hopefuls from the race. Actually, some trainers seemed to welcome it as their charges tried for the first place jackpot of $120,500 in the first leg of racing's triple crown. The chart hinted the colts would do all right in the mud.

Nor was the weather expected to seriously cut down the crowd, an almost legendary 100,000. Churchill Downs never gives any

President Leaning To OAS Sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy apparently has put an end to U. S. invasion training of anti-Castro Cubans and has reservations on the idea of a total U. S. economic embargo against Cuba.

Instead, he is reaching out for joint action with the other American republics to try to block Communist inroads in the hemisphere.

May Go to Meeting
The President was reported considering a trip to an inter-American meeting to underscore U. S. interest in acting jointly with Latin countries.

The new U. S. ambassador to Peru, James Loeb, said after a White House visit Friday that Kennedy was interested in attending a special Inter-American Economic and Social Council meeting that the United States has proposed.

It is slated for July 15, probably at Montevideo, Uruguay, to consider how to move ahead under Kennedy's "alliance for progress" economic aid programs.

The President announced at his news conference Friday that the United States was asking the Organization of American States, made up of the 21 American republics, to convene the Economic and Social Council meeting.

Out to Dampen Lure
A major Kennedy thesis is that economic improvement plus social progress would dampen the lure of communism for poor Latin peoples.

States would continue to train and arm Cubans as it did for the ill-fated April 17 invasion effort against Cuba, Kennedy replied. "We have no plans to train Cuban exiles as a Cuban force in this country, or in any other country, at this time."

As for a trade embargo against the Castro regime, Kennedy acknowledged that this has been considered by his top strategy group, the National Security Council.

Skeptical of Embargo
However, he noted all U. S. shipments to Cuba are already

Settle Cuba Differences, K to U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said today the United States should open negotiations with Cuba to settle its differences on a basis of "live and let live."

His speech, reported by Moscow Radio, was delivered in Erevan at a meeting of the Armenian Parliament held to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the establishment of Soviet rule in the republic.

Says World Alarmed
Khrushchev said the international situation had been aggravated recently.

"The peoples of the whole world are greatly alarmed by the intrigues of the imperialist aggressors against the freedom-loving people of Cuba."

He drew stormy applause as he condemned what he described as intervention in Cuba "which had not threatened anyone."

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Mother's Day rests upon an historical foundation of faith: The Old and New Testaments say, "Honour thy father and thy mother." The pagan festival of the "Mother of the Gods" was transformed by Christianity into the celebration honoring the "Mother Church," during which the faithful returned with gifts to the church where they were baptized. Then as young men and women left home to become apprentices and servants, "Mothering Sunday" in Mid-Lent, was set apart for them to visit their parents with tokens of their love. "Mother's Day" was first celebrated in America in Sunday schools and churches in Philadelphia in 1908. The idea came from Anna Jarvis, when she arranged a memorial service for her mother in a Virginia town. Congress passed the bill for the day in 1914: "Whereas the American mother is doing so much for the home, the moral uplift, and religion, hence so much for good government and humanity . . ."

Drew Speaker Is Slated Sunday at St. James Church

REV. WILLIAM A. IMLER

Guest speaker at the 11 a. m. Sunday service at St. James Methodist Church will be the Rev. William A. Imler, assistant to the Dean of the Theological School, Drew University.

The Rev. C. P. Hunter, pastor, will be in New York attending the 162nd Sessions of the New York Annual Conference.

The Rev. Mr. Imler will speak on Higher Education and the Methodist Ministry. St. James has been one of the leading New York Conference churches in the support of their conference program in Higher Education.

The Rev. Mr. Imler is an alumnus of Drew, having received his Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1951. In 1955 he received the Master of Sacred Theology from Yale Divinity School. His undergraduate degree was received from De Pauw University.

He served in the Navy Air Corps for two years and taught psychology for three years in the Liberal Arts College of Drew. His pastorates were served in his native state of Indiana.

In the administrative post at Drew, the Rev. Mr. Imler serves in liaison capacity between administration and faculty, and between the administration and the students; supervises the school's program of scholarships and financial aid; and coordinates the Theological School's Preaching Hours and Conventions, which brings to the campus visiting leaders in religion.

He also acts as director of recruitment, a program in which potential theological students are introduced to Drew.

Church Council Begins United Clothing Appeal

The United Clothing Appeal of Church World Service is again being conducted this spring by the Protestant churches in the Kingston area under the auspices of the Kingston Area Council of Churches.

The clothing collected is sent to New York City where it is processed, packed and shipped to countries around the world where refugees, victims of war, natural or economic disasters are in desperate need. To relieve suffering among these pitifully impoverished, the churches need more than 15 million pounds of good used clothing this year. And this will only begin to meet the actual need.

Contribution of used clothing, cleaned and mended, will be collected at individual churches before Saturday morning, May 20. On that date the boxes of clothing will be brought to the Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets, where volunteers will weigh the clothing and prepare it for shipping to New York City.

Last year over two tons of used clothing were given by members of local churches to this worthy cause. Through the generosity of Herzog Supply Co. and Rupp Trucking Corp. collection and shipment of the clothing to New York City was done without cost to the council.

Members of the United Clothing Appeal Committee for the Kingston area are: William E. Ryland and the Rev. W. G. Cochrane, co-chairmen; Miss Ethel M. Hull, the Rev. H. E. Christiana, Robert H. Low.

Colleges Set Up Center To Link Activities

CORNING, N. Y. (AP) — Five New York and Pennsylvania colleges and universities announced today the establishment of a center to coordinate the activities and some of the operations of the institutions.

Dr. J. Ralph Murray, president of Elmira College, said the aims of the University Center of the Finger Lakes would include some staff exchange, coordination of cultural and special campus events, group purchasing of supplies, and collaboration of costlier projects beyond the means of any individual college.

Bishop Asserts

More Stewardship Needed Now by Conquest of Space

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP) — Man's conquest of space increases the need for stewardship, "the way we use all that God has given us—money, ability and time," an Episcopal bishop suggests.

The Rt. Rev. William C. Crittenden, bishop of the Erie, Pa., Episcopal Diocese, offered the advice Friday night at the 53rd annual convention of the church's Central New York Diocese.

More than 250 delegates from 150 churches are attending the two-day session, which ends today. Among the delegates are five women, eligible for the first time to attend in that capacity.

Stanley Rayfield of Forest Hills Friday was named executive secretary of a new promotion department. The diocese created the post at its 1960 convention.

Fulbright Feels JFK Fails U.S. On Commie Alert

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., suggests that President Kennedy so far has failed to adequately alert the nation to the dangers of communism.

But, Fulbright told a news conference Friday "I hope he will get to this in the near future."

The senator, in response to a question about Kennedy's role in pointing out communism's dangers, replied:

"Perhaps he has neglected this aspect of his responsibility."

There may be a good reason, however, Fulbright added. He cited the problems of a change in administration.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, hailed the space flight Friday by Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., as "extremely successful from the point of view of the individual and of the country."

"We were about to reach the point where we were, perhaps, becoming defeatists," Fulbright said.

Buick Salesman

Receives Award

Edward J. Dick Gross of Catskill Avenue, Kingston, a salesman for Kingston Buick Co., Inc., 10 Main Street was awarded a Royal Purple Salesmaster standing in the elite Buick Salesmaster Club, according to records released today by the Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corp., Flint, Mich.

This exclusive club is composed of leading Buick salesmen from coast to coast. Membership is based on points for each Buick sold during the year. A minimum of 600 points is required for Salesmaster rating and 1000 points for Royal Purple standing.

Royal Purple Salesmasters receive a diamond mounted in gold pin displaying the Buick crest. A diamond is added for each year the salesman qualifies as a Royal Purple Salesmaster. He also receives a certificate of achievement.

Monthly Investment Plan Adds Stock at Fair Price

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I want to purchase growth stocks for the education of my five children. I own International Business Machines and have accrued a good profit. Shall I sell and take my profit, or should I buy more? Shall I also invest in other stocks?" — J. C.

A) You hold shares in one of the very strongest of all growth companies. Although it is very hard to rationalize the price of IBM, it is an ideal stock for your purpose, and I would hate to see you lose your position in it.

IBM's chart picture over the past ten years has been one of ascending highs and lows each year without interruption. The price rise during the period has come to around 1900 per cent.

Instead of committing new sums of capital to IBM at present levels, why not add to your holdings through a Monthly Investment Plan? In this manner you could increase your commitment gradually over the next five years at a fair average price. If you have new money to put into stocks, I think you should begin to diversify. I suggest you look closely at Emerson Electric, Harris-Intertec, Sterling Drug, Reynolds Tobacco, and Southern Co., all on the Big Board. Any or all of these stocks are capable of the long-term appreciation you desire.

Q) "I don't have any money to lose. Three years ago I bought U. S. Industries at $13.75. Should I sell at a loss?" — M. T.

A) Since you wrote me, your shares have moved back to the 14 level. The company seems to be in the process of earnings recovery, which may come from its stake in automation and teaching machines. Backlog is up sharply and chances are good for a further rise, possibly to around 20. I would stay with this stock a little longer.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Peter Arena, 5, apparently choked to death Friday night after he stuck a toy plastic pistol in his mouth, police said. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludovico Arena.

Feels We Lack Respect of Every Point in Society

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — The president of the New York State Psychological Association claims "there is no respect for anything" in American society.

Dr. Max Siegel, a professor at Brooklyn College, told 300 delegates to a meeting of the state group Friday night that moral squalor has become our standard bearer.

"Cheating is the norm," he said. "Corporations engage in price fixing. American youth has been trained in high-powered living of condoned skullduggery."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 6, 1961

OUR TAX BURDEN

Monday, May 8, the average New Yorker will start working for himself for the first time this year. Up to this time he will have been working for government, according to the Empire State Chamber of Commerce, which estimates that it takes him over one-third of each year to earn enough money to pay his share of the nation's total tax bill.

The country's total tax bill this year will be about $131 billion. Of this amount, $18 billion will be paid by residents of New York. Relating this to the $49 billion estimated personal income of the people of New York State means that taxes this year are taking nearly 37 per cent of the income earned by New Yorkers, the chamber declares.

If this is applied to the working year of the average person, it takes him almost 89 days to earn enough money to pay his proportionate share of our tax burden.

"Italy lacks funds to preserve relics," says a headline. After taxes, we almost lack funds to preserve life.

WHAT BUSINESS CAN DO

Attorney General Kennedy again reiterated, in his address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, that the Department of Justice has launched and will vigorously press an attack on "widespread" price-fixing conspiracies in American business. One's superficial reaction to this might be to conclude that the present administration is hostile to business and intends to harass it whenever possible.

Such a reaction is not warranted. For one thing, the present drive against price-fixing merely continues the campaign begun in the Eisenhower administration. It also is pertinent that President Kennedy has explicitly stated that government and business are allies rather than natural enemies.

The latter view was recently given strong public support by one of the nation's leading industrialists, Henry Ford II. In an interview he declared that the nation cannot afford "the ludicrous spectacle of old-fashioned guerrilla warfare between business and government—certainly not at this moment of history."

Both business and government have responsibilities in averting any such spectacle. The government has an obligation to avoid sensationalism in pursuing its crackdown on price fixing. Business leaders have an obligation to purge their firms of wrongdoing and to place an effective ban on such practices in the future.

Ford also has something to say on this subject. In a Minneapolis address, he declared that when illegal practices are uncovered in a corporation its top men should have the "plain guts" to say: "This is our failure; we are chastened and sorry. It will not happen again." He added pointedly that "otherwise, the house cleaning job certainly will be put in less friendly hands." This is particularly apt counsel as the government pursues its drive against conspiracy to fix prices.

TOO MUCH WEIGHT

More and more evidence of a link between excessive weight and heart disease keeps piling up. Though absolute proof is lacking, no one who is overweight can any longer afford to be complacent about the matter.

The latest bit of evidence was reported by Dr. Margaret J. Albrink of Yale University at a meeting of the American Federation for Clinical Research. She and her colleagues have done research which points to a significant proneness to coronary artery disease in men having a tendency to gain weight after they reach maturity.

This and other research findings strongly support the idea that men and women, but especially men, should exercise restraint as to both the kind and amount of food they eat. There is little to be said for letting one's weight creep past the normal mark, and a great deal to be said against it.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
WHO IS WRONG?

This is in response to a letter from a lady in Louisiana, who writes:
Without knowing much about the Russians, I am sure that their development and accomplishments are spotty and I think we should be told about it.

"I know that their development has been remarkable but what about theirs in comparison to ours."

"I imagine that they lack aesthetic sense. Their interests are limited in their scope. They set a goal and achieve it, but there are more goals than are heard of in their philosophy."

"Do you realize how wonderful we are? I would hate to turn a middle middle class (sic) Russian loose among the second hand stores and tell her to develop a home. The result would be horrid. An American woman can develop a charming home with soap boxes and a little paint. Our working girls have the grooming and good taste of debutantes. Things like that are not superficial. They require admirable qualities."

Perhaps the weakness in our position as regards Soviet Russia is that we have underestimated the Russians. The assumption in the above letter is that the Russians are barbarians, although there is a history of more than a thousand years of culture and civilization of a very high order. As long as we believe that every Russian is a moujik, we shall continue to underestimate the peoples who live in the vast area which is marked Russian on the map.

How can anyone say that the Russians lack an aesthetic sense, by which, I assume that my correspondent means that the Russians have produced nothing in the various fields of art. One need only know Russian music, Rimsky-Korsakov, Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff, to mention only a few pre-Bolshevik composers; or in literature, Tolstoy, Gorki, Chekhov, merely to scratch the surface of the subject. In science, the Russians and Poles have a long and important history, including Copernicus (a Pole), Mendeleev, who worked out the table of valences, and among moderns many others.

I am not listing the wonders of Russia. That is their job. I am denouncing the ignorance of those who believe that wisdom and knowledge can be the monopoly of any one people. After all, Avicenna, (born in Bukhara in 980), one of the great philosophers of the Middle Ages, came from a country which is now become weak and backward.

It is not lessening the structure of the United States to recognize that there have been about 8,000 years or more of written history, whereas we have been on this continent only three centuries. We have inherited from others because the culture of man is continuous. Greece and Rome and Palestine and the long ancestral history of England have played an enormous role in the development of the United States.

The assumption of exclusiveness is distorting. It leads to false conclusions. We exaggerated the significance of Sputnik because we assumed that the Russians could never do what we could not yet do. Some folks, even yet, refuse to believe that there has been a Sputnik and a Lunik and it is this lack of understanding which is partly responsible for our failures in Cuba, the Congo, Laos and elsewhere. Someone spread the notion that there is some extraordinary gift called know-how which is exclusively American. We have been shocked to discover that know-how is exclusive to no people; that what one people knows is soon known to all.

In the 1920's we spoke of the United States as "God's own country," which was both unhistorical and sacrilegious, for surely all the universe is God's. The metaphor, however, meant that this was the best country on Earth to live in, which is true for Americans but not for Hindus, Chinese, Welshmen or Scandinavians. They like their own country as we like ours. Therefore, when the 1929 Depression appeared we morally dropped dead. When Roosevelt tried to convince us that a third of the nation were economically disabled, we forgot about "God's own country," which became a corny expression. We insisted that all American history prior to 1932 had been an error and that we need to try altogether new methods. Thus, producing the confusing New Deal.

We need a more realistic attitude toward ourselves and toward the rest of the world. We need to recognize that we are one fact in a vast geography and a long history and that we do not exaggerate our own importance or underestimate the values of other nations. There is no greater peril than ignorance overlaid by emotions particularly when we reject knowledge to prove an assumption. The error of the past 40 years in our relations with Soviet Russia and Soviet satellites is that we have been unwilling to believe the truth about them because the proof did not sound true.

The Mature Parent

Don't Try to Shrug Off Parent's Responsibility

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
Four years ago when our daughter was divorced, her five-year-old boy started calling her "Nancy." He still does it. It doesn't sound right to his father and me. When we tell her that it sounds disrespectful, she gets angry and accuses us of being "old-fashioned." Is it old-fashioned to believe that a child should call his mother "Mother"?

ANSWER: If you are a divorced mother, you can become afraid of the responsibility of rearing your child without help. Having failed as a wife, the prospect of also failing as a mother haunts you. If you are not aware of this most natural fear, you may deal with it by pretending that you're not a mother. You may encourage your child to avoid the parental title and treat you like the youngster you feel yourself to be.

Your feeling is:
"Child, don't expect too much of me because I can't deliver. I've done so badly with my own life that I can't take the responsibility of preparing you for yours. So get me off the hook of my adulthood. Think of me as your contemporary. Call me 'Nancy.'"

This is, of course, just a little game the divorced mother is playing with herself.

She is her child's mother. Whether she likes it or not, the absence of her husband makes her the chief influence in shaping her youngster's conscience.

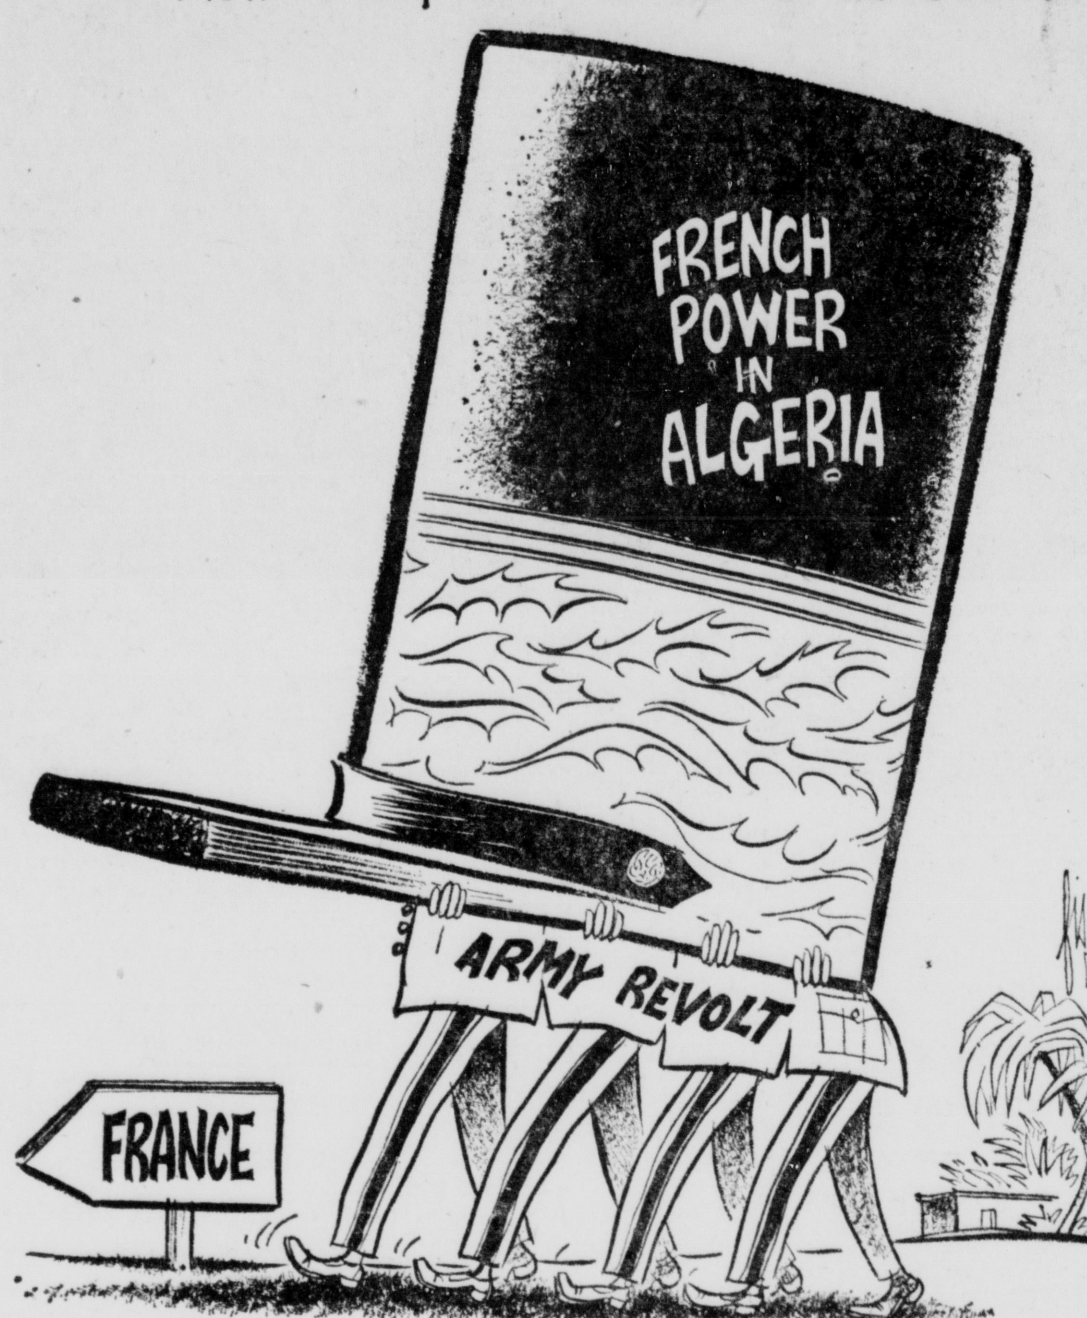

As this chief influence, she gives him approval for doing his chores and withholds it when he leaves his bicycle out in the rain. Though he called her "Tweedledee," this assumption of responsibility cannot be avoided. It should be honored instead of belittled. I, too, think your daughter should claim the parental name to which her lonely struggle entitles her.

A child should be happy in his childish dependence on us. It is his right to believe that we are wiser than he, to trust in the difference between us.

When we encourage him to regard us as another child like himself, he joins in the game of "Let's pretend there's no difference between us." This is all very cozy when he's little, but when the time comes for him to make that all-important battle for separate identity, it won't be cozy. He may not win it. Because we feared difference from him, he may be too scared of difference from us to claim it.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. Bob Kerr (D-Okla.) wants suggestions on what to name the mermaid symbol he has designed for the campaign against water pollution. The senator got the idea from Smokey Bear cartoons used in the "fight forest fires" drive.

Kerr's mermaid is a blue-eyed Irish colleen with flowing golden hair riding the waves on a broom. Best name so far: "Miss C'leen Sweep."

The Government Printing Office sells the publications, which are translated by the Commerce Department, at prices ranging from 50 cents to $10.

Among the new best sellers are "Some Characteristics of the Hypertensive Principle Contained in the Salivary Glands of Mice"; "Occurrence of Sulfate Reducing Bacteria in Oil Fields of the Kuibyshev Region With Reference to the Salt Composition of Formation Waters."

ANOTHER DIGNITARY who likes to be "different" in his speeches is Dr. Harlow Shapley, distinguished Harvard astronomer and president of the American Association for Advancement of Science. He can't stand cliches.

So instead of beginning a recent address with the familiar "Ladies and Gentlemen," Shapley opened with:
"Fellow primates."

"Nope."

Another reporter asked, "Wouldn't Joseph's dream be a better way to solve the farm problem?" The reply:
"Yep."

This hand should console readers who wonder why the expert is never wrong in a bridge column.

The bidding in the box is that indulged in by both expert teams in the same match.

At each table West led the jack of hearts and South won with the queen after North and East played low.

Later both declarers took the club finesse and wound up with three spades, one heart, five diamonds and three clubs for a total of 12 tricks.

Each was quick to point out that the slam was not particularly good one since it did depend on a finesse, but I am sure that most of you readers will already have noted that at six diamonds no finesse would be necessary. As long as all four trumps did not show up in one hand South could discard one of North's hearts on his ace of spades and make his 12th trick by ruffing a heart in dummy.

The diamond slam certainly should have been bid and, while it was not the easiest one I have seen, I do feel that both pairs should have reached it.

While there is no clear cut bidding sequences I feel that with 17 points, including two aces and two kings, North could have taken considerable more action than he did. I leave the best method to you to determine for yourselves.

$724,425 Budget Is Approved for School District

NEW PALTZ—Some 250 people attended this week's annual school budget meeting of the New Paltz Central School District. The budget of $724,425.77 was approved by a vote of 200 to 44. This is an increase of $86,940.86 over last year's budget which was $637,484.69.

John Ashton Jr., president, called the meeting to order and Mayor Henry DuBois was selected chairman. Reports were given by the treasurer, Wilbur Fredenburgh and Henry Enlund, tax collector. Dr. William Hagney explained the qualifications for voting at the school election for members of the board.

Members of the board explained the various parts of the budget as follows: General control, Walter Dyer; instructional services, Mrs. John Jacobson; Board of Cooperative Services, George Langwick; operation of plant, Joseph Foley; maintenance of plant, Charles Van Alst; fixed charges, Dr. William Hagney; auxiliary agencies, John Ashton Jr.; debt service, Joseph Foley; capital outlay, Gerald DuBois. Following an examination of the budget, a question and answer period took place.

John Ashton Jr. gave a 12-page report. He said in part: "A good school board is essential to a good school." He went on to say that the board should conduct its business in the interest of the school, as well as its responsibility to children, the teachers and the taxpayers.

He also explained that the board plans for the next year, to investigate the possibility of buying buses to transport all children in the district. The district now owns two 12-passenger buses and one carry-all. Other buses are owned and operated by Frank Van Gonsie, but this contract will expire in 1962. The estimated amount expected to operate and maintain the three district owned buses for the coming year is $5,460.

George Langwick, a board member and president of the Ulster County Board of Co-Operative Services, explained that the state reimburses the school district for 80 per cent of salaries of co-op teachers and tuition for vocational students.

Supervising Principal Fredrick Dippel explained how the budget figure is arrived at. He said that the figures are compiled throughout the year with the aid of the business manager and the teachers.

Dr. Hagney explained that the administrative figures had increased $4950 this year, but New Paltz possibly has the lowest schedule in the county.

Inspectors for the school board election were Harold Phillips, Harry Cornell, Edgar Beels, Peter Savago, Henry DuBois, Frank Nadel, Rex Schneider, and Frank Tantillo.

The New Paltz Chamber of Commerce, formulating a citizens committee on education has already contacted by letter some 20 organizations asking them to appoint a delegate to the committee. The group will meet in the village trustees room June 1 at 8 p. m.

The chamber is merely initiating the formulation of the Citizens Committee on Education. It is expected that when the committee is formed it will function independently of the chamber with its own appointed chairman.

The executive committee of the chamber met with the Board of Education of the New Paltz Central School Thursday, May 4, to discuss the formulation of such a committee.

Chamber of Commerce president, Harold Phillips, has explained that in preparing a list of organizations to send delegates, it is quite possible some organizations may have been overlooked. Senior Citizens Program Underway

Many beautiful rugs were on display at a recent Senior Citizens meeting at the firehouse. The rugs were made by Mrs. Olive Clarke, Mrs. Emma Parks, and Mrs. Grace Williams.

The afternoon's activities also included two films shown by Eric Caroe, assisted by Charles Smith. An April birthday cake honored Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Parks.

Programs in the near future include, "Hobbies Wherever You Are" on May 10 by Dave Harris and Ed Weber. Mrs. Clifford Hoppstedt of Gardiner has invited the group to her home for tea May 17. Members will meet at the firehouse first.

All senior citizens of the New Paltz area may attend Wednesday from 1 to 4 p. m. and become a part of the community wide organization.

St. Joseph's Church Activities Listed

At the 9 a. m. Mass Sunday at St. Joseph's Church 47 children will receive their first Holy Communion. They have been receiving instructions from the Benedictine Sisters for the past few months.

The May procession will be held Sunday 3 p. m. on the church grounds. Katherine Orlovsky of the first grade at St. Joseph's School will place the laurel wreath on the statue of Our Lady. Benediction will be offered in the church after the ceremonies.

Friday, May 19, the Most Rev. James Griffiths, DD, will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to 103 children of the parish at 11 a. m.

Area Activities

Lanson Rhinehart of Kingston Road, recently celebrated his birthday with a party at his home.

Mrs. Edward Morrison of 6 Wurtz Avenue, has returned home after a four-month stay with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wood of LaCanada, Calif.

Miss Ruth Jones, Mrs. David Jewett and Ivan Ferguson, assistant professors of the Campus School, and Dr. George Bond, Campus School principal, are participating in the Mid-Hudson School Study Council spring conference on language arts.

The Youth Fellowship of the New Paltz Reformed Church will visit the Flatbush Reformed Church Saturday, May 6. The theme for the discussion will be "Christ in the Twentieth Century." There will be a worship service, workshops, film, and recreation including music, a play, and sports. They will return at 8:30 p. m.

The Rev. G. J. Wullschlegler's sermon topic at the Reformed Church for Sunday will be On Hearing God.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay LeFevre Jr. and family have returned from their Florida vacation.

Jersey Troopers Gain Custody of Suspected Thief

A New Jersey man, who was shot by police when, they said, he sought to avoid questioning, has been returned to that state from Catskill to face charges in Teaneck and Palisades Park.

Fred Fevola, 20, of Teaneck, was discharged Friday from a Catskill hospital where he had been treated for a shoulder wound inflicted by Patrolman Louis Jeune of the Catskill Police Department.

He is wanted in Teaneck on a charge of stealing an automobile, and in Palisades Park for allegedly carrying a concealed weapon.

Catskill police said Jeune shot Fevola when he sped off in a station wagon after the patrolman and a state trooper sought to question him.

Fevola was arrested near the western approach to the Rip Van Winkle bridge about an hour after he abandoned the station wagon.

Talks Break Off In Milk Strike, To Resume Later

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Negotiation talks aimed at settling a six-day-old strike of milk-truck drivers broke off early today for a later resumption.

State and federal mediators met with milk dealers and officials of Local 39 of the Teamsters' Milk Ice Cream & Dairy Workers Union for nearly 17 hours Friday.

The dealers made a new proposal and the union reportedly sought a re-wording of several clauses. Talks were to resume this afternoon.

Meanwhile, about one million residents of Erie and Niagara counties were without milk delivered as 70 per cent of the area's dairies were affected.

Some dairies continued deliveries and milk was available over the counter at most of them but coolers were empty in most supermarkets. Some independent stores and vending machines were stocked.

The union said job security and work rules were the big issues in the walkout of 1,200 drivers at 30 dairies last Sunday.

The dairies said Friday night they had offered a wage increase and agreed to pay increases in medical insurance costs to union members. They also offered to withdraw a contract clause preventing dealers from selling or leasing routes to employees, they said.

State Agriculture Commissioner Don J. Wickham estimated that 3,000 dairy farmers supplying the Buffalo-Niagara Falls area had lost about $25,000 a day since the strike began.

The Israeli consul in New York has accepted an invitation from Kingston Lions Club to address the group Tuesday, May 13 at 12 noon in Governor Clinton Hotel.

Richard J. Kalish, Lions president, announced the club's program committee has arranged for Michael Pragat to speak on the subject, "Israel in the Middle East."

The invitation is part of a Lion's program to bring representatives of the various United Nations as guest speakers.

Protests Shooting

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Foreign Minister Jose Ricardo Chiriboga announced Friday night that two Peruvian launches machine-gunned an Ecuadorian boat in the Jambeli Straits, an international body of water near Guayaquil Bay.

Chiriboga said he asked for added details when advised of the incident, the latest flareup in a long border dispute between the two South American countries.

The foreign minister said he would protest to Peruvian authorities against "this new violation of the elemental rules of international law," once he has more information about it.

GENE WHELAN'S ULSTER LANDING OPEN DAILY

Federal 8-9846

Staccio ran from the house, which is set on a dirt road about 150 feet from Route 9W, and raced to the home of a neighbor who called the Kingston Police Department. City police, in turn, called Kingston state police. Investigator Edward Shannon, BCI, went to the scene. Fatum's Ambulance was also called.

Coroner McCordle said death was due to a massive hemorrhage of the left thorax.

The pistol apparently had a full clip of 12 cartridges in it when Staccio took it from the drawer. The coroner said one of them had been fired.

Had Permit for Pistol

Young Staccio's father has a permit for the pistol.

The Fatum boy, a freshman at Kingston High School, had been released early from high school because of May Day ceremonies and was visiting young Staccio. They planned to play baseball Friday afternoon.

Boy in State of Shock

McCordle said LeRoy Staccio was in a state of shock following the shooting.

He told investigating officers that he asked Fatum, "You want to see my father's gun?" Fatum replied, "Yes."

Exactly what happened, the coroner said, no one knows. No one was at home at the time.

The Staccio home is located in an isolated section between Bob Steele's buildings and the 9W Drive-In Theatre. It is directly opposite D-D's Drive-In.

Injuries Are Fatal

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—David Nowadly, 7, of Orchard Park, died Friday night in a hospital of injuries suffered April 30 when struck by an automobile while crossing a street near his home.

Lawyer's Father Injured in Fall

While mowing grass on the Kingston High School lawn shortly before 4 p. m. Friday, John A. Schick, 62, of Port Ewen, father of John J. Schick, a Kingston attorney, was injured when he slipped and rolled down an embankment.

The injured maintenance man was taken to Benedictine Hospital in Fatum's ambulance and treated for a possible fractured pelvis. Schick's condition was described as fair.

According to reports, Schick slipped and rolled down an embankment to the sidewalk.

Must Dial One Now for Long Distance Calls

Persons calling long distance must now dial "One" before the rest of the number.

The new system, which commenced at 8 a. m. today, enables the New York Telephone Company equipment to switch into long distance.

Harold Heider, manager of the Kingston Exchange, said if the customer fails to dial "One" before his number he will get a telephone operator who will explain that he failed to dial "One."

Heider said the new system was instituted for the weekend in an effort to ease the public into the new system and relieve delays during rush business hours Monday morning.

Letters explaining the change have been mailed to all Kingston customers. The information also appears in the new Kingston telephone directory.

Claims Vanguard Use Reason for Trail in Space

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The United States could have made its first man-in-space flight before Russia if the Army's Redstone rocket project had been used in 1955 instead of the Navy's Vanguard, a former assistant secretary of defense contends.

Dr. Clifford Furnas, chancellor of the University of Buffalo, said Friday he was "... led to believe that if there had been a decision to use the Redstone... the United States would have been the first to put a satellite into orbit."

"The history of the last four years would have been different," he said, "I don't say better, but different."

Furnas said he was one of three men of a nine-man committee that urged the use of the Redstone six years ago. It was a Redstone booster rocket that carried the first U. S. spaceman, Lt. Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., on his history-making 15,000-mile - an-hour flight Friday.

"The final decision was to use the Navy Vanguard, which led to a great many delays," Furnas said.

He spoke at a convention dinner of a state reserve officers organization.

Modena Area Parents Club View Movies of Plattekill Teacher

MODENA—The Modena Parent's Club met Monday evening at the Modena school, and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Merton Jenkins, and Mrs. Bernard Kopaskie, Plattekill; Mrs. Katherine Van Vliet, New Paltz; Mrs. George Bartman, Gardiner; Miss Dorothy Olree, Highland; Mrs. Russell Coy, Mrs. Fred A. Jayecees to Hold Road-e-o May 13

The Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce today announced that the Kingston Teen-age Road-e-o will be held Saturday, May 13, at Dietz Stadium. Contestants are asked to report at the stadium at 11 a. m.

The Teen-age Road-e-o is held annually and nationally by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to promote good driving habits among teenagers. The Road-e-o provides the opportunity for the teenager to demonstrate his acquired driving skill while showing the responsible citizens of the community the need for driver education.

The Road-e-o impresses safe driving habits, knowledge and attitudes in the mind of the teenager, the Jaycees point out. More than 9 million have participated in the program since its inception nine years ago.

The top winner from Kingston, boy or girl, will be sent to the state finals in Hudson June 9 and 10. The winner of the state finals will be sent to Washington for the national finals in August. In Washington the state finalists will compete for $4,900 in scholarships.

All teenagers 16 to 19 years of age who have driver's licenses are invited to enter. Chairman David Suloff will accept entries.

Bob Nadler, Inc. has provided four new cars to be used for the Kingston contest.

Committee members for the Teen-age Road-e-o include Chester Duffley, George Mine, Donald Simek, H. Streeter, Albert Trowbridge and Suloff.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After weather and taxes, no subject draws more talk in this town than pay-TV.

There was plenty of talk about the subject this week at a meeting of the Hollywood Press Club. The difference was that the speakers knew what they were talking about.

Leading off the panel was Paul McNamara, an official of Tele-america, who spoke glowingly of the firm's pay-TV venture in Toronto. "One of the things that sells pay-TV best in Toronto is the lack of commercials," he said. "Viewers are sick of them. It's not the networks that are so much at fault. When the network shows go off at 10:30, then the local stations murder the viewer with commercials."

Samuel Sacks, executive of a top talent agency, saw pay-TV as a boon for stars. "As each new entertainment medium has developed, talent has prospered," he said.

Martin Racking, production chief of Paramount, declared: "Pay-TV is as inevitable as any strike forward in any medium." Contrary to Sacks, he saw the studios regaining their power.

Sherrill Corwin gave the theater owner's view of pay-TV: "I don't like it. I can't stop it."

Selig Seligman, ABC vice president, castigated his fellow speakers for "self-interest and concern about pay-TV's commercial aspects." He said he was more concerned with the impact of pay-TV on art, aesthetics, news, communications and the welfare of the people.

"Free TV is only 10 years old," he said. "I think it has made great advances in 10 years. I'd hate to see those advances lost because of commercial aspects in pay-TV."

Whehle to Appeal $75,000 Slander Suit for Cheatum

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Louis A. Whehle, former state conservation commissioner, is appealing a $75,000 slander suit won by a department official whom Whehle had blamed for the death of thousands of pheasants.

Whatever he had said about Dr. Leonard Cheatum, assistant director of the department's Division of Fish and Game, "was fair comment," Whehle maintained in a brief filed Friday in the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court. Cheatum was awarded $75,000 in damages in State Supreme Court last June.

Whehle, a wealthy Rochester brewer, argued in the brief that Cheatum had been "a subordinate who failed to carry out his job" and "was negligent in his handling" of a disease outbreak among the pheasants.

The birds died of botulism, a bacterial poisoning, after being shipped from a state game farm in nearby Delmar to another on Grenadier Island in Lake Ontario.

Whehle served under former Gov. Averell Harriman. He resigned in 1956, during an upsurge over his public comments about Cheatum.

School Budget Rejections Ahead Of Pace in 1960

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Urban and suburban voters in 12 school districts turned down proposed budgets in annual meetings this week, the State Education Department reports.

The number of rejections is running ahead of last year but an education department spokesman attributed the increase to local problems in Suffolk County, where 8 of the 12 rejections occurred.

The others were in Nassau, Westchester, Albany and Schenectady counties.

A total of 420 districts met this week and 800 districts still have to hold their 1961 meetings, the department said Friday.

Last year, eight budgets were rejected on the first vote and 1,222 were approved.

School authorities usually amend controversial items and resubmit the budgets to new votes.

Governor Spares Rosario's Life

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has spared the life of Luis M. Rosario, 23, who had been scheduled to die in the Sing Sing Prison electric chair Thursday for a holdup-slaying.

The governor commuted Rosario's sentence Friday to life imprisonment after a judge and a district attorney appealed for clemency.

Rosario had been convicted of first-degree murder in the shooting of Philip Schickler, 65, operator of a delicatessen in New York City Aug. 10, 1959.

Two others participated in the holdup — Rafael Rios, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, and Raul Alcala, who was sentenced to 40 years to life.

The jury that convicted Rosario made the death penalty mandatory by failing to recommend leniency, apparently on the assumption that he fired the fatal shot.

Rockefeller said it had not been established clearly which of the three had fired the shot.

Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer, who sentenced Rosario, and Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard G. Denzer of New York County, who prosecuted the case, had urged clemency.

Veterans Rights, Benefits Listed

Veteran Counselor
John B. Tyler, Director

Civil Service—The popular titles of Correction Officer (male) and Women's Correction Officer are included in a long list of job opportunities under the New York State Civil Service, for which applications will be accepted up to May 22. Competitive examinations will be held June 24. Detailed announcements of these jobs may be examined in this office which will also furnish assistance in securing application forms and announcements for individuals.

Pension — The contribution made by the Federal Government for health insurance under the Retired Federal Employees Health Benefits Program is not considered as income for veterans purposes. The government contribution under this program, moreover, is not considered wages for services for social security purposes nor is it considered income for Federal Income Tax purposes.

Tax Exemption — Exemption from school taxes may be claimed by certain seriously disabled veterans whose real property is wholly or partially tax exempt. Entitlement to exemption from school district taxes may be requested under Section 458, Subdivision 3 of the New York State Tax Law. The law exempting veterans from school taxes applies only to paraplegic and other veterans who received funds from the federal government to enable them to build or purchase housing to meet their particular disabilities. Application for exemption from school taxes may be submitted to the local school district. The application may be supported by a statement or other type of proof that real property exemption has been granted by the city or town.

By following this procedure, an applicant would be able to show the amount of real property tax exemption granted by the city or town tax district and request a similar amount of exemption on school taxes.

Legislation — A bill which would provide vocational rehabilitation for veterans with a service-connected disability with service in the United States Armed Forces after Jan. 31, 1955 is now pending before the United States Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. The United States House of Representatives had already passed and sent to the Senate a measure which would provide vocational rehabilitation for such veterans.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to: Charles L. Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York, or John B. Tyler, Director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Auriville Shrine Will Open Sunday

The Auriville Shrine of the North American Martyrs will open for the 76th season on Sunday, and the early schedule of pilgrimages to the Mohawk Valley site made holy by the martyrdom of Saints Isaac Jogues, Rene Goupil and John Lalande, Jesuit missionaries to the Mohawk Indians in the middle of the 17th century, indicates another season of many activities.

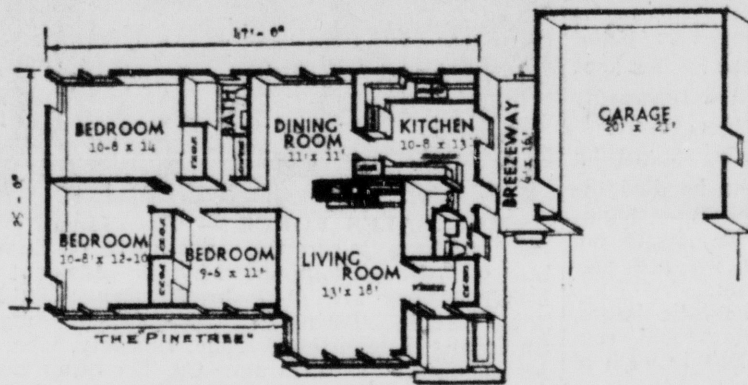

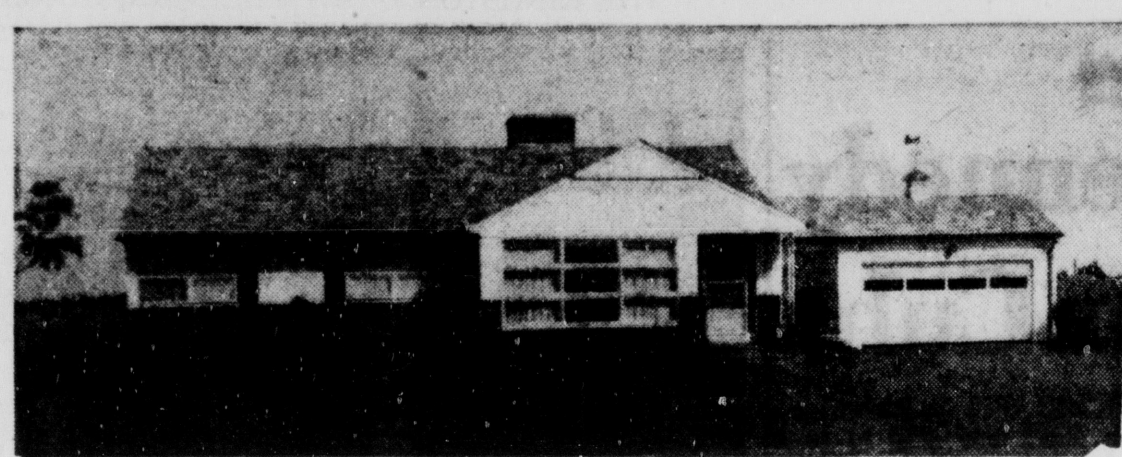

Solemn opening of the season will be made at the high Mass to be sung at 4:15 p. m. by the Rev. William J. Schlaerth, S. J., rector of the Auriville Terrestrial and Retreat House, who will direct shrine activities during the year. Father Schlaerth, who will greet pilgrims at the morning masses, will also give the sermon at the afternoon Mass.

Cabinet Dividers

Hardboard dividers in a base kitchen cabinet will help you prevent its becoming a hodgepodge of pots and pans. Put hardboard panels in vertically and hold them in place with quarter-round wood molding attached to top and bottom.

White for Safety

In the case of dark attic or cellar stairways, it's a safety measure to paint a white stripe along the outer edge of the stair tread. You'll be wise, also, to paint the bottom step all white or in a color that contrasts with the rest of the staircase.

Low Priced Ranch House Economical to Maintain

(By Associated Architects)

Some houses are so well-proportioned, they have a special sense of rightness, even at first glance. Here in the "Pinetree" you will find a balance and fine flow of detail which make it extremely appealing.

Much of this attractiveness is due to careful design. Glass is used generously and the same horizontal pane motif throughout. Slender panel blinds and a brick area under the windows add to the "Pinetree's" beauty.

All this has been done without resorting to costly extras. The basic rectangular form which spells economy and fine floor layout is practically intact. The only variance is the front gable which extends out four feet.

Using the same imaginative planning inside, Associated Architects have achieved a fine three-bedroom floor plan both efficient and extremely livable.

If a home can be built around a theme, here it would be modern, cheerful living. Ample windows—some of them corner units—in the bedrooms, mullion windows in the dining room and an expansive picture window flood the house with natural light.

Adding cheer is a contemporary fireplace, open on three sides to spread welcome warmth to both living and dining rooms. In chill weather, persons seated in these rooms are protected by a formal vestibule just inside the front door. Storm gear can be stashed in the closet on its right.

One great advantage of a ranch type is that the sleeping area can be set apart for privacy and quiet. The three bedrooms here use that principle effectively. Each has sliding door closets and is convenient to a well-appointed bathroom with large linen closet.

Every measure has been taken to make a food preparation and service easy. A modern cooking-top and built-in ovens make the kitchen up-to-the-minute. A handy lavatory is set in a niche near the doorway which leads to the garage.

Shelter is provided between house and garage by a breezeway large enough to provide a screened-in spot for warm weather relaxation. There's ample room for two cars in the garage with its sixteen foot overhead door.

On the exterior, cedar shingles are used all around, setting off the beauty of windows and the brick veneer under them. Cubage is 27,150 square feet with the living area measuring 1,290 square feet and the garage 420 square feet. Plans show details and section views for building with full basement or with no basement.

Extend Color Planning To Outdoor Furnishings

Outdoor furniture colors should be chosen in relation to the exterior color plan of the home just as indoor furniture is selected for color harmony with the walls of a room.

Careful color planning also is recommended for other decorative elements of a home's exterior. Awnings, flower boxes and even flowers themselves, particularly if the flowers are massed, come in this category.

The overall exterior color plan should be based on the roof color.

Wire Screen Makes Good Paint Scraper

To scrape loose, flaking paint off your house or furniture, tack an old piece of wire screen over a block of wood. This makes a scraper that not only outlasts sandpaper, but does the job faster. When paint clogs the screen holes, clear them by rapping the block on its side.

To Pull Brads, Tacks

Pull tiny brads, escutcheon nails, tacks, etc., with long-nose pliers instead of with hammer claws. This keeps the stock from being marred and damaged under pressure of the hammer. Lay pliers flat over nailhead and grip lightly in the cutters. The nail lifts out easily when you roll pliers over the edge of the stock.

Excellent, Is Word on Health Of U.S. Spaceman

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND (AP)—Spaceman Alan Shepard is in "excellent health" and very high spirits today, said officials at his hospital home here.

He breakfasted before 8 a. m. on scrambled eggs, orange juice, toast and jelly and faced a busy day of more medical checkups and interviews with engineers, psychologists and psychiatrists.

The other four astronauts were due in today to take part in learning Shepard's experiences as a pilot and what they might expect if they go aloft on future flights. Two others flew here Friday.

Blood Samples Normal
Engineers of Project Mercury are bringing over tapes of data recorded from his flight so they can talk more intelligently from an engineering viewpoint about what happened.

Dr. George Ruff, psychiatrist at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Robert Voas, psychologist and training officer of Project Mercury, will see Shepard today. His reflexes are being checked by Dr. Charles Jackson and Dr. Phillip Cox expects to examine the astronaut again also.

Shepard got another chest X-ray. Blood samples were found to be normal, said Mercury information officer John Powers.

When Shepard appeared at a party given at the base Friday night, he said the Grand Bahama Island support of the program has always been good and in this flight it was "out of this world." Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom slept in the hospital building with Shepard Friday night because it was felt he should not be alone, even though he was believed to be in superb physical condition.

In Fine Fettle
Medical men reported first physical and psychiatric checkups showed Shepard in fine fettle. "He's just like he was before the flight, only he's happier, of course," said Dr. William K. Douglas, the astronauts' personal physician.

Douglas said the tape records of Shepard's flight "showed he performed remarkably well the complex tasks required of him. Five minutes of weightlessness apparently posed no problem, nor did the increased gravity pull of re-entry."

This all indicates, as did the recent flight of Russian Yuri Gagarin, that man can pilot space vehicles, perhaps on quite long trips.

But the Soviets have given few helpful details. Some of the psychological questioning and procedures best suited for man to perform safely and efficiently in a new arena, space.

Indications were that Shepard would stay on Grand Bahama through Sunday, going to Washington Monday to see President Kennedy and to tell his story to the press and public.

Shepard's rocket took off at 10:34 a. m.

ton Lloyd, Mrs. Lloyd's infant son and Alvin Brown, Jack Brown's baby son.

"I heard my daughter, Connie, screaming for me. I uncovered her and carried her to the highway where some man loaded her in a truck," Lewallen said. "I found my sister-in-law underneath another pile of logs."

Then he found baby Preston Lloyd's body.

He looked around and heard crying... from his father-in-law, and his own two boys. He found his baby daughter, Stephanie, wrapped in a mattress, her arm broken, and "All this time, it was raining something awful."

At Howe, about the only building not wrecked was the office of Dr. S. C. Dean.

Walter Lewis, who came into town soon after the tornado hit, said the dead and injured were taken there. And "Doc Dean, who is about 90, is still working now." This was after midnight.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mann don't know whether they are the first couple to name a child after astronaut Alan Shepard, but they figure they come mighty close.

Mrs. Mann gave birth to a boy at 11:42 a. m. Friday at Horton Hospital. Its name: Alan Shepard Mann.

Shepard's rocket took off at 10:34 a. m.

Kennedy Rejoices

Viet Nam. A decision on exactly what help will be furnished this neighbor of Laos awaits consultation with the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will take up the problem with Vietnamese officials on his mission to the Far East starting Tuesday. Kennedy confirmed reports that Johnson would make such a fact-finding trip.

Cuba and Latin America—Kennedy said there are no plans to train a new force of Cuban exiles for another attempt to overthrow dictator Fidel Castro. The question of imposing a trade embargo on Cuba, however, is being carefully considered.

Political funds—Kennedy said Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall was embarrassed by the letter in which a friend used his name in soliciting support of oil and gas industry officials for a $100-a-plate dinner honoring the President this month.

Impatient About Talks
But Kennedy said the entire problem of raising funds is fraught with "embarrassments." The best way to prevent them, he said, is for the federal government to bear the major costs of both parties in Presidential campaigns.

Atomic tests—Kennedy called the latest Soviet proposals, which amount to reserving the power of veto, unfortunate. He indicated the United States is growing impatient with Soviet actions at the Geneva negotiations for a pact to ban nuclear tests.

International scene—There are grounds for encouragement, said the President—who declared that while there are troubles ahead, "I am not a pessimist about the future."

Astronaut Boosts

Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin's global space orbit of last month.

Nikita Takes Dig
Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev indicated his awareness of Shepard's flight without mentioning it specifically. He praised Gagarin in a speech at Erevan, Soviet Armenia, and said the Russian major flew "around the globe precisely — not just up and down."

Soviet citizens got the news in cut-and-dried fashion, the first broadcast disclosing it 90 minutes after Shepard landed in the Atlantic. Radio Free Europe beamed bulletins and eyewitness accounts behind the Iron Curtain.

The Red radio in Czechoslovakia described the rocket flight as both Czech and Hungarian broadcasts praised Shepard himself as a hero.

The Red Chinese press in Hong Kong was disparaging. The Communist Commercial Daily said the U. S. space shot was a propaganda stunt.

In Derby, N.H. — Shepard's home town — they got off to an before Monday's space flight at their home in Virginia Beach, Va.

Also accompanying Shepard on the flight to the capital will be the six other astronauts, some of whom are to be chosen for future space flights.

To Meet President
The group will fly by helicopter from Andrews to the White House where President Kennedy will congratulate Shepard in a ceremony on the South Lawn. The festivities will be televised and broadcast nationally.

After the public ceremony, Kennedy will extend a private greeting to Shepard in the White House.

Shepard then goes to the State Department auditorium where he will hold his first full dress news conference since making his historic flight.

Congress Readies Honors
The setting for the news conference—which also will be carried live by network TV and radio—will be the same one used by the President for his own news conferences.

And while the President and the capital prepared a welcome for the spaceman, Congress also had plans.

Both Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Rep. Steven B. Derouin, R-N.Y., said they would ask Congress to give Shepard the Medal of Honor.

Normally awarded for valor in battle, it has been given only twice for exploits other than in combat.

Settle Cuba

He noted that the attack had been repulsed and commented "U. S. statesmen should draw the proper conclusions."

Khrushchev said that Cuba had proposed to normalize its relations with the United States by negotiating on a basis of "live and let live." He added if America would follow this principle it would be to the mutual advantage of everyone and without harm to the prestige of anyone.

Turning to the situation in Laos, he said measures were now being taken "to put out the fire" there which he insisted were started by American efforts to divert the Southeast Asia country from a position of neutrality which had been established by 1954 Geneva agreement.

Advice on Laos
"Laos," Khrushchev said, "wants to use its energies for peaceful purposes. The Western powers should abstain from using Laos as an area for military intrigues."

Turning to the Soviet proposal for abolishing U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's job, Khrushchev said "The United Nations organization suffers from ailments which need treatment."

He said that a reorganization of the United Nations would enable that body to "answer its purpose and to examine and solve whatever problems may arise without bias and with due regard for the interests of all nations, to make it an effective instrument of safeguarding the peace of the world instead of being one to do the bidding of one group of states at the expense of the others."

In his lengthy speech Khrushchev asked for early and successful negotiations on disarmament, saying the international situation had grown more tense.

He said that the Soviet government was preparing seriously for talks with the United States for complete and total disarmament. The Soviet Union would accept whatever controls the United States wishes.

The United States has repeatedly replied that its proposals for controls must accompany progressive disarmament.

Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire joined in the parade and said he planned a statewide celebration—including a state holiday—in honor of Shepard.

Airman Arrested For Damage at Water Tower Site

A 24-year-old airman was arrested Friday afternoon by Kingston police on charges of unlawful intrusion and malicious mischief, accused of damaging property at the water tower on Florence Street.

Airman 2/c William F. Jones, of 1018 Seventh Street, Laurel, Md., was turned over to U. S. Air Force officers, who took him to the USAF hospital at Stewart Field, Newburgh.

City Judge Aaron E. Klein paroled Jones and adjourned arraignment until June 5 at 9 a. m.

According to police, Jones reportedly climbed a fence to enter the property on Florence Street, broke a padlock on the water storage shed and damaged the telemeter transmitter before police arrived.

Jones is attached to the 646th Radar Squadron, USAF Station, Highlands, N. J., and was taking a special course at the IBM here.

Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back who won the Florida Derby and Flamingo Stakes was the 5-2 favorite although his post position was next to the outside.

Crozier, the speed demon from the stable of Alabama contractor Fred Hooper, was second rated at 3-1 and the entry of Fluttermo and Four-and-Twenty from the Alberta ranches in Canada stood at 9-2. Jacob Sher's Sherluck led fourth choice at 6-1 but the crowd didn't accord the others much chance.

Unity Aim

need for drastic measures to meet the Red threat and that it wants the support and understanding of its friends for such actions.

Within NATO itself, U. S. officials said, Rusk will urge an increase in the conventional military forces which could be used to meet the initial thrust of an attack in a NATO area and perhaps delay thereby the hour for defensive use of nuclear weapons.

Specifically, Rusk is expected to argue that the European allies must rely less, in the first instance, on U. S. and British nuclear retaliatory power and more on conventional arms.

At his news conference, Kennedy said the administration is considering the possibility of using American forces against the Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam, a country bordering Laos, if that should become necessary. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will discuss the matter when he meets next week with Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Rusk is slated to report on the Cuban and Southeast Asian situations as well as to review the worsening state of U.S.-Soviet relations. In that context, he will also talk about disarmament and the negotiations at Geneva among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on a nuclear weapons test ban.

Dean Returning to Geneva
Kennedy announced Friday he was sending Ambassador Arthur H. Dean back to Geneva with instructions to strive for a reliable and workable agreement—providing for an international inspection system to prevent sneak tests. But he added that he has asked Dean to report "within a reasonable time" what prospects there are for getting an agreement with the Soviets.

While the President's public attitude was officially hopeful, Rusk was expected to make clear to the NATO allies that the negotiations may fail and that the United States may have to decide sometime soon whether it will resume nuclear weapons testing, suspended when the Geneva talks started 2½ years ago.

cut off except for food and medicine. He is known to feel that a tighter embargo alone would not topple the Castro government.

Although he did not specify additional drawbacks to the embargo idea, one of concern to his advisers is the propaganda black eye the United States could get for stopping food and medicine shipments to the Cuban people.

Fun of All Kinds
Puzzles—Stories—
Things to Do—Pen Pals

Struggle for life. Frog attacks salamander, which fights in vain to escape.

Tonk-Tonk; Boom-Boom; Peep— Ever Heard These Strange Sounds?

Frogs play important parts in nature's spring music festival, says the National Geographic Society.

Each of the 2,000 different kinds of frogs has a distinctive call which lures only females of the same kind.

Frogs utter their mating cries without opening their mouths. Air from the lungs is forced back and forth over vocal cords, producing the sound. An air pouch under the chin serves as a resonator. The sacs of some species swell to half the size of the head and body.

Frogs produce a variety of croaks, peeps, chirps, trills, barks, brays, grunts and squawks.

A chorus of Brazilian frogs sounds like a regiment of men beating tin pans. The common pickerel frog's voice suggests a loud snore.

Often it is easier to identify species by call than by appearance. New species usually are discovered by sound, not sight.

The mink frog is said to have a voice closely resembling the noise produced by hammering a long nail into heavy timber. The carpenter frog also projects a hammering sound, and the barking frog coughs out a woody "tonk-tonk" which sounds like someone pounding on a large barrel.

The white-lipped frog's call resembles the plunk-plunk of a drop of water falling from a cave roof into a quiet pool below.

Less pleasing is the voice of the giant tree frog which sounds like "the jerky pulling of a rope through an uncoiled pulley."

Many frogs have deceptive calls. The bird-voiced tree frog whistles like a woodpecker. The narrow-mouth toad bleats like a lost lamb. The marine toad's deep, booming trill often is mistaken for a far-off tractor.

Some listeners describe the call of Hammond's spadefoot as a metallic grinding of gears. The tiny spring peeper, though only three-quarters of an inch long, can project its shrill peep for a half-mile.

Besides mating calls, frogs emit warnings, fright screams, and raucous songs. The warning noises drive off unwanted male frogs in the breeding season. The fright scream, made with the mouth open, is a spine-chilling, humanlike shriek uttered when the frog is in peril. The rain song is apparently just for fun—the equivalent of singing in the shower.

Chorusing frogs often are charged with disturbing the sleep of the countryside. A Missouri farmer had a more unusual complaint. He accused a large bullfrog of keeping his hogs thin.

"Every time that blamed bullfrog gives out with a bel-low," the farmer declared ruefully, "the pigs think it's someone calling them to eat. They're running all the fat off their bones answering his call."

Big one and little one. Marlin Perkins of the Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago, holds a tiny bell frog. On the table is a jumbo bullfrog. They were brought to the zoo from an expedition into the swamps of southern states.

There's More to It Than Stepping Out Into Thin Air

Sport parachuting is growing like a mushroom in the United States. For years it has been popular in Europe.

It looks simple when you watch the jumper floating earthward beneath the gay-colored canopy that looks like a giant flower with a petal missing. All sport chutes have one or two pieces of fabric, called gores, removed to make steering easier.

Oh, yes, you steer them. But let's take a trip to a sport parachute jump center. If you are planning to take a skydive, you must attend a class taught by a licensed instructor. You don't just hop in a plane and leap out into thin air.

From the classroom you proceed to a sandbox where you are taught the PLF (parachute landing fall). You must pass that test. Then you practice making a proper exit from the jump plane . . . on the ground, of course. After that, if you are still jump-minded, you don overalls, special shoes, parachute, reserve chute, helmet and goggles, and climb into the monoplane.

At a 2,200-foot level, the jumbmaster, kneeling beside the open doorway, tosses out a yellow streamer to check wind direction and velocity. Selecting the jump-spot directly over a target in the form of a 24-foot white cross surrounded by two white circles, he taps you on the shoulder. "Go!"

This is it! Scared? Who wouldn't be — even though you know the chute will open automatically?

For the first five jumps you are on what is called the static line. Standing on the jump step, the wind whipping your overalls, you leap into space, arms and legs spread-eagled. Will that chute ever open? Then you feel the tug and . . . down you float.

A voice penetrates your consciousness from the loud speaker near the landing field. "To the left . . . to the left, I say." You grope for the left toggle attached to one of the risers and pull it. Your body turns to the left. Or it may be the order is to turn to the right. If you obey instructions, you will land on target. Very few miss it, and the shock will be no more than jumping off a 4-foot wall.

Fun? There's nothing to compare with it. You will find yourself walking on air for days after. Safe? Those who go in for it say it is safer than skin diving or skiing.

Let's Explore Those Strange Light Rings

Old sayings about the weather speak of a halo or ring around the moon.

You can divide such rings or haloes into three types. The true halo is a set of rings of light around the moon. It is cut or touched by still other rings of moonlight.

When a single ring shows around the moon, it is called a crown or corona. If there are bright rings of light with straight lines of light going out from them, these are called aureolas.

An aureola is formed when moonlight passes through fog banks in our atmosphere.

To make any of these rings of light, the light waves must pass through masses of rain drops, ice crystals, or fog. All these are, of course, in the atmosphere of earth.

When light passes through clouds or fog, its rays are bent. It is the bending of the rays that makes the halo or ring appear.

When you see any sort of a ring around the moon, it means that there are clouds of raindrops and ice particles or banks of fog in our atmosphere.

These masses of water in the air usually mean that the weather will change. Most often they mean that rain or snow is coming.

Ping Pong Tip

Dents can be removed from ping pong balls by pouring boiling water over them until the dents disappear. The heat of the water expands the air inside the ball. Just floating them in boiling water achieves the same purpose.

Date Time

If you have a really good reason for being out later than usual, here's a way to help persuade your parents. Set an alarm for a quarter past the time you are due home and place it outside your bedroom door. You'll be sure to get there to turn it off before it rings.

SHORT STORY—Andrea Finally Found Out Why Everyone Liked Dogs

Andrea didn't like dogs. She didn't know why. Her cousin Billy had been saved by a dog. He had dived into a lake, where the water was over his head. His pet collie had swum out and pulled him to shore.

Her Uncle John had his house saved from burning by his dog. The family had gone away for the afternoon. Prince had been left at home. The dog smelled smoke in the basement and barked and barked until someone came to find out what was the matter, and the house was saved.

Her friend Patty's poodle had won a Blue Ribbon Prize at a dog show. Her friend Lucy's wire-haired terrier could stand up on its hind legs and turn somersaults and it was fun to watch him do tricks.

Her friend Laurie's dog walked her to school and then walked back carefully all by himself. Her neighbor, Mr. Charles, had a dog who carried his newspaper home from the store every morning. Everybody liked dogs. But Andrea didn't like dogs.

Andrea lived in a two-family house. They lived in the upstairs apartment. One day a new family moved into the apartment downstairs. They were the Gluck family. There was Mrs. Gluck and Mr. Gluck and Greg Gluck. Greg looked like a nice boy and Andrea wanted to be friends with him.

The first morning after they moved in, Andrea went downstairs. "I'll show you the way to school," she said.

"Thanks," said Greg. "Do you want to come in for a minute while I get my hat?" Andrea started to go into the house. She saw a dog at Greg's side. She stopped and pulled back.

Just then Mrs. Gluck called. "Come in, Andrea. I have some fresh baked cookies you can take with you for your school snack."

Andrea walked in slowly. The dog hid in a corner. "Don't be afraid, Baby," Greg said, patting his dog. "It's the girl from upstairs. She won't hurt you."

Andrea looked at the dog, crouching in the corner. "Do you mean the dog is afraid of me?" she asked.

"Yes," Greg said sadly. "When she was a pup some children had her who pulled her tail and threw rocks at her. Now she's afraid of all children. She won't go outside and fetch a stick the way other dogs do. She won't go for a walk with me if my older children come along. If I didn't like her so much, I'd give her away."

"Oh, but you mustn't," Andrea said. "She looks like such a nice dog. You must try to help her."

"I've tried everything," Greg said. "I call her Baby because she's so afraid of everything."

"Do you know something, Greg?" Andrea said, "I'm afraid of dogs. Maybe Baby and I can help each other."

It was hard at first for both Andrea and the dog to become friends. If Andrea came near the dog, she would back away whimpering. If the dog got more courage and came sniffing near Andrea, Andrea would become startled and shy away.

One day Andrea's mother had some meat and bones left over from supper. Andrea took it downstairs, neatly in a package and gave it to Baby. Baby came over to lick Andrea's foot to say "thank you." Andrea started to draw away, as she always did, and then the dog lifted her paw as if to shake hands with her.

"Look, Greg," Andrea called, "Baby and I are really friends," and she bent down and patted Baby's coat. "How nice and warm she feels," Andrea said. "Oh, what a good dog. I never knew that a dog could be so much fun. I'm going to ask mother to get me a dog for my birthday."

"Maybe you won't have to ask your mother to get you a dog," Greg smiled. "If Baby has pups, she'll give you one for a present. In the meantime, I'll be glad to share Baby with you."

And after that, Andrea knew why everybody like dogs.

ZOO'S WHO by GEORGE SCARBO

GIANT ARMADILLOS, SOME 5 FEET LONG, INCLUDING THEIR TAILS, ARE FOUND IN THE NORTHERN PART OF SOUTH AMERICA. SMALLER SPECIES ARE FOUND IN BRAZIL, BOLIVIA AND ARGENTINA. THE MOST COMMON TYPE IS FOUND AS FAR NORTH AS TEXAS. IS ABOUT 16 INCHES LONG. IT'S CALLED THE NINE-BANDED ARMADILLO.

THESE CREATURES ARE LOW IN INTELLIGENCE, AND HAVE POOR EYESIGHT AND HEARING; THEY SURVIVE BECAUSE OF THE PROTECTION AFFORDED BY THEIR ARMOR AND BY THEIR DIGGING ABILITY.

ALTHOUGH IT HAS NO TEETH, IT PREYS ON INSECTS, LICKING THEM UP WITH ITS STICKY ADHESIVE TONGUE.

ARTHUR FIEDLER

The final week in which to subscribe for next season's Kingston Community Concert Association series will start Sunday. The series will include the beloved Boston Pops Orchestra with Arthur Fiedler, conducting; Metropolitan Opera Star, Rose Stevens; and the young violin virtuoso, Jamie Laredo. Memberships which are open to all simply by paying the annual fee, will be available from any worker or at headquarters in the Governor Clinton Hotel, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

Since 1952 when Boston Pops conductor Arthur Fiedler first took his touring orchestra on the road, it has been the most popular orchestra of its kind in North America. Its current tour was sold out within record time after it was announced.

Fiedler and the Boston Pops have been best sellers on RCA Victor Records for more than 20 years. Its "Jalousie" was the first RCA Victor Red Seal record by an orchestra to pass the one-million sales mark. Familiar record titles include The Boston Tea Party;

Classical Music for People Who Hate Classical Music; Hi-Fi Fiedler; Mr. Strauss Comes to Boston; Classical Juke Box and Pops Caviar. Fiedler and the Pops have more listings in the RCA Victor catalog than any other orchestra. When Victor released its list of "101 All-Time Best Sellers," Fiedler and the Pops led the list with 16 different numbers.

Arthur Fiedler has been sought after as guest conductor of such orchestras as those of Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, Toronto, Montreal, Minneapolis, Miami, NBC, CBS, San Antonio, Seattle and the music capitals of South America. It is with his Boston Pops Tour orchestra that he has been able to bring live to millions of the fans all across the country the same beloved, effervescent repertoire and matchless performances that have made "Fiedler and the Pops" all-time favorites in Boston and on records.

The Pops with Fiedler were first brought to Kingston in the 1954-55 series and will be remembered as one of the all time favorites in local concert histories.

Paderewski Award Is Won by Pianist

Marek Jablonski of New York, 21-year-old pianist at the Juilliard School of Music, for the past four years, is announced as winner of the Kosciuszko Foundation's 1961 Paderewski scholarship award of $1,000 for pianists between the ages of 17 and 21, who are aiming at concert careers. The award was established in 1959 by R. J. Schaefer, president of the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., especially for pianists of Polish extraction. The offer is limited to residents of the states of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

Announcement of the winner was made by Dr. Stephen P. Mizwa, Foundation president. Judges included Frank Sheridan, concert pianist and teacher, and Dr. Edwin Hughes, musicologist and teacher, who studied under Lesistzky, famous European piano teacher who taught and prepared Jan Paderewski for his notable career as a concert pianist.

Mr. Jablonski was born in Krakow, Poland in November, 1939. His piano studies began at the age of six at the Krakow Conservatory of Music. As war refugees, the family lived in Italy and England before settling permanently in Edmonton, Canada. Winning recognition in Canada for his talent, young Jablonski came to the United States to further his training. In 1957 he was awarded a Mitropoulos scholarship to Aspen, Colorado for summer study and was accepted at Juilliard as a student of Mme. Rosina Lhevinne, teacher of Van Cliburn, John Browning and other outstanding young pianists. In June 1958, Jablonski won the Kosciuszko Foundation's national Chopin competition for a scholarship of $1,000.

The Foundation has served during the past 35 years as an educational and cultural center for Polish-Americans. The Paderewski award instituted by Mr. Schaefer to commemorate the 100th birthday anniversary of the famous pianist, is one of three musical awards offered by the Foundation annually as well as extensive academic grants to outstanding young students of Polish ancestry. The Foundation House is located at 15 East 65th Street.

Fabiano-Tierney Double Ring Nuptial Rites Performed at St. Joseph's Church April 30

Miss Maureen Lynn Tierney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Tierney of 207 Downs Street, and Cosmo D. Fabiano, son of Mrs. Michael Fabiano of Glasco and the late Mr. Fabiano, exchanged nuptial vows 2 p. m. Sunday, April 30, at St. Joseph Church, this city.

The Rev. William E. Williams, officiated at the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with white gladioli, snapdragons and carnations.

Musical selections were presented by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist, and Robert Gallo, who sang Ave Maria and Gethsemane.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white silk mist gown fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, long lace sleeves terminating in points over the wrists and a fitted bodice of Alencon lace. The bouffant hooped skirt was adorned with cascade lace panels which swept back to a train. Her veil of French silk illusion was attached to a crown of crystal pendants. She carried a lace covered prayer book with phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Jeannine Tierney was maid of honor for her sister in a powder blue gown of silk organza over taffeta. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a fireside basket of roses, carnations, snap dragons and ivy.

Frank Palumbo of Glasco was best man. Ushers were James Nolan, of Saugerties, brother-in-law of the bride, Joseph Machione and Louis Petramale, both of Glasco. The bride's brother, Kevin Tierney, was ringbearer.

A reception for 150 guests was held at the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen.

For a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the bride chose a white sheath dress, black and white checked coat and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Glasco.

Mrs. Fabiano is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed in the business office at Benedictine Hospital.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Saugerties High School, is employed by International Business Machines, Kingston.

YW Launches New Series of Parents Classes: First Session Scheduled Wednesday, May 10

A new series of parent education classes will meet at the YWCA on Wednesday, May 10 at 1 p. m. The classes will be taught by a fully accredited public health nurse from the Ulster County Health department.

The classes are not limited to first-time expectant mothers but are open to all "ladies in waiting." A nursery is provided for the care of small children at the YWCA while the classes are in session.

In addition to a lecture and discussion series on Anatomy of pregnancy, nutrition, pre-natal care, the course will include a visit to the obstetrical department of a hospital, a demonstration of bathing the new-born and formula making and a special evening class to which husbands are invited.

The classes have received the full endorsement of the Ulster County Medical Society as well as the Mental Health Association.

In the current Ladies' Home Journal woman's magazine an article appears under the heading, "Too Many Babies Die—Infant Mortality Is on the Rise." One of the preventive measures advocated by the author is the value of parent education courses. A Chicago doctor is quoted as saying that "Experiences have convinced me that it (parent education classes) is the most important part of modern prenatal care. It has resulted in a marked decrease in the incidence of prolonged labor, a reduction in the need for analgesia, and fewer complicated deliveries."

These classes are presented free of charge by the YWCA and the Ulster County Health Department and all expectant mothers in the area are urged to participate in them. Further information may be had by contacting Miss Ann Hayes at the Health Department.

Registration can be made by phone or in person at the YWCA 209 Clinton Avenue.

The YWCA is a Red Feather agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

Auxiliary Police To Meet May 15

A meeting of Kingston-Ulster Unit, Civil Defense Auxiliary Police, will be held May 15 instead of next Monday, it has been announced.

Chief Irving Kotrady said the session will be held at city hall to make plans for the Memorial Day Parade and to see two films one on mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and the other about how to send in a fire alarm.

Connecticut was first visited in 1614 by a Dutch expedition. A Dutch trading post was established at Hartford in 1624.

Hadassah Conference Slated May 15-17

The Lower New York State Region of Hadassah will hold its spring conference Monday through Wednesday, May 15-17, at the Eldorado Hotel, Fallsburg.

Mrs. Arthur London, president-elect of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah, is official delegate from the local group. All members may attend any of the conference sessions.

Present and incoming board members are requested to attend the Tuesday, May 16 session; included will be a "Leadership Training and Organization Workshop," set for 2 p. m.

Members of the local group who wish to attend any conference session should contact Mrs. William Buchbinder, 265 Main Street, for further information. Car pools will be arranged.

The opening day's sessions include the regional president's report, membership and fund-raising workshops, and a dinner meeting. Speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Nancy Forsberg, executive secretary of the New Jersey Chapter of the American Christian Palestine Committee. A graduate of Denison University, she holds a graduate degree from Yale Divinity School and is an ordained Congregational minister. Miss Forsberg recently returned from two months in Israel, where she studied the progress and development of the nation. She will speak on fears and tensions in the Middle East and their significance for Americans.

Chapter presidents will hold a breakfast meeting Tuesday, May 16; also on the day's schedule are a program workshop and the leadership training session.

George T. Donahue, supervisor of the Bureau of Guidance for the New York State Education Department, will speak on "Hadassah as a Force for Education in Israel" at the evening plenary session. A member of Hadassah's national advisory board, he has studied the problems of vocational education in this country and in Israel.

Mrs. Carl Spector, conference advisor and recently elected national vice-president of Hadassah, will discuss Hadassah's role in education in this country. She has served as national life membership chairman and was a delegate to the 1960 World Zionist Congress.

The Wednesday, May 17, agenda includes committee reports and elections of officers. A regional board meeting will follow.

At the closing luncheon awards for membership, fund-raising, visual aids, program and conference participation will be presented.

MRS. GEORGE HUGHES

Synnott - Hughes Wedding Is Announced; Bride Wears Gown of White Silk, Taffeta

Miss Jamie Ann Synnott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Synnott, Oswego, wed George Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes Sr., 82 Cedar Street, Kingston, at St. Paul's Catholic Church, Oswego on April 15 at 11 a. m. Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. M. Fuchs.

Organist was James Cole. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk mist over taffeta. It was designed with a modified scoop neckline trimmed with re-embroidered Alencon lace appliques and short lace sleeves. The bouffant skirt had side panels which fell to a graceful chapel train. A crown of waxed orange blossoms was secured to a very full silk illusion veil. She carried a prayer book with hybrid white orchids and ivy strands with satin streamers.

Kathleen Synnott of Oswego, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor in a lilac silk organza gown in ballerina length styled with a scoop neckline, short circlet sleeves and a full skirt with tiers cascading down the back. She also wore a matching hat with flirtation veil. Miss Synnott carried a colonial bouquet of feathered orchid carnations outlined with feathered white carnations and tulle, with white satin ribbon.

Attendants were Miss Rose Kramer of Mt. Vernon and Miss Patricia Ausanio of Kingston, niece of the bridegroom. They wore gowns identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant.

Donald Dempsey of Plattskill was best man. Ushering were Richard Petro of Albany and William Parmalee of Kingston.

Barbara Hughes, the bridegroom's niece served as flower girl. She was attired in lilac organza and wore a flowered headpiece.

A reception was given at the Knights of Columbus Home for more than 100 guests, after which the couple left on a trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will reside at 223 Hurley Avenue, Kingston. The bride is employed by the Ulster County Health Department and her husband is employed by the Twaalfskill Golf Club.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, Ulster County Extension Service Association submits the following article on streamlined ranges:

In recent years household equipment has been generally upgraded in quality. Too, the development of new items, such as dehumidifiers, dishwashers, synthetic carpet fibers, has done much to improve our level of living.

Household economists point out the advances that have been made in gas and electric ranges. Both of these may now be purchased with barbecue attachments and rotisseries. Also prevalent are warming drawers, double ovens, and thermostatic burners. Even low-priced electric ranges include ovens with clock timers. And most gas ranges now have automatic oven lighting and oversized simmer burners.

Greatly increased in popularity are the built-in range tops and separate electric ovens which lend themselves to modern kitchen design. Better yet, a separate electric oven can be installed at a height that means maximum comfort, safety and convenience for the user.

Research has even undertaken to learn what determines a convenient oven height for each individual homemaker. This information is given in Cornell bulletin number 945, "What Height for Your Separate Electric Oven?" You may receive a copy by writing to Ulster County Home Demonstration Department, 220 Wall St., U.P.O. Box 545, Kingston, N. Y. or by calling FE 8-3494.

In Need of Credit?
Most families today make use of credit to furnish a home, to buy a car, even to take a vacation. And although credit is usually available from more than one source, in many instances people are apt to accept the first proposition they are offered without shopping around.

Specialists in the field of household economics and management found that out of 21 newly married couples recently interviewed in a college town, only one couple had applied for a loan at a number of places and borrowed where the terms suited them best.

Did You Know?
Automatic clothes dryers are reported zooming in popularity; from 1949 to 1959 dryer sales increased more than tenfold.

It has been said that of all the world's scientists who have ever lived, 90 per cent are alive today. In modern times, our knowledge doubles every ten years.

Americans are eating three times as much lettuce today as they ate 40 years ago. Main reason is that lettuce has become a year-round product in supermarkets.

Kingston Evening Unit

The Kingston Evening Unit will hold its next meeting June 9 at 8 p. m., in the Colonial Gardens Community Rooms.

Miss Dorothy Rhodes of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company will show slides on "Kitchen Planning."

Plans for a June dinner will be made.

Hostesses for the evening will be Miss Nancy Hussey, Mrs. Ann Hubiceb and Mrs. John Napoleon.

Ulster Art Association
The Ulster County Art Association held a monthly meeting at the YWCA recently. A demonstration of water colors was given by Augustus P. Modjeska, which was very instructive.

The Art Association was formed 14 years ago by the late "Pop" Fuhrman and has a membership of 45 today.

Anyone interested in painting is invited to attend the meetings. Information may be obtained from Mrs. William J. Soper, president, 287 West Chestnut Street.

Spring Concert Is Planned for May 14 In Clintondale

The Clintondale Methodist Church will present its sixth annual spring concert on Sunday, May 14 at 8 p. m.

The program is rather unique and quite varied. It will be given in honor of Mother's Day.

The Sacred Dance Choir of the Huguenot Dancers has choreographed a new work for the concert and will also present dances related to Mother's Day and to Biblical stories.

Refreshments will be served during intermission by the Woman's Society for Christian Service. The concert is under the direction of Mrs. Albert Beard.

Tickets will be available at the door. Public is invited.

In Recent Exercise

Army M/Sgt. Louis Persinger Jr., whose wife, Janet, lives on Route 1, Kingston, participated in Exercise Spring Tonic, a V Corps field training exercise in Germany which ended April 27.

Spring Tonic was designed to test the ability of signal units to provide fast, efficient field communications between V Corps headquarters and other corps units under simulated combat conditions.

Sergeant Persinger, who is assigned to the corps' headquarters, which is regularly located in Frankfurt, entered the Army in June 1941 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty, in December 1958.

A 1935 graduate of Birch Wathen High School, New York City, he attended Columbia University and is a member of Delta Phi fraternity. His father lives at 340 Riverside Drive, New York.

Participated in Test

Army Pfc James E. Vandenberg, 19, son of Arthur A. Vandenberg, Route 205, New Albany, participated with other personnel from the 101st Airborne Division's 502d Infantry in a special STRAC (Strategic Army Corps) alert at Fort Campbell, Ky., Friday.

Vandenberg, a rifleman in the infantry's Company C at the fort, entered the Army last July and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

He is a 1960 graduate of New Paltz Central High School.

Clara Carr Weds Ronald G. Scheffel In Double Ring Ceremony at St. Joseph's

Miss Clara S. Carr, daughter of Mrs. Martin D. Carr of 15 Elizabeth Street, Kingston, wed Ronald George Scheffel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Scheffel of 103 Andrew Street, Saturday, April 22 at a 2 p. m. ceremony held in St. Joseph's Church, this city.

Officiating was the Rev. William E. Williams. Organist was Mrs. Frank Rafferty and Donald

Sweeney sang "Ave Maria," and "Mother Beloved."

Pedestal vases of white gladioli and shasta daisies with snapdragons decorated the church. The family pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Frederick B. Carr. She wore a pure silk organza gown over silk bouquet taffeta with fitted bodice, modified scoop neckline trimmed with pearl studded appliques of Alencon lace, long pointed silk sleeves and full skirt of silk. The skirt was also fashioned with shirred drapes on each side and scattered appliques of Alencon lace terminating in a circular chapel train. Her veil was fingertip length imported English silk illusion caught to an Alencon lace cloche with a silk organza rose. The bride carried a cascade of white butterfly roses, stephanotis and Dutchess roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Ellen Jane Kelly of 100 Elmendorf Street, Kingston. Attendants were Mrs. Peter J. Camp, sister of the bride; Mrs. Bernard Scheffel, bridegroom's sister-in-law. All the attendants wore ballerina gowns in mist blue silk organza and lace fitted bodice set in lace forming scooped neckline and short lace sleeves. Full silk skirts featured small silk bows at the waistlines. Their hats were of silk petal wreaths with single roses and they were worn with circular veils in matching colors.

Bernard Scheffel of Kingston was best man for his brother. Ushering were Ralph DiMuccio of Mt. Marion and Robert Scheffel of 186 Highland Avenue.

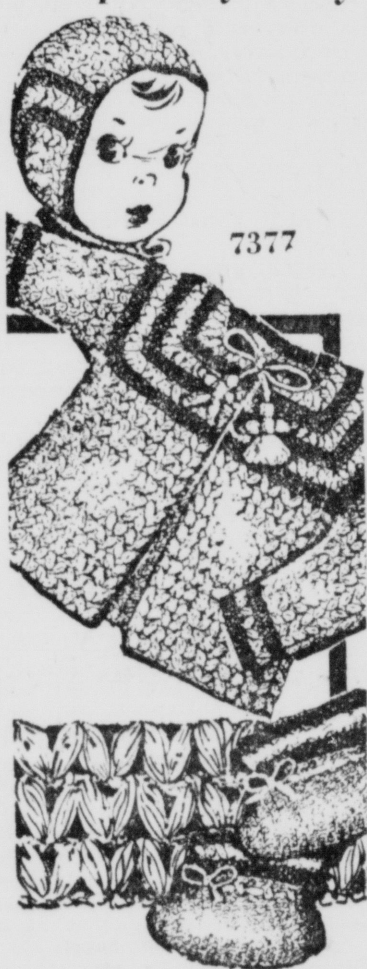

Approximately 150 guests were entertained at a reception given at Sportsmen Park.

League Hears Talk On Parliamentary Procedures Here

Mrs. Burton W. Johnson, first vice president, presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Junior League of Kingston on Monday, May 1 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

It was announced that Miss Rose Abernethy, professor of speech at the University of the State of New York at New Paltz and a member of the local league, will conduct a workshop on Parliamentary Procedure on Wednesday evening, May 17 in the Children's Room of the Kingston City Library. This workshop is for all board members, committee chairmen and provisionals and other members of the League are invited to be present.

Mrs. Erica Beck Rubenstein, a teacher of history of art was the guest speaker of the evening. Mrs. Rubenstein received her A.B. degree from Vassar, her M.A. and Ph.D. from Radcliffe College in the Department of Fine Arts. She has been a professor at Vassar, lectured at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. and is currently teaching History of Art at the Dutchess County Community College in Poughkeepsie. Both she and her husband, Lewis Rubenstein were recipients of Fulbright scholarships for 1957-58 to study art in Japan.

A very interesting and informative talk accompanied by a showing of colored slides of Japanese art was presented. Many of the slides had a religious significance such as frescos of Buddha and other gods dating back to the sixth and seventh centuries. Some religious scrolls dating back to the 13th century were also shown. The ink painting method employed in the 12th, 13th and 14th centuries in Japan showed evidences of being influenced by the Chinese ink paintings of that time.

Mrs. Rubenstein then showed a few slides of her husband's work using the Japanese technique of the horizontal scrolls and ink paintings. His work showed evidences of influence both of the East and West.

At the 39th annual conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America, held May 1-5 at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel, Dallas, Texas the Junior League of Kingston was represented by Mrs. Robert A. MacKinnon, president and Mrs. Robert B. O'Reilly, chairman of public relations.

The keynote address of the conference was given Thursday evening by H. Christian Sonne. Mr. Sonne is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the National Planning Association and President of the South Ridge Corporation of New York City. He founded the banking firm of Amsinck, Sonne and Company, an official of the Twentieth Century Fund and the Committee for Economic Development, and a published author.

Miss Barbara Grace Johnson of Baltimore, Maryland was named first vice-president and Mrs. John W. Lundeen, Jr., of Atlanta, Georgia was named treasurer of the Association. These women are two of the twenty members of the AJLA Boards of Directors which represents 79,500 women engaged in volunteer service in 199 league cities throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Civil Service Exam

A new examination for farmer, lead foreman has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling supervisory positions in the Farm Service of the U. S. Prison System. The jobs pay from $2.62 to $3.75 an hour and are located in various penal and correctional institutions throughout the country, and in the Department of Corrections of the District of Columbia Government.

Applications for these positions will be accepted until further notice and must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, United States Penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kansas. Announcements and application forms may be obtained from Leon Darvak, examiner in charge, located at Central Post Office, Kingston, New York.

Bowers - Doty Wedding Is Announced Here; Couple Plan to Make Kingston Their Home

Exchanging nuptial vows at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Saturday, April 29 at 2 p. m. were Miss Shirley Marie Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Post of 136 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, and Frederick C. Doty of 401 East Chester Street, this city, son of James C. Doty, Huntington, L. I.

Officiating was the Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise. Mrs. Lester E. Decker was at the organ.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Harold Bowers of Bloomington. She wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta in full length over taffeta designed with a scalloped neckline outlined in Chantilly lace. The bodice was fitted and the bouffant skirt was trimmed with black bow. A pure illusion veil was attached to a silk and lace pillbox trimmed with seed pearls. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Bonita Albers of Elmhurst, L. I., was the maid of honor. She wore a silk organza ballerina length gown in turquoise. It was softly draped about the neckline and featured a fitted bodice with full skirt trimmed with embroidery. A matching bow of rice straw completed her ensemble. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow mums.

Miss Betty Perry of Kingston, who served as attendant, was gowned in pastel pink and carried a colonial bouquet of assorted pink mums and blue iris.

Ralph L. Gilbert of Westfield, N. J., was best man. Ushers were F. J. Robbins, Huntington, L. I., and Charles E. Meyer of Kingston.

Guests were received at a reception given at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, where she is now serving as a nurse on the hospital staff. Her husband, an alumnus of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, is employed as a project engineer by IBM in Kingston. He also served with the U. S. Navy.

For her wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride wore a mint green dress with beige accessories and an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Doty will reside at 401 East Chester Street, this city, when they return.

THE TELEVISION SET AND VISITORS

Q: The other evening there was a special program on the television that my husband and I wanted very much to see. Just as the program was about to start, the doorbell rang and in walked neighbors of ours to pay us a visit. I immediately turned the television set off and I could see my husband was very displeased, but of course he said nothing. Later, however, he protested my turning the set off and thinks it would have been perfectly all right to leave it on and watch the program as we had planned to do. I have always felt that it was very rude to leave the television set on when visitors are present. Will you please give us your opinion on this matter.

A: You were right in turning off your television set, but you might have said as you did so, "I'm turning it off unless you would like to watch the Bill Smith program with us." If they had answered with any enthusiasm that they would, you could have left the set on.

A Business Trip With Her Employer

Q: My employer wants me to go with him on a business trip to one of our company's factories located about 300 miles from here. Although we can travel there in one day, the work will require most of a week, which means staying in the hotel. There is only one decent one in the town. I wonder if such an arrangement could possibly cause gossip in the home office.

A: If your relationship with him is as strictly impersonal as it should be, and you give no cause for criticism, I am sure this trip will not result in any office gossip.

Announcing Her Own Engagement

Q: I am about to announce my engagement but am puzzled as to the correct way to do this. My parents are not living and I have no near relatives living in this city who could announce it for me. Will you please tell me what wording

THREATENING

Albany's 31 Sets 76-Year-Record

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—For the second time this week records for low temperatures for May dates in Albany were shattered, the Weather Bureau reported today.
At 6 a. m. today, the Albany temperature stood at 31 degrees, one below freezing, breaking a record set in 1885, when 32 degrees was registered.
On May Day, Monday, 28 degrees was noted here, breaking a record of 29 degrees set in 1876.
On Wednesday, a record of 30 degrees, set in 1944, was tied.
Other low temperatures around the state today included Poughkeepsie, 32; Massena, 30; Watertown, 28 and Elmira, 29.
In a cheerier vein, the bureau said the next few days will bring balmy weather and above normal temperatures.

Zeller Gives Up, Was in Algerian Attempted Coup

ALGIERS (AP)—A rebel French general, hiding out since the unsuccessful army insurrection in Algeria collapsed last month, surrendered today.
Gen. Andre Zeller, white-haired retired soldier, turned himself in to the Algiers prefect of police after sending a letter saying he was ready to give up. Zeller now faces trial and possible execution.
Zeller, 63, told Prefect Rene Janin he had been hiding in Algiers with relatives since he fled the night of April 25 with Gens. Raoul Salan and Edmond Jouhaud.
He ranked behind them in the chain of command under ring-leader Gen. Maurice Challe. Challe surrendered when his revolt collapsed. Salan and Jouhaud are still being sought.
The government said it also seized numerous documents dealing with the insurrection when Zeller surrendered.
A special court already has been set up in Paris to try Challe. Zeller now may be tried with him.

Vehicle Hits Sign

A Saugerties motorist escaped injury Friday when the 1961 truck she was operating went out of control and knocked down a no-parking sign at the intersection of East Chester Street and Hasbrouck Avenue.
According to Detective William Slover's report, June F. Jasienowski, Route 1, Box 7, Saugerties, was the operator of the vehicle. Police also reported the vehicle struck a traffic signal pole.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The business tempo quickened on a broad front this week.
Confidence soared that the economy definitely was on the up-grade from what some described as the shallowest depression in the country's history.

Highly Optimistic

Even as business men in many instances reported poor first-quarter earnings, they were highly optimistic about prospects for the rest of the year.

And there was much concrete evidence of better performances in many segments of business.

It included: rising automobile sales, increased steel production, a decline in unemployment, an improvement in sales of major appliances, a gain in manufacturers' new orders and sales, and an increase in installment credit.

A survey of purchasing agents showed the biggest percentage improvement in new orders for any month since September 1958.

The steel industry was scheduled for its eighth consecutive weekly increase in production. Last week, the latest for which figures were available, the output climbed 4.1 per cent over the previous week.

The metalworking trade publication, Iron Age, said, "The improvement, while healthy, is gradual" and, "Steelmen apparently feel their first real confidence."

Auto Sales Perk Up

It added that the market has come to the point where emergency orders may not be filled.

Syracuse Denies Taking Stand on Habits of Dating

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse University has denied a published report that it has an official policy of "discouraging dating between students of different religions and races."

The Daily Orange, student newspaper, leveled the charge Friday after two white coeds claimed a student dean told them their parents would be notified if they continued going out with non-white boys.

Miss Marjorie Smith, dean of women, told 350 students assembled at an hour-long protest meeting Friday that she never had written any parents about girls' dating habits.

She acknowledged that she had at times advised girls to write parents themselves.

In the case of the two girls, the dean said she had talked to one about dormitory schedules that require students to be in at specified hours, not about mixed dating.

Miss Smith said she did not know the other girl.

Neither girl was identified. The university "does not discriminate against religion, race, creed or anything else," Dr. Eric Faigle, a university vice chancellor and dean of the Liberal Arts College, told students.

The meeting was called by Changan Kanthawongs of Thailand, president of the university's International Students Association.

"We came thousands of miles from home and we are insulted," he told the university officials. "We realize we are here as a privilege and not as a right. If we had known beforehand—if it had been put in the university catalogue—we would not have come to this institution."

Faigle replied: "This university does welcome international students. We want you to know that you are welcome."

Tip to Women

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Dean Peter V. Ball of the Episcopal Cathedral of All Saints here suggests that women wear lipstick that does not rub off easily.
His reason: Communicants at the church receive the sacrament as a safer and also as wine from a chalice that the priest carries along the altar rail.

Brush Fire Quelled

Firemen from Engine 1 Central Fire Station were dispatched to the Twaalfskill Country Club, 282 West O'Reilly Street, at 3:59 p. m. Friday to extinguish a brush fire. Deputy Chief Edwin Murphy was in charge.

immediately, ending a period in which consumers could get almost immediate delivery.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. put three additional furnaces into service at its Cleveland works and announced that all 10 furnaces at Aliquippa, Pa., were working.

Automobile sales picked up substantially.

Ford Motor Co. reported 109,500 of its cars were sold in April, the greatest increase in April selling rates over March since 1946.

Chrysler Corp. said its dealers sold 69,584 cars in April, more than in any month since October and a 29 per cent gain over March.

American Motors rehired 4,000 workers who had been laid off at its Kenosha and Milwaukee, Wis., plants last October.

Industrywide production jumped to the highest weekly total of the year, an estimated 126,600 compared with 114,529 last week.

The number of unemployed declined in April but the government said it was mainly seasonal. This left the number of idle at 4,962,000. Employment rose by 218,000 to 65,734,000.

The Kennedy administration won a big victory when Congress passed a compromise bill to increase the minimum wage and broaden the law's coverage.

Program for Textiles

The President signed into law a $394-million bill to aid areas depressed by unemployment. He said the legislation was an important step in carrying out his aim that anyone who wants a job will be able to find one.

The President offered a seven-point program to aid the textile industry. He said it was intended to "meet a wide range of problems the industry faces as a result of rapid technological change, shifts in consumer preference and increasing international competition."

Business faced a crackdown on expense account living. The government said it intended to plug tax law loopholes which permit deduction of such things as yacht trips, maintenance of hunting lodges and extravagant entertainment as business expenses.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 23,065,800 shares compared with 22,400,970 the week before.

Briefly around the business scene: Soft drinks soon will be marketed in eight-ounce plastic pouches with built-in straws.

Trans World Airlines plans to acquire 30 new Boeing jet airliners for $187 million.

"Our free market economic system demands protection against such violations as the recently exposed price-fixing conspiracy among electrical equipment manufacturers," said President Arthur H. Motley of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Wallkill Students Earn Certificates In Shorthand Test

The third "bumper crop" of Gregg certificates since the new semester are reported earned in April by students in the Business Department at Wallkill Central School.

Earned by advanced shorthand students, the following eight certificates for five-minute dictation tests, at the speeds designated, will be issued to the following:

At 80-words: Betty Jane Branley, Patricia Jockers, Sarah Koury, Carmela Labriola, Frances Sessa, and Kathleen Wager; 100-words, Sarah Koury; 60-words, Betty Shatney. In June these students will take a Regents examination at 80-words-a-minute.

Two seniors in the secretarial practice class have earned three-minute dictation speed test certificates at 120 words a minute. They are Eileen Napolitano and Brenda Teasdale.

Only those shorthand speed tests that pass at 95 per cent or better qualify. Miss Napolitano's was 100 per cent perfect; Miss Teasdale's 97 per cent.

Other certificates earned by Wallkill's shorthand students are for the following transcription rates:

Eileen Napolitano 32-words-a-minute; Brenda Teasdale 23; Sarah Koury 19; and Mary Schofield 18. These tests show rate of perfect intelligibility from dictations at speed of either 60, 80, or 100-words-a-minute.

In the beginning shorthand group, the following three have earned their certificates for five-minute takes at 60-words-a-minute: Jeanne Becker, Bettyann Galick, and Ellen Tozzi. Miss Galick and Miss Tozzi also hold complete theory certificates in Gregg shorthand.

In typewriting the following speeds were attained for certification: five-minute takes — Patricia Jockers 35, Susan May 40, Betty Shatney 36, Ellen Tozzi 37, and Elaine Pedersen 44; ten-minute takes (Competent Typist) — Betty Jane Branley 46, Jean Egidiano 41, Carmela Labriola 53, Elaine Pedersen 42, Mary Schofield 57, and Kathleen Wager 67. Thus far, this school year, Miss Wager holds the highest speed in typing at Wallkill.

Junior membership certificates in the same order go to Louis DuBois, Carole Martin, Linda Pendleton, Leonard Rosa and David Winters.

Miss Jeanne Becker was recipient of an extra award (a lapel pin with the order's emblem) for submitting the best paper in the above set, which constituted a club of ten or more candidates for this month's typing certification at Wallkill.

Named President Of Jewish Center

A vice president and board member, Seymour Werbalowsky was elected president of Jewish Community Center at the center's annual meeting this week.
Werbalowsky comes to this position with years of experience as a board member and officer of the center, having served last year as first vice president.
Werbalowsky attended the local school system; he attended New York University, Princeton University and Penn State. From the latter he received his Bachelor of Arts Degree. Werbalowsky received his law degree from the Albany Law School.
He served in the Navy during World War II on an L.S.T. He is commissioner of elections of Ulster County; former president of B'nai B'rith Zephaniah Lodge 131; past president of the Hudson Valley Council of B'nai B'rith. Last year he served as chairman of the Cerebral Palsy fund-raising campaign. He is active in a number of other local civic organizations and trustee of Ahavath Israel Synagogue. He lives with his wife and two children on Hillside Terrace in Kingston.

Other officers elected were: David Popick, first vice-president; Mrs. Harry Spiegel, second vice-president; Dr. Herbert Derman, third vice-president; John Levy, treasurer.
The following will serve as members of the center's board of directors:

Eugene Abramsky, Aaron Bahl, Herman J. Eaton, Max Eckdiss, Mrs. Herbert Gertner, Jerome Goldberg, Mrs. Leone Gross, Mrs. Sidney Halpern, Sidney Halpern, Mrs. Alfred Horowitz, Morton Kamen, Aaron E. Klein, Mrs. Herbert Kletske, Dr. David Kline, Mrs. Paul Mezer, Arthur P. Motzkin, Mrs. Arnold Pinsky, Norman Reamer, Charles Ronder and Mrs. Saul Schecter.

In accepting the presidency Werbalowsky stated that this annual meeting was one of the best attended meetings that the center has had; that he was conscious of a feeling of optimism on the part of the center membership, that he was convinced that the officers and the board of directors were representative of the total Jewish community and would enable the center to organize an expanding program of activities to serve all age groups in the Jewish community.

Cortland Girl Killed

CORTLAND, N. Y. (AP)—Janet MacLean, 16, of Cortland, was injured fatally Friday when the automobile in which she was riding and another collided at a rural intersection near here.

The ambulance was in collision with a car operated by Joseph Oppenheimer, 61, of 302 Wall Street, who suffered head injuries. He was treated at Benedictine Hospital. The ambulance was enroute to a falsely reported Route 28 accident, authorities said.

Carnegie Awards for New Yorkers Boy Who Lost Life, Crippled Youth Are Cited as Heroes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A boy who drowned trying to save another and a crippled youth who pushed his exhausted swimming companion 1,000 feet to safety were among 23 persons cited Friday night for courageous action in the face of death.

Joseph P. Simon, 13, of Ithaca, N. Y., was cited posthumously by the Carnegie Hero Fund. A bronze medal and $250 were awarded his mother.

Use of Hands Limited
Leonard N. Smith, 18, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., was awarded a bronze medal and $500 for saving the life of his friend, William K. O'Reilly, 18, last July 10.

Smith was born with a defect that left him with only 40 per cent of normal muscle in his limbs. But he learned to swim at an early age by kicking his legs. The use of his hands was limited.

Smith, O'Reilly and John Herberling had been swimming in Fish Creek, an outlet of Saratoga Lake, when, Smith recalled Friday night:

"John hollered to me that Billy was drowning, and he was too tired to help."
"I swam (200 feet) to Billy and went under water."
"We came up together and I got hold of his bathing trunks and pushed him ahead of me sort of zig-zag."

They continued for 1,000 feet when a boat picked up O'Reilly near shore.

At Ithaca, Simon and Larry Uter, 12, were drowned May 24, 1960, in Cayuga Lake Inlet.

Both boys were submerged in 12-foot-deep water but resurfaced. Simon pulled Uter toward a ladder near the bridge.

Both went under again and were drowned just as a third youth extended a board to Simon.

Simon, fully clad, dove nine feet into the water from a bridge railing to help Uter, who was struggling to remain afloat. Uter, a poor swimmer, wrapped himself a round Simon's back in panic.

Heartened America Cheers, Soviets Pooh-Pooh Shepard's Feat

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A heartened America cheered space pioneer Alan B. Shepard Jr. today, and stood by to give him a hero's welcome—while the Soviets pooh-poohed his grueling trip 113 miles into space.

But Shepard, whose code name is "Freedom 7", is far away from all this.

He faces two days of seclusion on Grand Bahama Island and a scientific grilling to wring from him the most minute details of his 15-minute adventure.

The White House and President Kennedy will wait until Monday—as will the nation—to give Shepard his welcome.

New York City and Los Angeles offered ticker tape parades whenever Shepard was ready.

There was little doubt that Shepard's feat—and the perfect shot of his Redstone rocket—were a major step for the U. S. man in space program, aimed at putting a man in orbit before the year is out.

But the official Soviet news agency Tass said the Project Mercury shot could not be compared with the 108-minute flight around the world by Soviet space pioneer Yuri Gagarin.

The difference is clearly the huge Soviet rockets and their ability to carry more weight at greater speeds into space.

But at least on existing evidence, Shepard's attempts to control his space capsule—even though it was backed up by automatic systems that insured against error—seemed somewhat more than Gagarin's.

If the Soviet Union was reluctant to credit the feat, Shepard's hometown of Derry, N. H., was not.

The whole town exploded into a full-scale holiday when news arrived that Shepard and his space capsule had splashed down safe and well into the Atlantic some 302 miles off the Florida coast.

Residents hailed Shepard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., and their daughter, Pauline.

The governor was thinking of proclaiming a state-wide celebration in the space pilot's honor—and some Derry residents seemed ready to change the name of the town to "Spacetown, U. S. A."

While the parents were tensely watching their son's exploit on television at Derry, Shepard's wife, Louise, and their two children watched on tv, too, at their Virginia Beach, Va., home.

"This is just a baby step. I guess, to what we will see," Mrs. Shepard said. To the question of whether she would like to see her husband orbited around the world in a rocket, she hesitated, then said: "Well, it is a hard question, but, yes, since he wants it so very badly."

Mrs. Shepard, 34, seems to know the same side of her rock-steady husband as do the psychologists who helped pick him for the job.

Members of congress have suggested that Shepard be given the Congressional Medal of Honor.

President Kennedy told a news conference he would ask Congress for more money to promote space efforts. Earlier he had said "All America rejoices" in Shepard's feat.

"We have a long way to go in the field of space," said Kennedy. "We are behind, but we are working hard and we are going to increase our efforts."

Salutes to Shepard's feat echoed through the capitals of Britain, West Germany, France, Canada, Spain, South Africa, Nationalist China and all through Latin America.

After his visit to the White House, he is expected back at this Florida base for extended tours in the astronaut's flight trainer—a last attempt to relieve the strange ordeal in space.

Scientists need to know everything they can of the brutal pres-

ures of speeding up and slowing down in rocket travel. And about the unearthly experience of weightlessness.

Shepard experienced some five minutes of continuous weightlessness and performed all of his assigned tasks capably during this time, taking some of the mystery out of the space flight phenomena.

The major physical stress of the flight was apparently during the encountering of the forces that crushed Shepard back into his seat during reentry—forces 11 times as powerful as gravity.

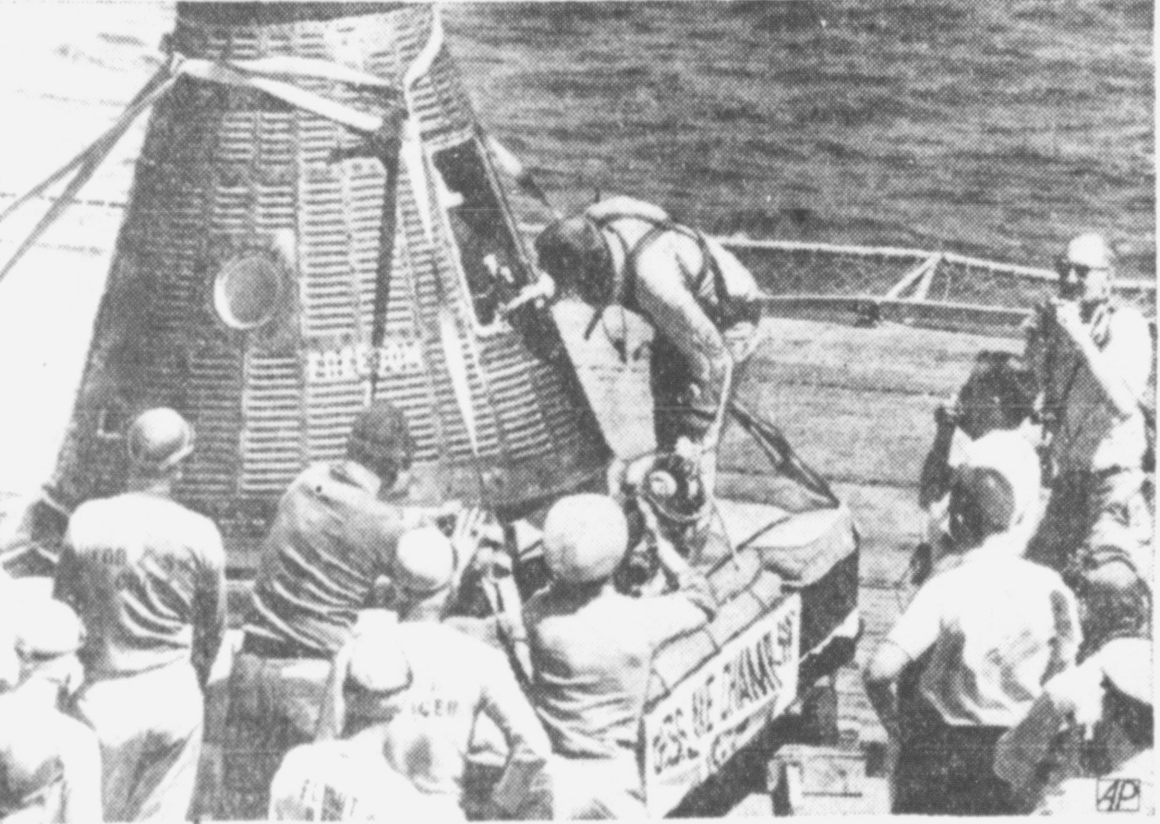

During this period of stress, Shepard's pulse rate rose to 120 per minute. Then it returned to 103 as the G-force lessened.

Space pilots who have faced G-forces in the centrifuge have learned reflex mechanics of coping with them. They deliberately tense up—and in this way help keep their blood flow normal.

Shepard, cheered by the sailors who lined the deck of the carrier that picked him up, was also toasted with champagne when he arrived by plane at Grand Bahama Island. But he didn't get any himself.

He had to be satisfied with a big shrimp cocktail, a roast beef sandwich and iced tea.

The six remaining astronauts saluted Shepard's remarkable flight. All of them had had a hand in it.

Astronaut Boosts Prestige of U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON (AP)—Alan B. Shepard's ride into space gave a lift today to lagging U. S. prestige in the world and the wide open display of the adventure brought cheers.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's capital joined a jubilant America today in preparing high honors for Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., first American to travel into space.

Washington — which usually takes celebrities in stride—bustled in preparing a welcome Monday for the 37-year-old Navy officer. There was even some talk of the nation's highest honor—the Medal of Honor.

Due in Capital Monday

Everywhere in the capital there was pride and joy in Shepard's light in the spacecraft Freedom 7. He was rocketed 113 miles into space and splashed into the Atlantic 302 miles below Cape Canaveral, Fla. The success eased the frustration of a long series of space disappointments.

Shepard will remain secluded with doctors on Grand Bahama Island until Monday, when he flies to Washington. Then a grateful nation begins to shower honors on its first spaceman.

Everyone from President Kennedy on down was trying to get into the act, all across the nation.

New York wanted Shepard for a ticker tape parade and his home state of New Hampshire planned a statewide celebration.

But Washington gets the first opportunity, and it doesn't plan to miss its chance.

Buddies to Join Him

Shepard is scheduled to arrive at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington at 10:30 a.m. Monday. There he will be met by his parents, and his wife, Louise, who waited out the tense hours.

One of Kingston's best known soldiers, Matthew F. Bence, retired superintendent of the New York State Armory here, died suddenly Friday of a heart seizure at his home, 259 Lucas Avenue.

He would have celebrated his 75th birthday on June 18.

After nearly a half century of service to his country, Mr. Bence retired from his position as superintendent at the Manor Avenue Armory in June 1955. At that time he left with the highest praise from the top command and the many who knew him through the various phases.

Brief Tornado Kills 13, Injures 59 in Oklahoma

POTEAU, Okla. (AP)—A tornado that didn't last 10 seconds killed 13 persons and injured 59 late Friday as it tore through two tiny towns in eastern Oklahoma.

A family reunion turned into a tale of horror when 13 died or were hurt as the twister smashed Reichert. Then it tore away half of Howe, a community of 500.

Nine died in Howe, four at Reichert.

It may have ripped a wing off a light plane. A young boy said he saw this happen and said he saw smoke rising from the forests on Winding Stair Mountain after it crashed.

The death toll may go higher. So could the number of injured. Both lists fluctuated Friday night, with victims taken to a half-dozen nearby cities.

"It didn't last 10 seconds," said Charles Lewallen.

But in those 10 seconds the big, happy reunion turned into a nightmare. Four members of the family were killed, nine injured, including two children.

Kennedy Rejoices But Tells of Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the United States still has far to go and must not relax on pride over its first human flight into space.

Outspokenly proud himself, Kennedy arranged a ceremonious White House welcome on Monday for astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr.

To Increase Efforts

Yet, while rejoicing with the country at Shepard's safe journey into the skies over the Atlantic, Kennedy reminded his news conference Friday that "We have a long way to go in the field of space. We are behind. But we are working hard and we are going to increase our efforts."

He said he would seek more funds from Congress, where a House committee already has recommended $126.6 million more than the administration originally sought for space projects.

He did not say how much he would ask at this time nor indicate how it should be used.

Kennedy emphasized that the United States would share its findings with other scientists in the world community and with "people who share our view that the probe into space should be peaceful, and should be for the common good."

Prods Reds on Peace

He nudged the Soviet Union to do the same. So far, he said, the Soviets have failed to come across with any information acquired from Maj. Yuri Gagarin's orbit of the globe last month. Further, he said when asked about the advance buildup of Shepard's launch, the United States would not be guilty of "what the Russians did."

of being secret and just hailing our successes."

Kennedy, at times grave and at times jolly, discussed accomplishments, hopes and embarrassments at his 11th news conference since taking office. Facing a crowd of 389 reporters for more than a half-hour, he dealt with these questions:

Southeast Asia—The United States, he said, is considering whether to send troops to South

Talks Bog Down for Cease-Fire

HIN HIEUP, Laos (AP)—Preliminary talks aimed at working out a cease-fire for Laos bogged down today as representatives of the kingdom's warring factions wrangled over where negotiations should be held.

Military negotiators—teams of six army officers each sent by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and the royal Lao government—deadlocked shortly after the opening meeting Friday in an abandoned house on the north bank of the Nhim Lix River.

Royal officers insisted permanent negotiators should hold the next session here in Hin Hieup. The rebels argued that it should be Ban Namone five miles northward and nearer territory, but that they would have to await word from higher authority, probably Sunday.

Representatives of Britain and the Soviet Union went to the Indian foreign ministry in New Delhi early today with instructions for the International Supervisory Commission to proceed to Laos to certify that a cease-fire has taken place. The group is expected to leave for Laos Sunday.

When the cease-fire is found to be effective, Britain and the United States will agree to attend the 14-nation Geneva conference on the future of Laos.

Carry Back 5 to 2 Favorite in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Fifteen of the country's top 5-year-old colts were posed for a shot at racing gold and glory in the Kentucky Derby today.

There was a threat of showers and scattered thunderstorms here but it didn't chase any of the hopefuls from the race. Actually, some trainers seemed to welcome it as their charges tried for the first place jackpot of $120,000 in the first leg of America's triple crown. The chart hinted the colts would do all right in the mud.

Nor was the weather expected to seriously cut down the crowd, an almost legendary 100,000. Churchill Downs never gives any

President Leaning To OAS Sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy apparently has put an end to U. S. invasion training of anti-Castro Cubans and has reservations on the idea of a total U. S. economic embargo against Cuba.

Instead, he is reaching out for joint action with the other American republics to try to block Communist inroads in the hemisphere.

May Go to Meeting

The President was reported considering a trip to an inter-American meeting to underscore U. S. interest in acting jointly with Latin countries.

The new U. S. ambassador to Peru, James Loebe, said after a White House visit Friday that Kennedy was interested in attending a special Inter-American Economic and Social Council meeting that the United States has proposed.

It is slated for July 15, probably at Montevideo, Uruguay, to consider how to move ahead under Kennedy's "alliance for progress" economic aid programs.

The President announced at his news conference Friday that the United States was asking the Organization of American States, made up of the 21 American republics, to convene the Economic and Social Council meeting.

Out to Dampen Lure

A major Kennedy thesis is that economic improvement plus social progress would dampen the lure of communism for poor Latin peoples.

Asked whether the United States would continue to train and arm Cubans as it did for the ill-fated April 17 invasion effort against Cuba, Kennedy replied: "We have no plans to train Cuban exiles as a Cuban force in this country, or in any other country, at this time."

As for a trade embargo against the Castro regime, Kennedy acknowledged that this has been considered by his top strategy group, the National Security Council.

Skeptical of Embargo

However, he noted all U. S. shipments to Cuba are already

Settle Cuba Differences, K to U. S.

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said today the United States should open negotiations with Cuba to settle its differences on a basis of "live and let live."

His speech, reported by Moscow Radio, was delivered in Erevan at a meeting of the Armenian Parliament held to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the establishment of Soviet rule in the republic.

Says World Alarmed

Khrushchev said the international situation had been aggravated recently.

"The peoples of the whole world are greatly alarmed by the intrigues of the imperialist aggressors against the freedom-loving people of Cuba."

He drew stormy applause as he condemned what he described as intervention in Cuba "which had not threatened anyone."

Relief for West: Britain

British newspapers reflected the West's relief that the United States had achieved success after a long and anxious wait. A London Daily Sketch editorial voiced a feeling widespread in Britain.

"Technically, they were runners-up. Morally, the cup is theirs. Every setback, every postponement was mercifully exposed."

This is the kind of achievement we understand in our part of the world. That's the way we would like to have done it."

Shepard's already famous quote during his 16-minute journey at 5,100 miles an hour—"What a ride!"—formed the same huge headline in the Mail, the Express and the Mirror.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and Premier Amintore Fanfani of Italy cabled their congratulations to President Kennedy.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Mother's Day rests upon an historical foundation of faith: The Old and New Testaments say, "Honour thy father and thy mother." The pagan festival of the "Mother of the Gods" was transformed by Christianity into the celebration honoring the "Mother Church," during which the faithful returned with gifts to the church where they were baptized. Then as young men and women left home to become apprentices and servants, "Mothering Sunday" in Mid-Lent, was set apart for them to visit their parents with tokens of their love. "Mother's Day" was first celebrated in America in Sunday schools and churches in Philadelphia in 1908. The idea came from Anna Jarvis, when she arranged a memorial service for her mother in a Virginia town. Congress passed the bill for the day in 1914. "Whereas the American mother is doing so much for the home, the moral uplift, and religion, hence so much for good government and humanity . . ."

Mission Speaker Slated Sunday at Alliance Church

The Rev. Benjamin Karcesky, a native of Pittsburgh, who has just returned from his first mission to the wildest sections of New Guinea, will speak at a local church Sunday morning.

The Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 131 Franklin Street, has invited the Rev. Mr. Karcesky to come to Kingston and discuss his experiences. White men had not been seen in a number of places where the Rev. Mr. Karcesky, his wife and three children, have lived. Mrs. Karcesky was a registered nurse, and was able to provide a kind of treatment for the ills of the natives they never knew existed.

The Rev. Mr. Karcesky will be heard in the Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. will preach a missionary message at 11 a. m. Further missionary details will be related in the service at 7 p. m. Later he will be available for questions.

Drew Speaker Is Slated Sunday at St. James Church

REV. WILLIAM A. IMLER

Guest speaker at the 11 a. m. Sunday service at St. James Methodist Church will be the Rev. William A. Imler, assistant to the Dean of the Theological School, Drew University.

The Rev. C. P. Hunter, pastor, will be in New York attending the 162nd Sessions of the New York Annual Conference.

The Rev. Mr. Imler will speak on Higher Education and the Methodist Ministry. St. James has been one of the leading New York Conference churches in the support of their conference program in Higher Education.

The Rev. Mr. Imler is an alumnus of Drew, having received his Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1951. In 1955 he received the Master of Sacred Theology from Yale Divinity School. His undergraduate degree was received from De Pauw University.

He served in the Navy Air Corps for two years and taught psychology for three years in the Liberal Arts College of Drew. His pastorates were served in his native state of Indiana.

In the administrative post at Drew, the Rev. Mr. Imler serves in liaison capacity between administration and faculty and between the administration and the students; supervises the school's program of scholarships and financial aid; and coordinates the Theological School's Preaching Hours and Conventions, which brings to the campus visiting leaders in religion.

He also acts as director of recruitment, a program in which potential theological students are introduced to Drew.

Church Council Begins United Clothing Appeal

The United Clothing Appeal of Church World Service is again being conducted this spring by the Protestant churches in the Kingston area under the auspices of the Kingston Area Council of Churches.

The clothing collected is sent to New York City where it is processed, packed and shipped to countries around the world where refugees, victims of war, natural or economic disasters are in desperate need. To relieve suffering among these pitifully impoverished, the churches need more than 15 million pounds of good used clothing this year. And this will only begin to meet the actual need.

Contribution of used clothing, cleaned and mended, will be collected at individual churches before Saturday morning, May 20. On that date the boxes of clothing will be brought to the Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets, where volunteers will weigh the clothing and prepare it for shipping to New York City.

Last year over two tons of used clothing were given by members of local churches to this worthy cause. Through the generosity of Herzog Supply Co. and Rupp Trucking Corp. collection and shipment of the clothing to New York City was done without cost to the council.

Members of the United Clothing Appeal Committee for the Kingston area are: William E. Rylance and the Rev. W. G. Cochrane, co-chairmen; Miss Ethel M. Hull, the Rev. H. E. Christiana, Robert H. Lowm.

Ashokan Methodist Services Canceled

Worship services and Sunday school at the Ashokan Methodist Church will be cancelled for Sunday due to the 162nd annual New York Methodist Conference in New York City. Services will resume the following week.

Colleges Set Up Center To Link Activities

CORNING, N. Y. (AP)—Five New York and Pennsylvania colleges and universities announced today the establishment of a center to coordinate the activities and some of the operations of the institutions.

Dr. J. Ralph Murray, president of Elmira College, said the aims of the University Center of the Finger Lakes would include some staff exchange, coordination of cultural and special campus events, group purchasing of supplies, and collaboration of roster projects beyond the means of any individual college.

Bishop Asserts

More Stewardship Needed Now by Conquest of Space

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP)—Man's conquest of space increases the need for stewardship. "The way we use all that God has given us—money, ability and time," an Episcopal bishop asserts.

The Rt. Rev. William C. Davidson, bishop of the Erie, Pa., Episcopal Diocese, offered the advice Friday night at the 50th annual convention of the church's Central New York Diocese.

More than 250 delegates from 150 churches are attending the two-day session, which ends today. Among the delegates are five women, either for the first time to attend in that capacity.

Stanley Rayfield of Forest Hills Friday was named executive secretary of a new promotion department. The diocese created the post at its 1960 convention.

Fulbright Feels JFK Fails U.S. On Commie Alert

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., suggests that President Kennedy so far has failed to adequately alert the nation to the dangers of communism.

But, Fulbright told a news conference Friday "I hope he will get to this in the near future."

The senator, in response to a question about Kennedy's role in pointing out communism's dangers, replied:

"Perhaps he has neglected this aspect of his responsibility."

There may be a good reason, however, Fulbright added. He cited the problems of a change in administration.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, hinted the space fight Friday by citing Alan B. Shepard Jr., as "extremely successful from the point of view of the individual and of the country."

"We were about to reach the point where we were, perhaps, becoming defeatists," Fulbright said.

Buick Salesman Receives Award

Edward J. Dick Gross of Catskill Avenue, Kingston, a salesman for Kingston Buick Co., Inc., 10 Main Street was awarded a Royal Purple Salesmaster standing in the elite Buick Salesmaster Club, according to records released today by the Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corp., Flint, Mich.

This exclusive club is composed of leading Buick salesmen from coast to coast. Membership is based on points for each Buick sold during the year. A minimum of 600 points is required for Salesmaster rating and 1000 points for Royal Purple standing.

Royal Purple Salesmasters receive a diamond mounted in gold pin displaying the Buick crest. A diamond is added for each year the salesman qualifies as a Royal Purple Salesmaster. He also receives a certificate of achievement.

Monthly Investment Plan
Adds Stock at Fair Price

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I want to purchase growth stocks for the education of my five children. I own International Business Machines and have accrued a good profit. Shall I sell and take my profit, or should I buy more? Shall I also invest in other stocks?"—J. C.

A) You hold shares in one of the very strongest of all growth companies. Although it is very hard to rationalize the price of IBM, it is an ideal stock for your purpose, and I would hate to see you lose your position in it.

IBM's chart picture over the past ten years has been one of ascending highs and lows each year without interruption. The price rise during the period has come to around 1900 per cent.

Instead of committing new sums of capital to IBM at present levels, why not add to your holdings through a Monthly Investment Plan? In this manner you could increase your commitment gradually over the next five years at a fair average price. If you have new money to put into stocks, I think you should begin to diversify. I suggest you look closely at Emerson Electric, Harris-Intertype, Sterling Drug, Reynolds Tobacco, and Southern Co., all on the Big Board. Any or all of these stocks are capable of the long-term appreciation you desire.

Q) "I don't have any money to lose. Three years ago I bought U. S. Industries at $13.75. Should I sell at a loss?"—M. T.

A) Since you wrote me, your shares have moved back to the 14 level. The company seems to be in the process of earnings recovery, which may come from its stake in automation and teaching machines. Backlog is up sharply and chances are good for a further rise, possibly to around 20. I would stay with this stock a little longer.

Feels We Lack Respect of Every Point in Society

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The president of the New York State Psychological Association claims "there is no respect for anything" in American society.

Dr. Max Siegel, a professor at Brooklyn College, told 300 delegates to a meeting of the state group Friday night that moral squallor has become our standard bearer.

"Cheating is the norm," he said. "Corporations engage in price fixing. American youth has been trained in high-powered lying of condoned squalidugery."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 6, 1961

OUR TAX BURDEN

Monday, May 8, the average New Yorker will start working for himself for the first time this year. Up to this time he will have been working for government, according to the Empire State Chamber of Commerce, which estimates that it takes him over one-third of each year to earn enough money to pay his share of the nation's total tax bill.

The country's total tax bill this year will be about $131 billion. Of this amount, $18 billion will be paid by residents of New York. Relating this to the $49 billion estimated personal income of the people of New York State means that taxes this year are taking nearly 37 per cent of the income earned by New Yorkers, the chamber declares.

If this is applied to the working year of the average person, it takes him almost 89 days to earn enough money to pay his proportionate share of our tax burden.

"Italy lacks funds to preserve relics," says a headline. After taxes, we almost lack funds to preserve life.

WHAT BUSINESS CAN DO

Attorney General Kennedy again reiterated, in his address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, that the Department of Justice has launched and will vigorously press an attack on "widespread" price-fixing conspiracies in American business. One's superficial reaction to this might be to conclude that the present administration is hostile to business and intends to harass it whenever possible.

Such a reaction is not warranted. For one thing, the present drive against price-fixing merely continues the campaign begun in the Eisenhower administration. It also is pertinent that President Kennedy has explicitly stated that government and business are allies rather than natural enemies.

The latter view was recently given strong public support by one of the nation's leading industrialists, Henry Ford II. In an interview he declared that the nation cannot afford "the ludicrous spectacle of old-fashioned guerrilla warfare between business and government—certainly not at this moment of history."

Both business and government have responsibilities in averting any such spectacle. The government has an obligation to avoid sensationalism in pursuing its crackdown on price fixing. Business leaders have an obligation to purge their firms of wrongdoing and to place an effective ban on such practices in the future.

Ford also has made it to say on this subject. In a Minneapolis address, he declared that when illegal practices are uncovered in a corporation its top men should have the "plain gals" to say: "This is our failure, we are chastened and sorry. It will not happen again." He added pointedly that "otherwise, the house cleaning job certainly will be put in less friendly hands." This is particularly apt counsel as the government pursues its drive against conspiracy to fix prices.

TOO MUCH WEIGHT

More and more evidence of a link between excessive weight and heart disease keeps piling up. Though absolute proof is lacking, no one who is overweight can any longer afford to be complacent about the matter.

The latest bit of evidence was reported by Dr. Margaret J. Albrink of Yale University at a meeting of the American Federation for Clinical Research. She and her colleagues have done research which points to a significant proneness to coronary artery disease in men having a tendency to gain weight after they reach maturity.

This and other research findings strongly support the idea that men and women, but especially men, should exercise restraint as to both the kind and amount of food they eat. There is little to be said for letting one's weight creep past the normal mark, and a great deal to be said against it.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
WHO IS WRONG?

This is in response to a letter from a lady in Louisiana, who writes:

Without knowing much about the Russians, I am sure that their development and accomplishments are spotty and I think we should be told about it.

"I know that their development has been remarkable but what about theirs in comparison to ours."

"I imagine that they lack aesthetic sense. Their interests are limited in their scope. They set a goal and achieve it, but there are more goals than are heard of in their philosophy."

"Do you realize how wonderful we are?" I would hate to turn a middle middle class (sic) Russian loose among the second hand stores and tell her to develop a home. The result would be horrid. An American woman can develop a charming home with soap boxes and a little paint. Our working girls have the grooming and good taste of debutantes. Things like that are not superficial. They require admirable qualities."

Perhaps the weakness in our position as regards Soviet Russia is that we have underestimated the Russians. The assumption in the above letter is that the Russians are barbarians, although there is a history of more than a thousand years of culture and civilization of a very high order. As long as we believe that every Russian is a moujik, we shall continue to underestimate the peoples who live in the vast area which is marked Russian on the map.

How can anyone say that the Russians lack an aesthetic sense, by which, I assume that my correspondent means that the Russians have produced nothing in the various fields of art. One need only know Russian music, Rimsky-Korsakov, Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff, to mention only a few pre-Bolshevik composers; or in literature, Tolstoy, Gorki, Chekhov, merely to scratch the surface of the subject. In science, the Russians and Poles have a long and important history, including Copernicus, P. F. Mendeleev, who worked out the table of valences, and among moderns many others.

I am not listing the wonders of Russia. That is their job, I am denouncing the ignorance of those who believe that wisdom and knowledge can be the monopoly of any one people. After all, Avicenna, (born in Bukhara in 980), one of the great philosophers of the Middle Ages, came from a country which is now become weak and backward.

It is not lessening the structure of the United States to recognize that there have been about 8,600 years or more of written history, whereas we have been on this continent only three centuries. We have inherited from other cultures the culture of man is continuous. Greece and Rome and Palestine and the long ancestral history of England have played an enormous role in the development of the United States.

The assumption of exclusiveness is distorting. It leads to false conclusions. We exaggerated the significance of Sputnik because we assumed that the Russians could never do what we could not yet do. Some folks, even yet, refuse to believe that there has been a Sputnik and a Lunik and it is this lack of understanding which is partly responsible for our failures in Cuba, Congo, Laos and elsewhere. Somewhere spread the notion that there is some extraordinary gift called know-how which is exclusively American. We have been shocked to discover that know-how is exclusive to no people, that what one people knows is soon known to all.

In the 1920's we spoke of the United States as "God's own country," which was both unhistorical and sacrilegious, for surely all the universe is God's. The metaphor, however, meant that this was the best country on Earth to live in, which is true for Americans but not for Hindus, Chinese, Welshmen or Scandinavians. They like their own country as we like ours. Therefore, when the 1929 Depression appeared we morally dropped dead. When Roosevelt tried to convince us that a third of the nation were economically disabled, we forgot about "God's own country," which became a corny expression. We insisted that all American history prior to 1932 had been an error and that we need to try altogether new methods. Thus, producing the confusing New Deal.

We need a more realistic attitude toward ourselves and toward the rest of the world. We need to recognize that we are one fact in a vast geography and a long history and that we dare not exaggerate our own importance, or underestimate the values of other nations. There is no greater peril than ignorance overlaid by emotions particularly when we reject knowledge to prove an assumption. The error of the past 40 years in our relations with Soviet Russia and Soviet satellites is that we have been unwilling to believe the truth about them because the proof did not sound true.

The Mature Parent
Don't Try to Shrug Off
Parent's Responsibility

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
Four years ago when our daughter was divorced, her five-year-old boy started calling her "Nancy." He still does it. It doesn't sound right to her father and me. When we tell her that it is to her discredit, she gets angry and accuses us of being "old-fashioned." Is it old-fashioned to believe that a child should call his mother "Mother"?

ANSWER: If you are a divorced mother, you can become afraid of the responsibility of rearing your child without help. Having failed as a wife, the prospect of also failing as a mother haunts you. If you are not aware of this most natural fear, you may deal with it by pretending that you're not a mother. You may encourage your child to avoid the parental title and treat you like the youngster you feel yourself to be.

Your feeling is:
"Child, don't expect too much of me because I can't deliver. I've done so badly with my own life that I can't take the responsibility of preparing you for yours. So get me off the hook of my adulthood. Think of me as your contemporary. Call me 'Nancy.'"

This is, of course, just a little game the divorced mother is playing with herself. She is her child's mother. Whether she likes it or not, the absence of her husband makes her the chief influence in shaping her youngster's conscience.

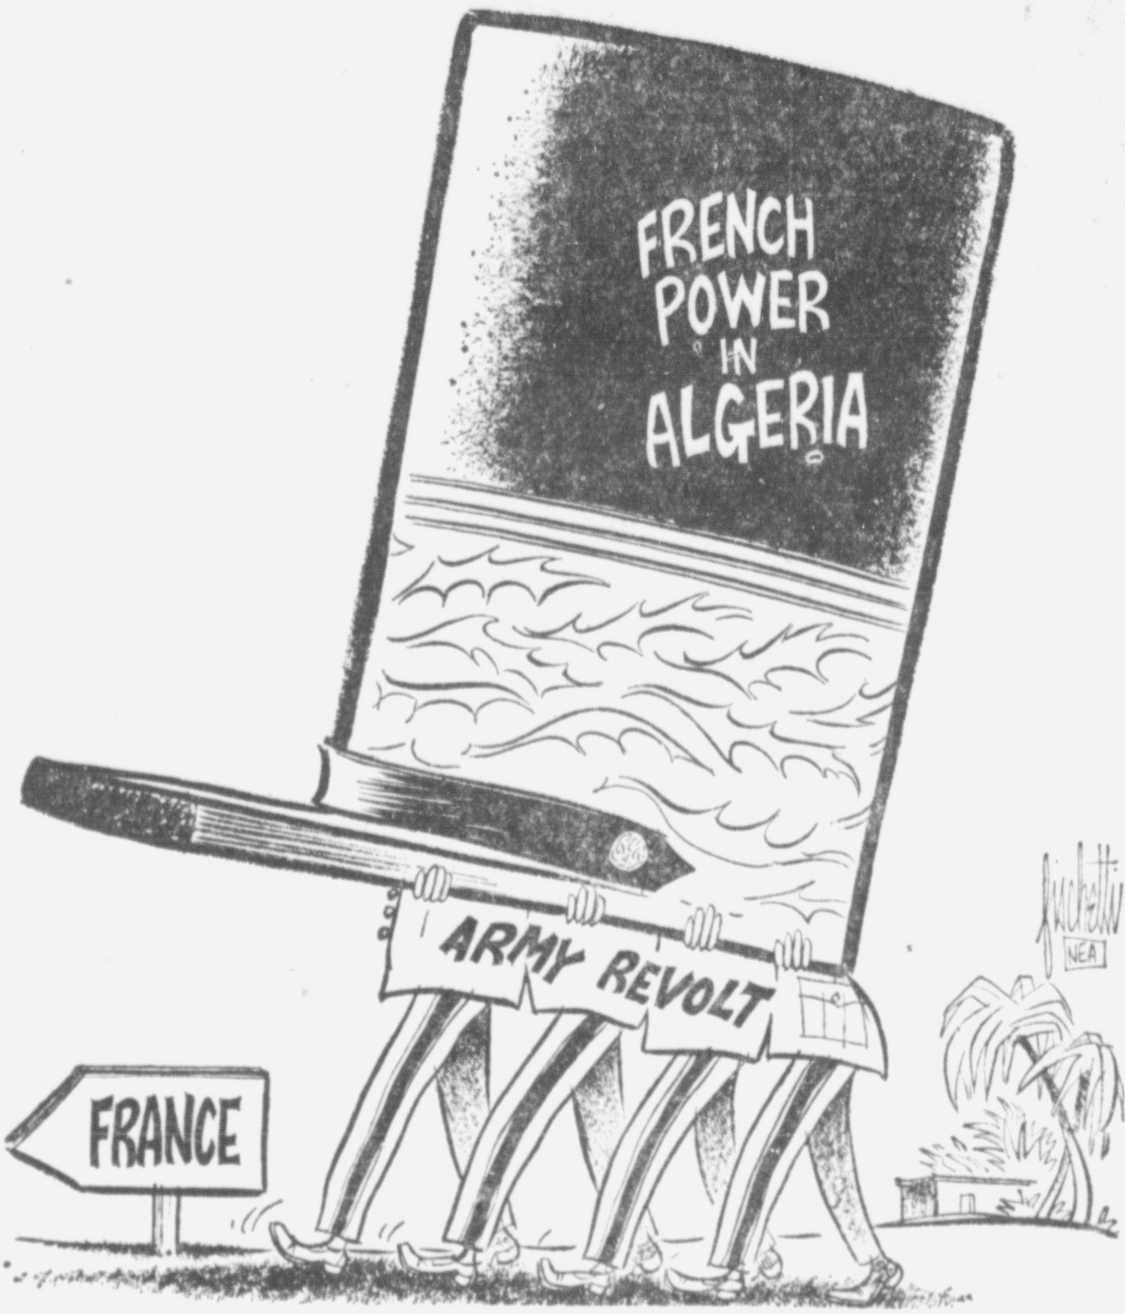

As this chief influence, she gives him approval for doing his chores and withholds it when he leaves his bicycle out in the rain. Though he called her "Twedledee," this assumption of responsibility cannot be avoided. It should be honored instead of belittled. I, too, think your daughter should claim the parental name to which her lonely struggle entitles her.

A child should be happy in his childish dependence on us. It is his right to believe that we are wiser than he, to trust in the difference between us.

When we encourage him to regard us as another child like himself, he joins in the game of "Let's pretend there's no difference between us." This is a very cozy way to make that all-important battle for separate identity, it won't be cozy. He may not win it. Because we feared difference from him, he may be too scared of difference from us to claim it.

Washington News

BY JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. Bob Kerr (D-Okla.) wants suggestions on what to name the mermaid symbol he has designed for the campaign against water pollution. The senator got the idea from Smokey Bear cartoons used in the "fight forest fires" drive.

Kerr's mermaid is a blue-eyed Irish colleen with flowing golden hair riding the waves on a broom. Best name so far: "Miss Cleen Sweep."

AFTER A HARD DAY at the laboratory, the well-informed government scientist relaxes at home with the latest translations of Soviet scientific books and journals. The Government Printing Office sells the publications, which are translated by the Commerce Department, at prices ranging from 50 cents to $10.

Among the new best sellers are "Some Characteristics of the Hypertensive Principle Contained in the Salivary Glands of Mice," "Occurrence of Sulfate Reducing Bacteria in Oil Fields of the Kuybyshev Region With Reference to the Salt Composition of Formation Waters."

ANOTHER DIGNITARY who likes to be "different" in his speeches is Dr. Harlow Shapley, distinguished Harvard astronomer and president of the American Association for Advancement of Science. He can't stand clichés.

So instead of beginning a recent address with the familiar "Ladies and Gentlemen," Shapley opened with:
"Fellow primates—"

NO ONE CAN ACCUSE Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman of boring an audience with long dissertations in defense of his farm program.

When a reporter asked him if giving Congress 60 days in which to disapprove a new program wouldn't cause an unnecessary delay in putting it into effect, Freeman replied:
"Nope."

Another reporter asked, "Wouldn't Joseph's dream be a better way to solve the farm problem?" The reply:
"Yep."

HIGHLIGHT OF A fund raising party for homes for aged White Russians in the U. S. was the dinner prepared by international food authority James Beard.

The rotund gourmet dished the entire meal with liberal quantities of cognac. Guests were also served cognac highballs and after dinner coffee spiked with the French brandy.

Asked for tips on how to become a professional gourmet, Beard quipped:
"Start eating everything and make up your own mind about what's good, what isn't and why. Then start ordering audibly in restaurants."

TEN GORGEOUS GALS from Holland flew into town and spent an entire day promoting Dutch flower bulbs. After walking all over the four Senate and House office buildings, where they passed out flowers, they were asked for impressions of Capitol Hill.

This hand should console readers who wonder why the expert is never wrong in a bridge column.

The bidding in the box is that indulged in by both expert teams in the same match.

At each table West led the jack of hearts and South won with the queen after North and East played low.

Later both declarers took the club finesse and wound up with three spades, one heart, five diamonds and three clubs for a total of 12 tricks.

Each was quick to point out that the slam was not particularly good one since it did depend on a finesse, but I am sure that most of you readers will already have noted that at six diamonds no finesse would be necessary. As long as all four trumps did not show up in one hand South could discard one of North's hearts on his ace of spades and make his 12th trick by ruffing a heart in dummy.

The diamond slam certainly should have been bid and, while it was not the easiest one I have seen, I do feel that both pairs should have reached it.

While there is no clear cut bidding sequence I feel that with 17 points, including two aces and two kings, North could have taken considerable more action than he did. I leave the best method to you to determine for yourselves.

$724,425 Budget Is Approved for School District

NEW PALTZ—Some 250 people attended this week's annual school budget meeting of the New Paltz Central School District. The budget of $724,425.37 was approved by a vote of 200 to 44. This is an increase of $86,940.86 over last year's budget which was $637,484.69.

John Ashton Jr., president, called the meeting to order and Mayor Henry DuBois was selected chairman. Reports were given by the treasurer, Wilbur Fredenburgh and Henry Enlund, tax collector. Dr. William Hagney explained the qualifications for voting at the school election for board members.

Members of the board explained the various parts of the budget as follows: General control, Walter Dyer; instructional services, Mrs. John Jacobson; Board of Cooperative Services, George Langwick; operation of plant, Joseph Foley; maintenance of plant, Charles Van Alst; fixed charges, Dr. William Hagney; auxiliary agencies, John Ashton Jr.; debt service, Joseph Foley; capital outlay, Gerald DuBois. Following an examination of the budget, a question and answer period took place.

John Ashton Jr. gave a 12-page report. He said in part: "A good school board is essential to a good school." He went on to say that the board should conduct its business in the interest of the school, as well as its responsibility to children, the teachers and the taxpayers.

He also explained that the board plans for the next year, to investigate the possibility of buying buses to transport all children in the district. The district now owns two 12-passenger buses and one carry-all. Other buses are owned and operated by Frank Van Gonsie, but this contract will expire in 1962. The contract this year is in the amount of $66,652.20. The estimated amount expected to operate and maintain the three district owned buses for the coming year is $5,160.

George Langwick, a board member and president of the Ulster County Board of Co-Operative Services, explained that the state reimburses the school district for 80 per cent of salaries of co-op teachers and tuition for vocational students.

Supervisor Principal Fredrick Dippel explained how the budget figure is arrived at. He said that the figures are compiled throughout the year with the aid of the business manager and the teachers.

Dr. Hagney explained that the administrative figures had increased $4950 this year, but New Paltz possibly has the lowest schedule in the county.

Inspectors for the school board election were Harold Phillips, Harry Cornwell, Edgar Beebe, Peter Savago, Henry DuBois, Frank Nadol, Rex Schneider, and Frank Tantillo.

Chamber Starts Citizens Group On Education

The New Paltz Chamber of Commerce, formulating a citizens committee on education has already contacted by letter some 20 organizations asking them to appoint a delegate to the committee. The group will meet in the village trustees room June 8 at 8 p. m.

The chamber is merely initiating the formulation of the Citizens Committee on Education. It is expected that when the committee is formed it will function independently of the chamber with its own appointed chairman.

The executive committee of the chamber met with the Board of Education of the New Paltz Central School Thursday, May 4, to discuss the formulation of such a committee.

Chamber of Commerce president, Harold Phillips has explained that in preparing a list of organizations to send delegates, it is quite possible some organizations may have been overlooked. Therefore, any organization in the area that has not been contacted is asked to send a delegate if they are interested in joining the new committee.

Organizations already contacted are: Junior Chamber of Commerce, Jaynees, Lions Club, Paltz Club, Fire Department, VFW and Auxiliary, American Legion and Auxiliary, Gardiner Fire Department, Gardiner Civic Association, Gardiner P-TA, Episcopal Church, Reformed Church, Methodist Church, St. Joseph's Church, Central School P-TA, Campus School P-TA, Mother's Guild of St. Joseph's Church, The League of Women Voters, and the Garden Club.

Senior Citizens Program Underway

Many beautiful rugs were on display at a recent Senior Citizen meeting at the firehouse. The rugs were made by Mrs. Olive Clarke, Mrs. Emma Parks, and Mrs. Grace Williams.

The afternoon's activities also included two films shown by Eric Caroe, assisted by Charles Smith. An April birthday cake honored Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Parks.

Programs in the near future include, "Hobbies Wherever You Are" on May 10 by Dave Harris and Ed Weber. Mrs. Clifford Hoppenstedt of Gardiner has invited the group to her home for tea May 17. Members will meet at the firehouse first.

St. Joseph's Church Activities Listed

At the 9 a. m. Mass Sunday at St. Joseph's Church 47 children will receive their first Holy Communion. They have been receiving instructions from the Benedictine Sisters for the past few months.

The May procession will be held Sunday 3 p. m. on the church grounds. Katherine Orlovsky of the first grade at St. Joseph's School will place the laurel wreath on the statue of Our Lady. Benediction will be offered in the church after the ceremonies.

Friday, May 19, the Most Rev. James Griffiths, D.D., will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to 103 children of the parish at 11 a. m.

Area Activities

Lansford Rhinehart of Kingston Road recently celebrated his birthday with a party at his home.

Mrs. Edward Morrison of 6 Wurtz Avenue, has returned home after a four-month stay with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wood of LaCanada, Calif.

Miss Ruth Jones, Mrs. David Jewett and Ivan Furguson, assistant professors of the Campus School, and Dr. George Bond, Campus School principal, are participating in the Mid-Hudson School Study Council spring conference on language arts.

The Youth Fellowship of the New Paltz Reformed Church will visit the Flatbush Reformed Church Saturday, May 6. The theme for the discussion will be "Christ in the Twentieth Century." There will be a worship service, workshops, film and recreation including music, a play, and sports. They will return at 8:30 p. m.

The Rev. G. J. Wulfschlegel's sermon topic at the Reformed Church for Sunday will be On Hearing God.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay LeFevre Jr. and family have returned from their Florida vacation.

Nixon Takes Off Gloves

Scores Kennedy Blunder on Cuba

Jersey Troopers Gain Custody of Suspected Thief

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon didn't wait long to yank off his gloves and get down to political bare knuckles.

Friday the former vice president broke the silence he has kept since the election, and repeatedly he hammered on this theme:

President Kennedy pulled a boner in the way he handled the Cuban situation. "Putting it bluntly," Nixon said, "we should not start things unless we are prepared to finish them."

Now come the domestic issues, although he doubtless will continue to bring up Cuba in each of his talks.

Nixon will speak on the farm problem at a Republican fundraising dinner in Des Moines tonight, and then wind up his tour with speeches in Detroit and Columbus on Tuesday and Wednesday.

It was like old times on the campaign trail Friday night. The Republican Citizens League of Illinois has just been organized to build up the GOP here.

The new McCormick Place Theatre was filled with 5,000 cheering spectators, with 500 to 600 unable to get in.

Everything looked as if 1960 was already forgotten — and all eyes were on 1964.

John F. Kennedy won Illinois by a scant 8,800 votes. And many Republicans claim this margin came on allegedly stolen votes in Chicago.

Nixon said he has often been asked why he didn't contest this election. He said he hadn't because it would take a year and a half to get a court decision.

"No responsible candidate for president," Nixon said, "could under such circumstances insist on a recount."

But he soon turned to the Cuban situation, and a quick review of the Kennedy administration.

A voice from the balcony cried, "Give 'em hell, Dick!"

And Nixon said: "The first 100 days have set a record for the number of words and scarcity of deeds that's unequalled."

Israeli Consul To Attend Local Lions Club Meet

The Israeli consul in New York has accepted an invitation from Kingston Lions Club to address the group Tuesday, May 13 at 12 noon in Governor Clinton Hotel.

Richard J. Kalish, Lions president, announced the club's program committee has arranged for Michael Pragai to speak on the subject, "Israel in the Middle East."

The invitation is part of a Lions program to bring representatives of the various United Nations as guest speakers.

Protests Shooting

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Foreign Minister Jose Ricardo Chiriboga announced Friday night that two Peruvian launches machine-gunned an Ecuadorian boat in the Jambeli Straits, an international body of water near Guayaquil Bay.

Chiriboga said he asked for added details when advised of the incident, the latest flareup in a long border dispute between the two South American countries.

The foreign minister said he would protest to Peruvian authorities against "this new violation of the elemental rules of international law," once he has more information about it.

Talks Break Off In Milk Strike, To Resume Later

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Negotiation talks aimed at settling a six-day-old strike of milk-truck drivers broke off early today for a later resumption.

State and federal mediators met with milk dealers and officials of Local 39 of the Teamsters' Milk Ice Cream & Dairy Workers Union for nearly 17 hours Friday. The dealers made a new proposal and the union reportedly sought a re-wording of several clauses. Talks were to resume this afternoon.

Meanwhile, about one million residents of Erie and Niagara counties were without milk delivery as 70 per cent of the area's dairies were affected.

Some dairies continued deliveries and milk was available over the counter at most of them but coolers were empty in most supermarkets. Some independent stores and vending machines were stocked.

The union said job security and work rules were the big issues in the walkout of 1,200 drivers at 30 dairies last Sunday.

The dairies said Friday night they had offered a wage increase and agreed to pay increases in medical insurance costs to union members. They also offered to withdraw a contract clause preventing dealers from selling or leasing routes to employees, they said.

State Agriculture Commissioner Don J. Wickham estimated that 3,000 dairy farmers supplying the Buffalo-Niagara Falls area had lost about $25,000 a day since the strike began.

Claims Vanguard Use Reason for Trail in Space

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The United States could have made its first man-in-space flight before Russia if the Army's Redstone rocket project had been used in 1955 instead of the Navy's Vanguard, a former assistant secretary of defense contends.

Dr. Clifford Furnas, chancellor of the University of Buffalo, said Friday he was "led to believe that if there had been a decision to use the Redstone... the United States would have been the first to put a satellite into orbit."

"The history of the last four years would have been different," he said, "I don't say better, but different."

Furnas said he was one of three men of a nine-man committee that urged the use of the Redstone six years ago. It was a Redstone booster rocket that carried the first U. S. spaceman, Lt. Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., on his history-making 15-minute, 28-orbit flight Friday.

"The final decision was to use the Navy Vanguard, which led to a great many delays," Furnas said.

He spoke at a convention dinner of a state reserve officers organization.

MODENA — The Modena Parent's Club met Monday evening at the Modena school, and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Merton Jenkins, and Mrs. Bernard Kopaske, Plattekill; Mrs. Katherine Van Vleet, New Paltz; Mrs. George Bartman, Gardiner; Mrs. Dorothy Olree, Highland; Mrs. Russell Coy, Mrs. Fred A. Fowler, Mrs. William Goehren, Mrs. Harold West, Mrs. Fred Savignano, Mrs. James E. Palen and Mrs. William DePew.

Miss Olree, teacher in Plattekill Elementary School, entertained the group by showing projection movies of scenes of the West Coast, taken during a Christmas vacation trip.

Plans were discussed for the annual picnic Monday, June 2, at the school grounds. School will close for the summer vacation Wednesday, June 24.

Meetings of the club will be discontinued during the summer season, to be resumed in September at the opening of the school session.

A complete report of the proceeds of the pie sale was not available at this time, and will be announced later.

The date of the teachers recognition dinner at Leptondale Elementary School was announced as Wednesday evening, May 17.

Parents of Walkkill Central School District are advised to note the date of registration for kindergarten in September, Monday, May 15 or Thursday, May 18, at Plattekill Elementary School from 1 to 3 p. m.

Birth certificates and immunization records are required.

Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill met Tuesday evening, May 2, at the home of the secretary, Mrs. William Decker.

Others attending were Mrs. Bernard Kopaske of Plattekill, also the president of the committee, Mrs. Roy Jensen of Ardonia; treasurer, Mrs. Grace Coy; Mrs. Stewart Pink and Mrs. Ronald A. Wager.

It was announced that the next immunization clinic for infants and pre-school children of the Town of Plattekill will be held Tuesday, May 23 at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, from 2 to 3 p. m. instead of 1 to 3 p. m. as previously announced.

Mrs. Pink will assist the health officers in charge.

The sunshine gift during April, went to Mrs. George Sisti Sr. of Plattekill, and a wedding gift was presented to the public health nurse, the former Miss Jamie Synnott of Kingston.

The committee meets Monday, June 5, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Grace Coy.

Jaycees to Hold Road-e-o May 13

The Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce today announced that the Kingston Teen-age Road-e-o will be held Saturday, May 13, at Dietz Stadium. Contestants are asked to report at the stadium at 11 a. m.

The Teen-age Road-e-o is held annually and nationally by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to promote good driving habits among teenagers. The Road-e-o provides the opportunity for the teenager to demonstrate his acquired driving skill while showing the responsible citizens of the community the need for driver education.

The Road-e-o impresses safe driving habits, knowledge and attitudes in the mind of the teenager, the Jaycees point out. More than 9 million have participated in the program since its inception nine years ago.

The top winner from Kingston, boy or girl, will be sent to the state finals in Hudson June 9 and 10. The winner of the state finals will be sent to Washington for the national finals in August. In Washington the state finalists will compete for $4,900 in scholarships.

All teenagers 16 to 19 years of age who have driver's licenses are invited to enter. Chairman David Suloff will accept entries.

Bob Nadler, Inc. has provided four new cars to be used for the Kingston contest.

Committee members for the Teen-age Road-e-o include Chester Duffley, George Mine, Donald Simek, H. Streeter, Albert Trowbridge and Suloff.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After weather and taxes, no subject draws more talk in this town than pay-TV.

There was plenty of talk about the subject this week at a meeting of the Hollywood Press Club. The difference was that the speakers knew what they were talking about.

Leading off the panel was Paul McNamara, an official of Telemeter, who spoke glowingly of the firm's pay-TV venture in Toronto. "One of the things that sells pay-TV best in Toronto is the lack of commercials," he said. "Viewers are sick of them. It's not the networks that are so much at fault. When the network shows go off at 10:30, then the local stations murder the viewer with commercials."

Samuel Sacks, executive of a top talent agency, saw pay-TV as a boon for stars. "As each new entertainment medium has developed, talent has prospered," he said.

Martin Racking, production chief of Paramount, declared: "Pay-TV is as inevitable as any strike forward in any medium. Contrary to Sacks, he saw the studios regaining their power."

Sherrill Corwin gave the theater owner's view of pay-TV: "I don't like it. I can't stop it."

Selig Seligman, ABC vice president, castigated his fellow speakers for "self-interest and concern about pay-TV's commercial aspects." He said he was more concerned with the impact of pay-TV on art, aesthetics, news, communications and the welfare of the people.

"Free TV is only 10 years old," he said. "I think it has made great advances in 10 years. I'd hate to see those advances lost because of commercial aspects in pay-TV."

Whehle to Appeal $75,000 Slander Suit for Cheatum

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Louis A. Whehle, former state conservation commissioner, is appealing a $75,000 slander suit won by a department official whom Whehle had blamed for the death of thousands of pheasants.

Whatever he had said about Dr. Leonard Cheatum, assistant director of the department's Division of Fish and Game, "was fair comment," Whehle maintained in a brief filed Friday in the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court. Cheatum was awarded $75,000 in damages in State Supreme Court last June.

Whehle, a wealthy Rochester brewer, argued in the brief that Cheatum had been "a subordinate who failed to carry out his job" and "was negligent in his handling" of a disease outbreak among the pheasants.

The birds died of botulism, a bacterial poisoning, after being shipped from a state game farm in nearby Delmar to another on Grenadier Island in Lake Ontario.

Whehle served under former Gov. Averell Harriman. He resigned in 1936, during an uproar over his public comments about Cheatum.

Veterans Rights, Benefits Listed

Civil Service—The popular titles of Correction Officer (male) and Women's Correction Officer are included in a long list of job opportunities under the New York State Civil Service, for which applications will be accepted up to May 22. Competitive examinations will be held June 24. Detailed announcements of these jobs may be examined in this office which will also furnish assistance in securing application forms and announcements for individuals.

Pension—The contribution made by the Federal Government for health insurance under the Retired Federal Employees Health Benefits Program is not considered as income for veterans' purpose. The government contribution under this program, moreover, is not considered wages for services for social security purposes nor is it considered income for Federal Income Tax purposes.

Tax Exemption—Exemption from school taxes may be claimed by certain seriously disabled veterans whose real property is wholly or partially tax exempt. Entitlement to exemption from school district taxes may be requested under Section 458, Subdivision 3 of the New York State Tax Law. The law exempts veterans from school taxes applies only to paraplegic and other veterans who received funds from the federal government to enable them to build or purchase housing to meet their particular disabilities. Application for exemption from school taxes may be submitted to the local school district. The application may be supported by a statement or other type of proof that real property exemption has been granted by the city or town.

By following this procedure, an applicant would be able to show the amount of real property tax exemption granted by the city or town tax district and request a similar amount of exemption on school taxes.

Legislation—A bill which would provide vocational rehabilitation for veterans with a service-connected disability with service in the United States Armed Forces after Jan. 31, 1955 is now pending before the United States Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. The United States House of Representatives had already passed and sent to the Senate a measure which would provide vocational rehabilitation for such veterans.

Question about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to: Charles L. Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York, or John B. Tyler, Director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Auriesville Shrine Will Open Sunday

The Auriesville Shrine of the North American Martyrs will open for the 76th season on Sunday, and the early schedule of pilgrimages to the Mohawk Valley site made holy by the martyrdom of Saints Isaac Jogues, Rene Goupil and John Lalande, Jesuit missionaries to the Mohawk Indians in the middle of the 17th century, indicates another season of many activities. Solemn opening of the season will be made at the high Mass to be sung at 4:15 p. m. by the Rev. William J. Schlaerth, S. J., rector of the Auriesville Terrestrial and Retreat House, who will direct shrine activities during the year. Father Schlaerth, who will greet pilgrims at the morning masses, will also give the sermon at the afternoon Mass.

Cabinet Dividers

Hardboard dividers in a base kitchen cabinet will help you prevent its becoming a hodgepodge of pots and pans. Put hardboard panels in vertically and hold them in place with quarter-round wood molding attached to top and bottom.

White for Safety

In the case of dark attic or cellar stairways, it's a safety measure to paint a white stripe along the outer edge of the stair tread. You'll be wise, also, to paint the bottom step all white or in a color that contrasts with the rest of the staircase.

Low Priced Ranch House Economical to Maintain

(By Associated Architects)

Some houses are so well-proportioned, they have a special sense of rightness, even at first glance. Here in the "Pinetree" you will find a balance and fine flow of detail which make it extremely appealing.

Much of this attractiveness is due to careful design. Glass is used generously and the same horizontal pane motif throughout. Slender panel blinds and a brick area under the windows add to the "Pinetree's" beauty.

All this has been done without resorting to costly extras. The basic rectangular form which spells economy and fine floor layout is practically intact. The only variance is the front gable which extends out four feet.

Using the same imaginative planning inside, Associated Architects have achieved a fine three-bedroom floor plan both efficient and extremely livable.

If a home can be built around a theme, here it would be modern, cheerful living. Ample windows—some of them corner units—in the bedrooms, million windows in the dining room and an expansive picture window flood the house with natural light.

Adding cheer is a contemporary fireplace, open on three sides to spread welcome warmth to both living and dining rooms. In chill weather, persons seated in these rooms are protected by a formal vestibule just inside the front door. Storm gear can be stashed in the closet on its right.

One great advantage of a ranch type is that the sleeping area can be set apart for privacy and quiet. The three bedrooms here use that principle effectively. Each has sliding door closets and is convenient to a well-appointed bathroom with large linen closet.

Every measure has been taken to make a food preparation and service easy. A modern cooking-top and built-in ovens make the kitchen up-to-the-minute. A handy lavatory is set in a niche near the doorway which leads to the garage.

Shelter is provided between house and garage by a breeze-way large enough to provide a screened-in spot for warm weather relaxation. There's ample room for two cars in the garage with its sixteen foot overhead door.

On the exterior, cedar shingles are used all around, setting off the beauty of windows and the brick veneer under them. Cubage is 27,150 square feet with the living area measuring 1,290 square feet and the garage 420 square feet. Plans show details and section views for building with full basement or with no basement.

Examine Stems Of Tea Roses
If you are in doubt as to whether your hybrid tea roses are alive, examine the stems carefully just above and below the soil level.

If the stems are black—some even show white mouldy patches—these portions are dead. But if any part is green and there are slightly swollen buds above the knob of the graft, then you can count on that plant.

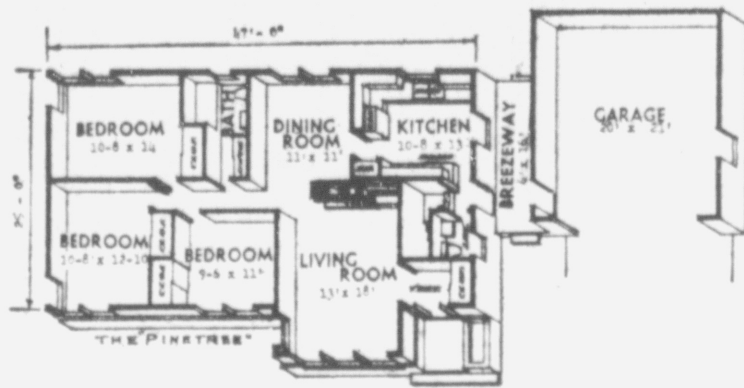

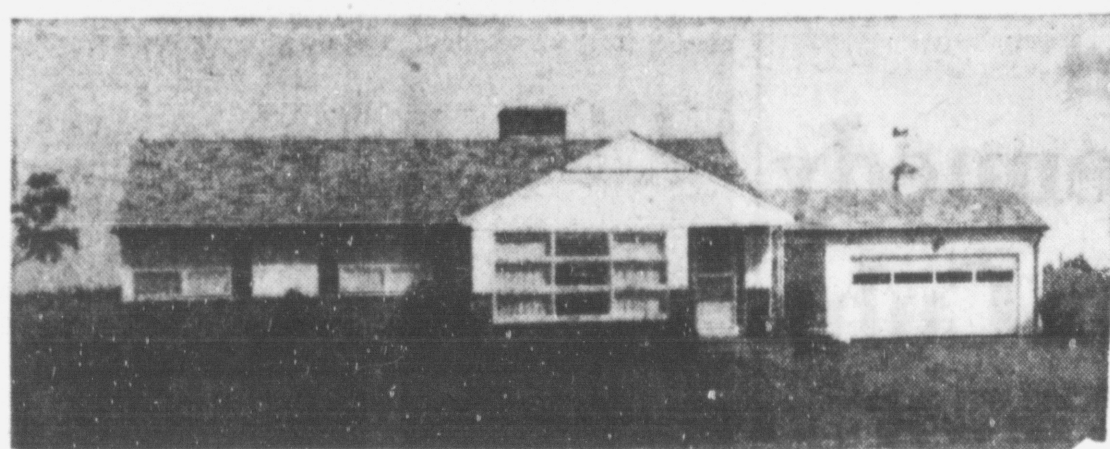

On climbing roses, a green stem out beyond a black or purplish section does not count. Sap will not be able to move up through the blackish injured portion.

Cut such stems below the blackened section. Shake the tops of all climbing roses free of any winter covering. If left protected, new growth will come on too soon, only to succumb to late freezes.

Extend Color Planning To Outdoor Furnishings
Outdoor furniture colors should be chosen in relation to the exterior color plan of the home just as indoor furniture is selected for color harmony with the walls of a room.

Careful color planning also is recommended for other decorative elements of a home's exterior: Awnings, flower boxes and even flower themselves, particularly if the flowers are massed, come in this category.

The overall exterior color plan should be based on the roof color.

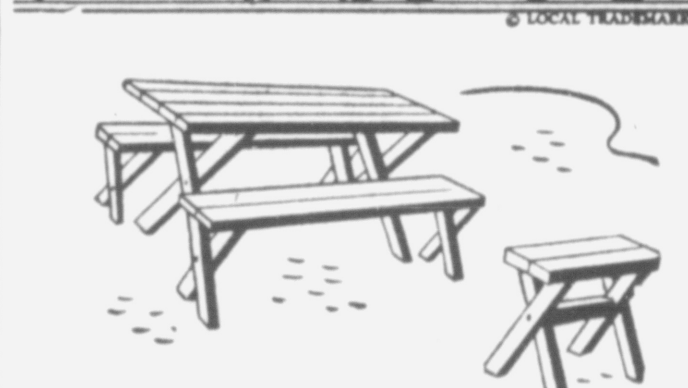

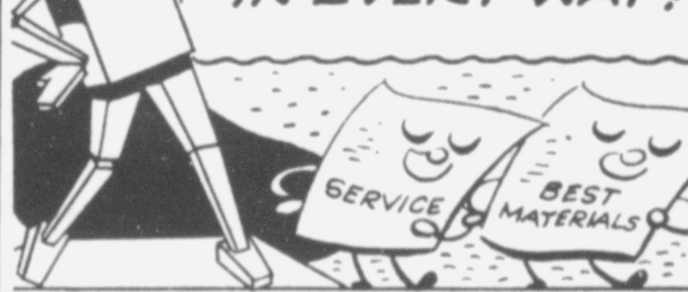

Make Dents Disappear

To repair dents in furniture, dampen the affected part. Fold a piece of brown paper several times, soak it in warm water and put it on the dent. Then apply a warm, not hot, iron until the moisture evaporates. Repeat until the dents disappear.

Kennedy Rejoices

Viet Nam. A decision on exactly what help will be furnished this neighbor of Laos awaits consultation with the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will take up the problem with Vietnamese officials on his mission to the Far East starting Tuesday. Kennedy confirmed reports that Johnson would make such a fact-finding trip.

Cuba and Latin America—Kennedy said there are no plans to train a new force of Cuban exiles for another attempt to overthrow dictator Fidel Castro. The question of imposing a trade embargo on Cuba, however, is being carefully considered.

Political funds—Kennedy said Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall was embarrassed by the letter in which a friend used his name in soliciting support of oil and gas industry officials for a $100-a-plate dinner honoring the President this month.

Impatient About Talks

But Kennedy said the entire problem of raising funds is fraught with embarrassments. The best way to prevent them right now, he said, is for the federal government to bear the major costs of both parties in Presidential campaigns.

Atomic tests—Kennedy called the latest Soviet proposals, which amount to reserving the power of veto, unfortunate. He indicated the United States is growing impatient with Soviet actions at the Geneva negotiations for a pact to ban nuclear tests.

International scene—There are grounds for encouragement, said the President—who declared that "I am not a pessimist about the future."

Astronaut Boosts

Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin's global space orbit of last month.

Nikita Takes Dig

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev indicated his awareness of Shepard's flight without mentioning it specifically. He praised Gagarin in a speech at Erevan, Soviet Armenia, and said the Russian major flew "around the globe precisely—not just up and down."

Soviet citizens got the news in cut-and-dried fashion, the first broadcast disclosing it 90 minutes after Shepard landed in the Atlantic. Radio Free Europe beamed bulletins and eyewitness accounts behind the Iron Curtain.

The Red radio in Czechoslovakia described the rocket flight as both Czech and Hungarian broadcasts praised Shepard himself as a hero.

The Red Chinese press in Hong Kong was disparaging. The Communist Commercial Daily said the U. S. space shot was a propaganda stunt.

Settle Cuba

He noted that the attack had been repulsed and commented "U. S. statesmen should draw the proper conclusions."

Khrushchev said that Cuba had proposed to normalize its relations with the United States by negotiating on a basis of "live and let live." He added if America would follow this principle it would be to the mutual advantage of everyone and without harm to the prestige of anyone.

Turning to the situation in Laos, he said measures were now being taken "to put out the fire" there which he insisted were started by American efforts to divert the Southeast Asia country from a position of neutrality which had been established by 1954 Geneva agreement.

Advice on Laos

"Laos," Khrushchev said, "wants to use its energies for peaceful purposes. The Western powers should abstain from using Laos as an area for military intrigues."

Turning to the Soviet proposal for abolishing U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's job Khrushchev said "The United Nations organization suffers from ailments which need treatment."

He said that a reorganization of the United Nations would enable that body to "answer its purpose and to examine and solve whatever problems may arise without bias and with due regard for the interests of all nations, to make it an effective instrument of safeguarding the peace of the world instead of being one to do the bidding of one group of states at the expense of the others."

In his lengthy speech Khrushchev asked for early and successful negotiations on disarmament, saying "the international situation had grown more tense."

He said that the Soviet government was preparing seriously for talks with the United States about disarmament.

He repeated his formula that if the United States will accept complete and total disarmament, the Soviet Union would accept whatever controls the United States wishes.

The United States has repeatedly rejected its proposals for controls must accompany progressive disarmament.

Airman Arrested For Damage at Water Tower Site

A 24-year-old airman was arrested Friday afternoon by Kingston police on charges of unlawful intrusion and malicious mischief, accused of damaging property at the water tower on Florence Street.

Airman 2/e William F. Jones, of 1018 Seventh Street, Laurel, Md., was turned over to U. S. Air Force officers, who took him to the USAF hospital at Stewart Field, Newburgh.

City Judge Aaron E. Klein paroled Jones and adjourned arraignment until June 5 at 9 a. m.

According to police, Jones reportedly climbed a fence to enter the property on Florence Street, broke a padlock on the water storage shed and damaged the telemeter transmitter before police arrived.

Jones is attached to the 646th Radar Squadron, USAF Station, Highlands, N. J., and was taking a special course at the IBM here.

Carry Back 5 to 2

Attendance figure and no-body disputes it seriously. Millions planned to see the race on television (CBS, 4:15-4:45 p.m. EST).

Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back who won the Florida Derby and Flamingo Stakes was the 5-2 favorite although his post position was next to the outside.

Crozier, the speed demon from the stable of Alabama contractor Fred Hooper, was second rated at 3-1 and the entry of Flutbury and Four-and-Twenty from the Alberta ranches in Canada stood at 9-2. Jacob Sher's Shetland rated fourth choice at 6-1 but the crowd didn't accord the others much chance.

All the colts carried 126 pounds in the 1 1/4 mile test.

Unity Aim

need for drastic measures to meet the Red threat and that it wants the support and understanding of its friends for such actions.

Within NATO itself, U. S. officials said, Rusk will urge an increase in the conventional military forces which could be used to meet the initial thrust of an attack in a NATO area and perhaps delay thereby the hour for defensive use of nuclear weapons.

Specifically, Rusk is expected to argue that the European allies must rely less, in the first instance, on U. S. and British nuclear retaliatory power and more on conventional arms.

At his news conference, Kennedy said the administration is considering the possibility of using American forces against the Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam, a country bordering Laos, if that should become necessary. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will discuss the matter when he meets next week with Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Rusk is slated to report on the Cuban and Southeast Asian situations as well as to review the worsening state of U. S.-Soviet relations. In that context, he will also talk about disarmament and the negotiations at Geneva among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on a nuclear weapons test ban.

Dean Returning to Geneva

Kennedy announced Friday he was sending Ambassador Arthur H. Dean back to Geneva with instructions to strive for a reliable and workable agreement—providing for an international inspection system to prevent sneak tests. But he added that he has asked Dean to report "within a reasonable time" what prospects there are for getting an agreement with the Soviets.

While the President's public attitude was officially hopeful, Rusk was expected to make clear to the NATO allies that the negotiations may fail and that the United States may have to decide sometime soon whether it will resume nuclear weapons testing, suspended when the Geneva talks started 2 1/2 years ago.

Another problem: a halt in U. S. purchases of Cuban tobacco would throw thousands of American workers out of jobs.

President

cut off except for food and medicine. He is known to feel that a tighter embargo alone would not topple the Castro government.

Although he did not specify additional drawbacks to the embargo idea, one of concern to his advisers is the propaganda black eye the United States could get for stopping food and medicine shipments to the Cuban people.

Another problem: a halt in U. S. purchases of Cuban tobacco would throw thousands of American workers out of jobs.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer

GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND (AP)

—Spaceman Alan Shepard is in "excellent health" and very high spirits today, said officials at his hospital home here.

He breakfasted before 8 a. m. on scrambled eggs, orange juice, toast and jelly and faced a busy day of more medical checkouts and interviews with engineers, psychologists and psychiatrists.

The other four astronauts were due in today to take part in learning Shepard's experiences as a pilot and what they might expect if they go aloft on future flights. Two others flew here Friday.

Blood Samples Normal

Engineers of Project Mercury are bringing over tapes of data recorded from his flight so they can talk more intelligently from an engineering viewpoint about what happened.

Dr. George Ruff, psychiatrist at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Robert Voas, psychologist and training officer of Project Mercury, will see Shepard today. His reflexes are being checked by Dr. Charles Jackson and Dr. Phillip Cox expects to examine the astronaut again also.

Shepard got another chest X ray. Blood samples were found to be normal, said Mercury information officer John Powers.

night, he said the Grand Bahamas Island support of the program has always been good and in this flight it was "out of this world." Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom slept in the hospital building with Shepard Friday night because it was felt he should not be alone, even though he was believed to be in superb physical condition.

Grissom and astronaut Donald Slayton arrived here Friday. Coming today are the other members of the team, Scott Carpenter, Walter Schirra, Leroy Cooper and John Glenn.

In Fine Fettle

Medical men reported first physical and psychiatric checkups showed Shepard in fine fettle. "He's just like he was before the flight, only he's happier, of course," said Dr. William K. Douglas, the astronauts' personal physician.

Douglas said the tape records of Shepard's flight "showed he performed remarkably well the complex tasks required of him. Five minutes of weightlessness apparently posed no problem, nor did the increased gravity pull of re-entry."

This all indicates, as did the recent flight of Russian Yuri Gagarin, that man can pilot space vehicles, perhaps on quite long trips.

But the Soviets have given few helpful details. Some of the psychological questioning concerns designing of equipment and procedures best suited for man to perform safely and efficiently in a new arena, space.

Indications were that Shepard would stay on Grand Bahamas through Sunday, going to Washington Monday to see President Kennedy and to tell his story to the press and public.

Brief Tornado

ton Lloyd, Mrs. Lloyd's infant son and Alvin Brown, Jack Brown's baby son.

"I heard my daughter, Connie, screaming for me. I uncovered her and carried her to the highway where some man loaded her in a truck," Llewellyn said. "I found my sister-in-law underneath another pile of logs."

Then he found baby Preston Lloyd's body.

He looked around and heard crying... from his father-in-law, and his own two boys. He found his baby daughter, Stephanie, wrapped in a mattress, her arm broken, and "All this time, it was raining something awful."

At Howe, about the only building not wrecked was the office of Dr. S. C. Dean.

Walter Lewis, who came into town soon after the tornado hit, said the dead and injured were taken there. And "Doc Dean, who is about 90, is still working now." This was about midnight.

Name Orange Baby For U. S. Astronaut

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mann don't know whether they are the first couple to name a child after astronaut Alan Shepard, but they figure they come mighty close.

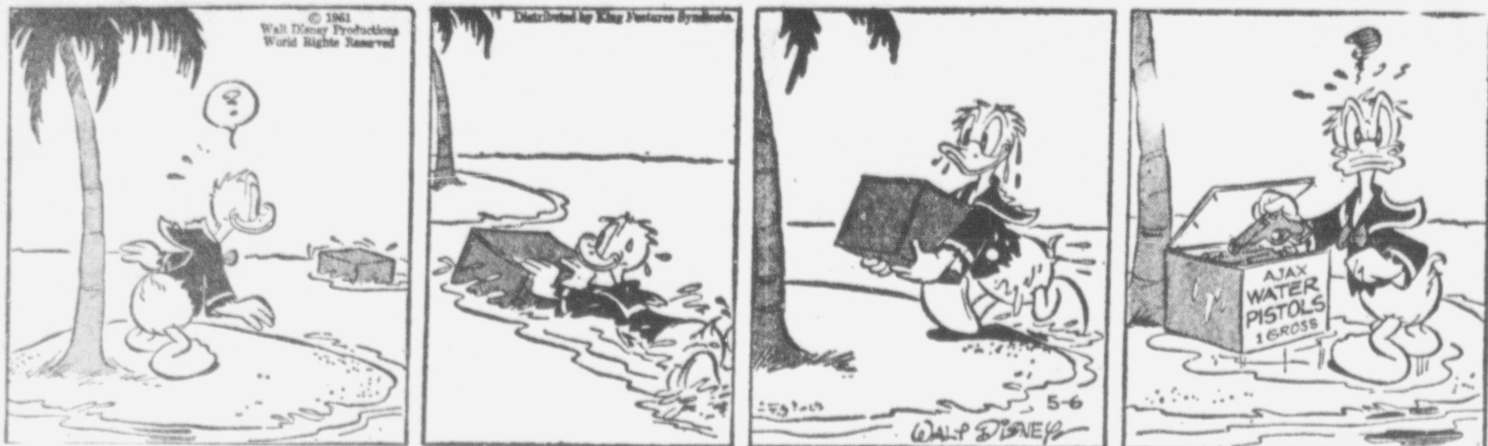

Mrs. Mann gave birth to a boy at 11:42 a. m. Friday at Horton Hospital. His name: Alan Shepard Mann.

Shepard's rocket took off at 10:34 a. m.

Tonk-Tonk; Boom-Boom; Peep— Ever Heard These Strange Sounds?

Frogs play important parts in nature's spring music festival, says the National Geographic Society.

Each of the 2,000 different kinds of frogs has a distinctive call which lures only females of the same kind.

Frogs utter their mating cries without opening their mouths. Air from the lungs is forced back and forth over vocal cords, producing the sound. An air pouch under the chin serves as a resonator. The sacs of some species swell to half the size of the head and body.

Frogs produce a variety of croaks, peeps, chirps, trills, barks, brays, grunts and squawks.

A chorus of Brazilian frogs sounds like a regiment of men beating tin pans. The common pickerel frog's voice suggests a loud snore.

Often it is easier to identify species by call than by appearance. New species usually are discovered by sound, not sight.

The mink frog is said to have a voice closely resembling the noise produced by hammering a long nail into heavy timber. The carpenter frog also projects a hammering sound, and the barking frog coughs out a woody "tonk-tonk" which sounds like someone pounding on a large barrel.

The white-lipped frog's call resembles the plunk-plunk of a drop of water falling from a cave roof into a quiet pool below.

Less pleasing is the voice of the giant tree frog which sounds like "the jerky pulling of a rope through an uncoiled pulley."

Many frogs have deceptive calls. The bird-voiced tree frog whistles like a woodpecker. The narrow-mouth toad bleats like a lost lamb. The marine toad's deep, booming trill often is mistaken for a far-off tractor.

Some listeners describe the call of Hammond's spadefoot as a metallic grinding of gears. The tiny spring peeper, though only three-quarters of an inch long, can project its shrill peep for a half-mile.

Besides mating calls, frogs emit warnings, fright screams, and rain songs. The warning noises drive off unwanted male frogs in the breeding season. The fright scream, made with the mouth open, is a spine-chilling, humanlike shriek uttered when the frog is in peril. The rain song is apparently just for fun—the equivalent of singing in the shower.

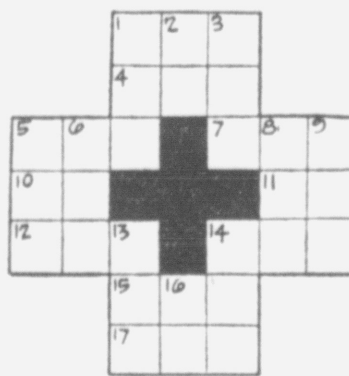

Chorusing frogs often are charged with disturbing the sleep of the countryside. A Missouri farmer had a more unusual complaint. He accused a large bullfrog of keeping his hogs thin.

"Every time that blamed bullfrog gives out with a below," the farmer declared ruefully, "the pigs think it's someone calling them to eat. They're running all the fat off their bones answering his call."

There's More to It Than Stepping Out Into Thin Air

Sport parachuting is growing like a mushroom in the United States. For years it has been popular in Europe.

It looks simple when you watch the jumper floating earthward beneath the gay-colored canopy that looks like a giant flower with a petal missing. All sport chutes have one or two pieces of fabric, called gores, removed to make steering easier.

Oh, yes, you steer them. But let's take a trip to a sport parachute jump center. If you are planning to take a skydive, you must attend a class taught by a licensed instructor. You don't just hop in a plane and leap out into thin air.

From the classroom you proceed to a sandbox where you are taught the PLF (parachute landing fall). You must pass that test. Then you practice making a proper exit from the jump plane. . . . on the ground, of course. After that, if you are still jump-minded, you don overalls, special shoes, parachute, reserve chute, helmet and goggles, and climb into the monoplane.

At a 2,200-foot level, the jumpmaster, kneeling beside the open doorway, tosses out a yellow streamer to check wind direction and velocity. Selecting the jump-spot directly over a target in the form of a 24-foot white cross surrounded by two white circles, he taps you on the shoulder. "Go!"

This is it! Scared? Who wouldn't be—even though you know the chute will open automatically?

For the first five jumps you are on what is called the static line. Standing on the jump step, the wind whipping your overalls, you leap into space, arms and legs spread-eagled. Will that chute ever open? Then you feel the tug and . . . down you float.

A voice penetrates your consciousness from the loud speaker near the landing field. "To the left . . . to the left, I say." You grope for the left toggle attached to one of the risers and pull it. Your body turns to the left. Or it may be the order is to turn to the right. If you obey instructions, you will land on target. Very few miss it, and the shock will be no more than jumping off a 4-foot wall.

Fun? There's nothing to compare with it. You will find yourself walking on air for days after. Safe? Those who go in for it say it is safer than skin diving or skiing.

Let's Explore Those Strange Light Rings

Old sayings about the weather speak of a halo or ring around the moon.

You can divide such rings or halos into three types. The true halo is a set of rings of light around the moon. It is cut or touched by still other rings of moonlight.

When a single ring shows around the moon, it is called a crown or corona. If there are bright rings of light with straight lines of light going out from them, these are called aureoles.

An aureole is formed when moonlight passes through fog banks in our atmosphere.

To make any of these rings of light, the light waves must pass through masses of rain drops, ice crystals, or fog. All these are, of course, in the atmosphere of earth.

When light passes through clouds or fog, its rays are bent. It is the bending of the rays that makes the halo or ring appear.

When you see any sort of a ring around the moon, it means that there are clouds of raindrops and ice particles or banks of fog in our atmosphere.

These masses of water in the air usually mean that the weather will change. Most often they mean that rain or snow is coming.

Ping Pong Tip
Dents can be removed from ping pong balls by pouring boiling water over them until the dents disappear. The heat of the water expands the air inside the ball. Just floating them in boiling water achieves the same purpose.

Date Time
If you have a really good reason for being out later than usual, here's a way to help persuade your parents. Set an alarm for a quarter past the time you are due home and place it outside your bedroom door. You'll be sure to get there to turn it off before it rings.

SHORT STORY—Andrea Finally Found Out Why Everyone Liked Dogs

Andrea didn't like dogs. She didn't know why. Her cousin Billy had been saved by a dog. He had dived into a lake, where the water was over his head. His pet collie had swum out and pulled him to shore.

Her Uncle John had his house saved from burning by his dog. The family had gone away for the afternoon. Prince had been left at home. The dog smelled smoke in the basement and barked until someone came to find out what was the matter, and the house was saved.

Her friend Patty's poodle had won a Blue Ribbon Prize at a dog show. Her friend Lucy's wire-haired terrier could stand up on its hind legs and turn somersaults and it was fun to watch him do tricks.

Her friend Laurie's dog walked her to school and then walked back carefully all by himself. Her neighbor, Mr. Charles, had a dog who carried his newspaper home from the store every morning. Everybody liked dogs. But Andrea didn't like dogs.

Andrea lived in a two-family house. They lived in the upstairs apartment. One day a new family moved into the apartment downstairs. They were the Gluck family. There was Mrs. Gluck and Mr. Gluck and Greg Gluck. Greg looked like a nice boy and Andrea wanted to be friends with him.

The first morning after they moved in, Andrea went downstairs. "I'll show you the way to school," she said.

"Thanks," said Greg. "Do you want to come in for a minute while I get my hat?"

Andrea started to go into the house. She saw a dog at Greg's side. She stopped and pulled back.

Just then Mrs. Gluck called, "Come in, Andrea. I have some fresh baked cookies you can take with you for your school snack."

Andrea walked in slowly. The dog hid in a corner.

"Don't be afraid, Baby," Greg said, patting his dog. "It's the girl from upstairs. She won't hurt you."

Andrea looked at the dog, crouching in the corner. "Do you mean the dog is afraid of me?" she asked.

"Yes," Greg said sadly. "When she was a pup some children had her who pulled her tail and threw rocks at her. Now she's afraid of all children. She won't go outside and fetch a stick the way other dogs do. She won't go for a walk with me if any other children come along."

I didn't like her so much, Andrea said.

"Oh, but you mustn't," Andrea said.

Baby. Baby came over to lick

Andrea said. "She looks like such a nice dog. You must try to help her."

"I've tried everything," Greg said. "I call her Baby because she's so afraid of everything."

"Do you know something, Greg?" Andrea said, "I'm afraid of dogs. Maybe Baby and I can help each other."

It was hard at first for both Andrea and the dog to become friends. If Andrea came near the dog, she would back away whimpering. If the dog got more courage and came sniffing near Andrea, Andrea would become startled and shy away.

One day Andrea's mother had some meat and bones left over from supper. Andrea took it downstairs, neatly in a package and gave it to

Baby. Baby came over to lick

Andrea's foot to say "thank you." Andrea started to draw away, as she always did, and then the dog lifted her paw as if to shake hands with her.

"Look, Greg," Andrea called, "Baby and I are really friends," and she bent down and patted Baby's coat. "How nice and warm she feels," Andrea said. "Oh, what a good dog. I never knew that a dog could be so much fun. I'm going to ask mother to get me a dog for my birthday."

"Maybe you won't have to ask your mother to get you a dog," Greg smiled. "If Baby has pups, she'll give you one for a present. In the meantime, I'll be glad to share Baby with you."

Andrea and that, Andrea knew why everybody liked dogs.

ARTHUR FIEDLER

The final week in which to subscribe for next season's Kingston Community Concert Association series will start Sunday. The series will include the beloved Boston Pops Orchestra with Arthur Fiedler, conductor, Metropolitan Opera Star, Rose Stengs, and the young violin virtuoso, Jamie Laredo. Memberships which are open to all simply by paying the annual fee, will be available from any worker or at headquarters in the Governor Clinton Hotel, 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. daily.

Since 1952 when Boston Pops conductor Arthur Fiedler first took his touring orchestra on the road, it has been the most popular orchestra of its kind in North America. Its current tour was sold out within record time after it was announced.

Fiedler and the Boston Pops have been best sellers on RCA Victor Records for more than 20 years. Its "Jalousie" was the first RCA Victor Red Seal record by an orchestra to pass the one-million sales mark. Familiar record titles include The Boston Tea Party;

Classical Music for People Who Hate Classical Music; Hi-Fi Fiedler; Mr. Strauss Comes to Boston; Classical Juke Box and Pops; Caviar Fiedler and the Pops have more listings in the RCA Victor catalog than any other orchestra. When Victor released its list of "101 All-Time Best Sellers," Fiedler and the Pops led the list with 16 different numbers.

Arthur Fiedler has been sought after as guest conductor of such orchestras as those of Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, Toronto, Montreal, Minneapolis, Miami, NBC, CBS, San Antonio, Seattle and the music capitals of South America. It is with his Boston Pops Tour orchestra that he has been able to bring live to millions of the fans all across the country the same beloved, overfamiliar repertoire and masterful performances that have made "Fiedler and the Pops" all-time favorites in Boston and on records.

The Pops with Fiedler were first brought to Kingston in the 1954-55 series and will be remembered as one of the all time favorites in local concert histories.

Paderewski Award Is Won by Pianist

Marcel Jablonski of New York, 21-year-old pianist at the Juilliard School of Music, for the past four years, is announced as winner of the Kosciuszko Foundation's 1961 Paderewski scholarship award of $1,000 for pianists between the ages of 17 and 21, who are aiming at concert careers. The award was established in 1959 by R. J. Schaefer, president of the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., especially for pianists of Polish extraction. The offer is limited to residents of the states of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

Announcement of the winner was made by Dr. Stephen P. Mizwa, Foundation president. Judges included Frank Sheridan, concert pianist and teacher, and Dr. Edwin Hughes, musicologist and teacher, who studied under Lesistzky, famous European piano teacher who taught and prepared Jan Paderewski for his notable career as a concert pianist.

Mr. Jablonski was born in Krakow, Poland in November, 1939. His piano studies began at the age of six at the Krakow Conservatory of Music. As war refugees, the family lived in Italy and England before settling permanently in Edmonton, Canada. Winning recognition in Canada for his talent, young Jablonski came to the United States to further his training. In 1957 he was awarded a Mitropoulos scholarship to Aspen, Colorado for summer study and was accepted at Juilliard as a student of Mme. Rosina Lhevinne, teacher of Van Cliburn, John Browning and other outstanding young pianists. In June 1958, Jablonski won the Kosciuszko Foundation's national Chopin competition for a scholarship of $1,000.

The Foundation has served during the past 35 years as an educational and cultural center for Polish-Americans. The Paderewski award instituted by Mr. Schaefer to commemorate the 100th birthday anniversary of the famous pianist, is one of three musical awards offered by the Foundation annually as well as extensive academic grants to outstanding young students of Polish ancestry. The Foundation House is located at 15 East 65th Street.

The queen and two attendants will then reign at the Page One Ball on Saturday, May 13, also at the Wiltwyck. This afternoon's event is open to the public at no charge. (Freeman photo)

Hadassah Conference Slated May 15-17

The Lower New York State Region of Hadassah will hold its spring conference Monday through Wednesday, May 15-17, at the Eldorado Hotel, Fallsburg.

Mrs. Arthur London, president-elect of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah, is official delegate from the local group. All members may attend any of the conference sessions.

Present and incoming board members are requested to attend the Tuesday, May 16 session; included will be a "Leadership Training and Organization Workshop," set for 2 p. m.

Members of the local group who wish to attend any conference session should contact Mrs. William Buchbinder, 265 Main Street, for further information. Car pools will be arranged.

The opening day's sessions include the regional president's report, membership and fund-raising workshops, and a dinner meeting. Speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Nancy Forsberg, executive secretary of the New Jersey Chapter of the American Christian Palestine committee. A graduate of Denison University, she holds a graduate degree from Yale Divinity School and is an ordained Congregational minister. Miss Forsberg recently returned from two months in Israel, where she studied the progress and development of the nation. She will speak on fears and tensions in the Middle East and their significance for Americans.

Chapter presidents will hold a breakfast meeting Tuesday, May 16, also on the day's schedule are a program workshop and the leadership training session.

George T. Donahue, supervisor of the Bureau of Guidance for the New York State Education Department, will speak on "Hadassah as a Force for Education in Israel" at the evening plenary session. A member of Hadassah's national advisory council, he has studied the problems of vocational education in this country and in Israel.

Mrs. Carl Spector, conference advisor and recently elected national vice-president of Hadassah, will discuss Hadassah's role in education in this country. She has served as national life membership chairman and was a delegate to the 1960 World Zionist Congress.

The Wednesday, May 17, agenda includes committee reports and elections of officers. A regional board meeting will follow.

At the closing luncheon awards for membership, fund-raising, visual aids, program and conference participation will be presented.

MRS. GEORGE HUGHES

Synnott - Hughes Wedding Is Announced; Bride Wears Gown of White Silk, Taffeta

Miss Jamie Ann Synnott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Synnott, Oswego, wed George Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes Sr., 82 Cedar Street, Kingston, at St. Paul's Catholic Church, Oswego on April 15 at 11 a. m. Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. M. Fuchs.

Organist was James Cole. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk mist over taffeta. It was designed with a modified scoop neckline trimmed with re-embroidered Alencon lace appliques and short lace sleeves. The bouffant skirt had side panels which fell to a graceful chapel train. A crown of waxed orange blossoms was secured to a very full silk illusion veil. She carried a prayer book with hybrid white orchids and ivy strands with satin streamers.

Kathleen Synnott of Oswego, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor in a lilac silk organza gown in ballerina length styled with a scoop neckline, short cirelet sleeves and a full skirt with tiers cascading down the back. She also wore a matching hat with flirtation veil. Miss Synnott carried a colonial bouquet of feathered orchid carnations outlined with feathered white carnations and tulips, with white satin ribbon.

Attendants were Miss Rose Kramer of Mt. Vernon and Miss Patricia Ausanio of Kingston, niece of the bridegroom. They wore gowns identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant. Donald Dempsey of Plattekill was best man. Ushering were Richard Petro of Albany and William Parmelee of Kingston.

Barbara Hughes, the bridegroom's niece served as flower girl. She was attired in lilac organza and wore a flowered headpiece.

A reception was given at the Knights of Columbus Home for more than 100 guests, after which the couple left on a trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will reside at 223 Hurley Avenue, Kingston. The bride is employed by the Ulster County Health Department and her husband is employed by the Twaalfskill Golf Club.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, Ulster County Extension Service Association submits the following article on streamlined ranges:

In recent years household equipment has been generally upgraded in quality. Too, the development of new items, such as dehumidifiers, dishwashers, synthetic carpet fibers, has done much to improve our level of living.

Household economists point out the advances that have been made in gas and electric ranges. Both of these may now be purchased with barbecue attachments and rotisseries. Also prevalent are warming drawers, double ovens, and thermostatic burners. Even low-priced electric ranges include ovens with clock timers. And most gas ranges now have automatic oven lighting.

Greatly increased in popularity are the built-in range tops and separate electric ovens which lend themselves to modern kitchen design. Better yet, a separate electric oven can be installed at a height that means maximum comfort, safety and convenience for the user.

Research has even undertaken to learn what determines a convenient oven height for each individual homemaker. This information is given in Cornell bulletin number 945, "What Height for Your Separate Electric Oven?" You may receive a copy by writing to Ulster County Home Demonstration Department, 220 Wall St., U.P.O. Box 545, Kingston, N. Y. or by calling FE 8-3494.

In Need of Credit? Most families today make use of credit to furnish a home, to buy a car, even to take a vacation. And although credit is usually available from more than one source, in many instances people are apt to accept the first proposition they are offered without shopping around.

Specialists in the field of household economics and management found that out of 21 newly married couples recently interviewed in a college town, only one couple had applied for a loan at a number of places and borrowed where the terms suited them best.

Did You Know Automatic clothes dryers are reported to be in popularity; from 1949 to 1959 dryer sales increased more than tenfold. It has been said that of all the world's scientists who have ever lived, 90 per cent are alive today. In modern times, our knowledge doubles every ten years.

Americans are eating three times as much lettuce today as they ate 40 years ago. Main reason is that lettuce has become a year-round product in supermarkets.

Kingston Evening Unit

The Kingston Evening Unit will hold its next meeting June 9 at 8 p. m. in the Colonial Gardens Community Rooms.

Miss Dorothy Rhodes of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company will show slides on "Kitchen Planning."

Plans for a June dinner will be made. Hostesses for the evening will be Miss Nancy Hussey, Mrs. Ann Hubicek and Mrs. John Napoleon.

Ulster Art Association

The Ulster County Art Association held a monthly meeting at the YWCA recently. A demonstration of water colors was given by Augustus P. Modjeska, which was very instructive.

The Art Association was formed 14 years ago by the late "Pop" Fuhrman and has a membership of 45 today.

Anyone interested in painting is invited to attend the meetings. Information may be obtained from Mrs. William J. Soper, president, 287 West Chestnut Street.

Spring Concert Is Planned for May 14 In Clintondale

The Clintondale Methodist Church will present its sixth annual spring concert on Sunday, May 14 at 8 p. m.

The program is rather unique and quite varied. It will be given in honor of Mother's Day.

The Sacred Dance Choir of the Huguenot Dancers has choreographed a new work for the concert and will also present dances related to Mother's Day and to Biblical stories.

Refreshments will be served during intermission by the Women's Society for Christian Service. The concert is under the direction of Mrs. Albert Beard.

Tickets will be available at the door. Public is invited.

In Recent Exercise

Army M/Sgt. Louis Persinger Jr., whose wife, Janet, lives on Route 1, Kingston, participated in Exercise Spring Tonic, a V Corps field training exercise, in Germany which ended April 27. Spring Tonic was designed to test the ability of signal units to provide fast, efficient field communications between V Corps headquarters and other corps units under simulated combat conditions.

Sergeant Persinger, who is assigned to the corps' headquarters, which is regularly located in Frankfurt, entered the Army in June 1941 and arrived overseas, on this tour of duty, in December 1958.

A 1935 graduate of Birch Wathen High School, New York City, he attended Columbia University and is a member of Delta Phi fraternity. His father lives at 340 Riverside Drive, New York.

Participated in Test

Army Pfc James E. Vandenberg, 19, son of Arthur A. Vandenberg, Route 205, New Paltz, participated with other personnel from the 101st Airborne Division's 502d Infantry in a special STRAC (Strategic Army Corps) alert at Fort Campbell, Ky., Friday.

Vandenberg, a rifleman in the infantry's Company C at the fort, entered the Army last July and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

Miss Clara S. Carr, daughter of Mrs. Martin D. Carr of 15 Elizabeth Street, Kingston, wed Ronald George Scheffel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Scheffel of 103 Andrew Street, Saturday, April 22 at a 2 p. m. ceremony held in St. Joseph's Church, this city.

Officiating was the Rev. William E. Williams. Organist was Mrs. Frank Rafferty and Donald

Sweeney sang "Ave Maria," and "Mother Beloved."

Pedestal vases of white gladioli and shasta daisies with snapdragons decorated the church. The family pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Frederick B. Carr. She wore a pure silk organza gown over silk bouquet taffeta with fitted bodice, modified scoop neckline trimmed with pearl studded appliques of Alencon lace, long pointed silk sleeves and full skirt of silk. The skirt was also fashioned with shirred drapes on each side and scattered appliques of Alencon lace terminating in a circular chapel train. Her veil was fingertip length imported English silk illusion caught to an Alencon lace cloche with a silk organza rose. The bride carried a cascade of white butterfly roses, stephanotis and Dutchess roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Ellen Jane Kelly of 100 Elmendorf Street, Kingston. Attendants were Mrs. Peter J. Camp, sister of the bride; Mrs. Bernard Scheffel, bridegroom's sister-in-law. All the attendants wore ballgown gowns in mist blue silk organza and lace fitted bodice set in lace forming scooped neckline and short lace sleeves. Full silk skirts featured small silk bows at the waistlines. Their hats were of silk petal wreaths with single roses and they were worn with circular veils in matching colors.

Bernard Scheffel of Kingston was best man for his brother. Ushering were Ralph DiMuccio of Mt. Marion and Robert Scheffel of 186 Highland Avenue. Approximately 150 guests were entertained at a reception given at Sportsmen Park.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Hall of Records. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and North Carolina State College and is employed by Rotron in Woodstock. He also served with the U. S. Army as a first lieutenant.

Mr. and Mrs. Scheffel will reside at 9 Reynolds Street in Kingston when they return from their wedding trip to Washington, D. C.

League Hears Talk On Parliamentary Procedures Here

Mrs. Burton W. Johnson, first vice president, presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Junior League of Kingston on Monday, May 1 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

It was announced that Miss Rose Abernethy, professor of speech at the University of the State of New York at New Paltz and a member of the local league, will conduct a workshop on Parliamentary Procedure on Wednesday evening, May 17 in the Children's Room of the Kingston City Library. This workshop is for all board members, committee chairmen and provisionals and other members of the League are invited to be present.

Mrs. Erica Beck Rubenstein, a teacher of history of art was the guest speaker of the evening. Mrs. Rubenstein received her A.B. degree from Vassar, her M.A. and Ph.D. from Radcliffe College in the Department of Fine Arts. She has been a professor at Vassar, lectured at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. and is currently teaching History of Art at the Dutchess County Community College in Poughkeepsie. Both she and her husband, Lewis Rubenstein were recipients of Fulbright scholarships for 1957-58 to study art in Japan.

A very interesting and informative talk accompanied by a showing of colored slides of Japanese art was presented. Many of the slides had a religious significance such as frescos of Buddha and other gods dating back to the sixth and seventh centuries. Some religious scrolls dating back to the 13th century were also shown. The ink painting method employed in the 12th, 13th and 14th centuries in Japan showed evidences of being influenced by the Chinese ink paintings of that time.

Mrs. Rubenstein then showed a few slides of her husband's work using the Japanese technique of the horizontal scrolls and ink paintings. His work showed evidences of influence both of the East and West.

At the 39 annual conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America, held May 1-5 at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel, Dallas, Texas the Junior League of Kingston was represented by Mrs. Robert A. MacKinnon, president and Mrs. Robert B. O'Reilly, chairman of public relations.

The keynote address of the conference was given Thursday evening by H. Christian Sonne. Mr. Sonne is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the National Planning Association and President of the South Ridge Corporation of New York City. He founded the banking firm of Amsinck, Sonne and Company, is an official of the Twentieth Century Fund and the Committee for Economic Development, and a published author.

Miss Barbara Grace Johnson of Baltimore, Maryland was named first vice-president and Mrs. John W. Lundeen, Jr., of Atlanta, Georgia was named treasurer of the Association. These women are two of the twenty members of the AJLA Boards of Directors which represents 79,500 women engaged in volunteer service in 199 league cities throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Bowers - Doty Wedding Is Announced Here; Couple Plan to Make Kingston Their Home

Exchanging nuptial vows at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Saturday, April 29 at 2 p. m. were Miss Shirley Marie Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Post of 136 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, and Frederick C. Doty of 401 East Chester Street, this city, son of James C. Doty, Huntington, L. I.

Officiating was the Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise. Mrs. Lester E. Decker was at the organ. White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Harold Bowers of Bloomington. She wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta in full length over taffeta designed with a scalloped neckline outlined in Chantilly lace. The bodice was fitted and the bouffant skirt was trimmed with back bow. A pure illusion veil was attached to a silk and lace pillow trimmed with seed pearls. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Bonita Albers of Elmhurst, L. I. was the maid of honor. She wore a silk organza ballerina length gown in turquoise. It was softly draped about the neckline and featured a fitted bodice with full skirt trimmed with embroidery. A matching bow of rice straw completed her ensemble. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow mums.

Miss Betty Perry of Kingston, who served at attendant, was gown in pastel pink and carried a colonial bouquet of assorted pink mums and blue iris.

Ralph L. Gilbert of Westfield, N. J. was best man. Ushers were F. J. Robbins, Huntington, L. I., and Charles E. Meyer of Kingston.

Guests were received at a reception given at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing where she is now serving as a nurse on the hospital staff.

Her husband, an alumnus of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, is employed as a project engineer by IBM in Kingston. He also served with the U. S. Navy.

For her wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride wore a mint green dress with beige accessories and an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Doty will reside at 401 East Chester Street, this city, when they return.

THE TELEVISION SET AND VISITORS

Q: The other evening there was a special program on the television that my husband and I wanted very much to see. Just as the program was about to start, the doorbell rang and in walked neighbors of ours to pay us a visit. I immediately turned the television set off and I could see my husband was very displeased, but of course he said nothing. Later, however, he protested my turning the set off and thinks it would have been perfectly all right to leave it on and watch the program as we had planned to do. I have always felt that it was very rude to leave the television set on when visitors are present. Will you please give us your opinion on this matter?

A: You were right in turning off your television set, but you might have said as you did so, "I'm turning it off unless you would like to watch the Bill Smith program with us." If they had answered with any enthusiasm that they would, you could have left the set on.

A Business Trip With Her Employer

Q: My employer wants me to go with him on a business trip to one of our company's factories located about 300 miles from here. Although we can travel there in one day, the work will require most of a week, which means staying in the hotel. There is only one decent one in the town. I wonder if such an arrangement could possibly cause gossip in the home office.

A: If your relationship with him is as strictly impersonal as it should be, and you give no cause for criticism, I am sure this trip will not result in any office gossip.

Announcing Her Own Engagement

Q: I am about to announce my engagement but am puzzled as to the correct way to do this. My parents are not living and I have no near relatives living in this city who could announce it for me. Will you please tell me what wording

Wappingers Falls Belts Saugerties High, 9-2, in DCSL Tilt Rondout Valley, New Paltz, Highland Capture UCAL Clashes

Nolan's Wildness Aids Winners in 4th Frame Rally

Taking advantage of control trouble on the part of starter John Nolan, Wappingers Falls remained unbeaten in the DCSL with a 9-2 triumph over visiting Saugerties yesterday. Nolan was forced to depart in the third frame when the home side picked up six runs to give Gary Brown a good working margin. He breezed from there.

In another circuit contest, Arlington stayed even with the Fallsmen, stopping Beacon, 7-1.

Wappingers went into the last of the third leading by a 1-0 margin. Then Nolan gave up a single to Eddie Smith to start the frame and he walked the next two hitters to clog the sacks.

After getting on infield out, the Saugerties ace proceeded to pass two more hitters, forcing in a pair of runs. An infield out accounted for another and a safety by Tom Smith delivered two more.

At this point Coach Bill Straub bought in Mike Fury and he was tagged for the final run of the inning before getting the side out. Fury and Kelly Mills divided the hurling the rest of the game.

Brown, the senior ace of the Falls pitching staff, had easy sailing. The two runs off him came in the sixth when Dick Marelli singled and scored on a booming triple by Bill Eckhoff. He then crossed the dish on a passed ball.

Brown gave up only three hits, walked one and struck out a dozen. He's one of the best pitchers in the area.

Braves Slate Tryouts At Stadium on May 14

Tryouts for the Kingston Braves of the New York-New Jersey Baseball League will be held Sunday, May 14, at 2 p. m. at Dietz Stadium, General Manager Fred Davi announced today.

Davi said the tryouts are open to all baseball players in the area.

"Our roster is wide open this year," said the veteran baseball pilot, an indication that he expects to rely more on mid-Hudson area talent than in other years.

The Braves, who finished second to the championship Spring Valley Bengals in 1960, will again have a trip with the Milwaukee Braves of the National League.

Davi recently conferred with John Mullen, director of Milwaukee's minor league operations, and was assured continued support by the Braves' farm system, including players.

The Kingston team is scheduled to launch the 1961 season with four road games, with the home opener on June 10 with Poughkeepsie. The seasonal opener is against Poughkeepsie at Riverview Field on Friday night, May 26.

The Braves will be at West Haverstraw on Memorial Day, then play a doubleheader at Newburgh on June 4, with games scheduled at 2:05 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. The second game of the N.Y.-N.J. doubleheaders this season will be seven-inning affairs.

The Braves schedule:

Friday, May 26 — At Poughkeepsie.
Tuesday, May 30 — At West Haverstraw.
Sunday, June 4 — At Newburgh (2).
Saturday, June 10 — Poughkeepsie, here.
Saturday, June 17 — At Millbrook, 2:30 p. m.
Saturday, June 27 — Kinderhook, here, 8:30 p. m.
Saturday, June 24 — Spring Valley, here.
Sunday, June 25 — At West Haverstraw.
Saturday, July 1 — Millbrook, here, 8:30 p. m.
Saturday, July 1 — At Beacon.

Syndicate Wins Yonkers Feature

Syndicate moved from third spot at the top of the stretch to win the $675,000 Fleetwood Pace at Yonkers Raceway Friday night.

The five-year-old son of Dominion Graton, Syndicate posted a 2:01.45 for the mile and returned $16,600. The winning driver was Eugene Minnear. Muncy Hanover took second place and Miss Deimon Abbe third.

At Buffalo Raceway, Bold Colby posted the season's fastest time, 1:11 on a slow track, to win the $2,000 invitational trotting feature.

Bold Colby, driven by Bud Gilmore, returned $33,500.

Torrence Hanover was second and Heathcliffe third.

At Buffalo tonight, the first dash of the Harness Tracks of America series takes place for an estimated $12,000 stake.

Favored for the mile event for four-year-old pacers was Merrie Gesture, at 5-2. Del Insko, the nation's top reinsman last year, will be the favorite's driver.

Other starters: Knight Time, Pacific Pioneer, Ace of Spades, K. D. Senator, Whiz Abbe, and Poplar.

The series continues at tracks in Maryland, Ohio, Illinois, and Michigan, with the final $50,000 dash scheduled for June 24 at Roosevelt Raceway.

Ganders Defeat Ontario, 8-2, In Stadium Game

This figures to be a long season for an undermanned Ontario Central baseball team. Yesterday the winless Indians lost, 8-2, to Rondout Valley in a UCAL clash at Dietz Stadium as the winners tallied six times in the third inning.

Freshman righty Gordie Bell went until the sixth frame for the Ganders and Jim Bush had to come in and mop up the win. George Loveless, another freshman, hurled for Ontario and he did a good job, aside from the third.

Big blow of the inning was a two-run homer by Keith Johnson, his second in two days. He also had a double to pace the nine hit attack. Clark Crespi tripled and singled for the winners while Brush doubled. Dick Bartsch stroked a two-baser for Ontario.

The win kept Rondout in pennant contention with a 2-1 league mark while Ontario is tied with Wallkill in last place with an 0-3 record.

Jersey City Star Is a One Man Show

That Dave Stenhouse puts on quite a show.

The 27-year-old Jersey City right-hander almost single-handedly whipped Toronto's defending International League champion Friday night, holding the Maple Leafs to three singles and stroking three hits himself in a 3-1 victory.

The triumph moved the Jerseys within two games of the league-leading Columbus Jets, whose game with Rochester was rained out. Elsewhere, Buffalo beat San Juan 6-1 and Syracuse defeated Richmond 10-6 in 10 innings.

Felix Torres belted San Juan pitching for three doubles and a single, raising his batting average to .380, and Wally Shannon hit a homer as Buffalo won the first night game in New War Memorial Stadium. Dick Bunker (1-1) went the distance for the win.

A three-run homer by catcher Sam Mauney in the extra session gave the Chiefs and relief pitcher Bob Porterfield their victory over the Virginians, who had fought back from a 6-0 deficit.

The Reds, after handing the Braves a pair of unearned runs, trailed 4-1 going into the ninth against starter Lew Burdette, who gave up 12 hits. Don Blasingame doubled home the first score in the four-run ninth before Post unloaded against reliever Seth Morehead. The Braves tied it 3-5 in their ninth on Al Spangler's double and a throwing error by winning reliever Jim Brosnan (1-1).

Win Behind Marichal
The Giants made it in a breeze behind the seven-hit pitching of Juan Marichal (2-1). The young right-hander blanked the Phils after a third-inning home run by Johnny Callison, who was 3-for-3. Willie Mays scored the deciding run in the third when he walked and then caught the Phils by surprise, racing all the way home on a single by Orlando Cepeda when left fielder Bobby Gene Smith fumbled the hit and threw to second.

Southpaw Johnny Podres had to retire after six innings when his forearm tightened, but won his sixth in a row, fourth this season, for the Dodgers. Reliever Dick Farrell, acquired Thursday from Philadelphia, completed the seven-hit shutout, allowing just one hit and striking out five in a three-inning mop up. Right-hander Bob Friend, a four-time winner, lost his first as the Dodgers swung for 15 hits, five for extra bases, and collected five unearned runs on five errors.

Binghamton's Larry Del Margo, scoring three runs in the first inning and six in the third. It was Del Margo's first loss of the season.

In other games, Williamsport defeated Lancaster 13-1, and Reading beat Binghamton 9-2. The Reading Indians pounced on

Reds Rally To Defeat Milwaukee

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

A three-run pinch homer by Wally Post brought Cincinnati from behind, and a sacrifice fly by Chico Cardenas scored the deciding run as the fourth-place Reds defeated Milwaukee 6-5 in 12 innings Friday night for their sixth straight success.

San Francisco gained a two-game National League lead by beating Philadelphia 4-2 while the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced second place Pittsburgh 10-0. The Chicago-St. Louis game was rained out.

The Reds, after handing the Braves a pair of unearned runs, trailed 4-1 going into the ninth against starter Lew Burdette, who gave up 12 hits. Don Blasingame doubled home the first score in the four-run ninth before Post unloaded against reliever Seth Morehead. The Braves tied it 3-5 in their ninth on Al Spangler's double and a throwing error by winning reliever Jim Brosnan (1-1).

Win Behind Marichal
The Giants made it in a breeze behind the seven-hit pitching of Juan Marichal (2-1). The young right-hander blanked the Phils after a third-inning home run by Johnny Callison, who was 3-for-3. Willie Mays scored the deciding run in the third when he walked and then caught the Phils by surprise, racing all the way home on a single by Orlando Cepeda when left fielder Bobby Gene Smith fumbled the hit and threw to second.

Southpaw Johnny Podres had to retire after six innings when his forearm tightened, but won his sixth in a row, fourth this season, for the Dodgers. Reliever Dick Farrell, acquired Thursday from Philadelphia, completed the seven-hit shutout, allowing just one hit and striking out five in a three-inning mop up. Right-hander Bob Friend, a four-time winner, lost his first as the Dodgers swung for 15 hits, five for extra bases, and collected five unearned runs on five errors.

Binghamton's Larry Del Margo, scoring three runs in the first inning and six in the third. It was Del Margo's first loss of the season.

In other games, Williamsport defeated Lancaster 13-1, and Reading beat Binghamton 9-2. The Reading Indians pounced on

Huguenots Rap 13 Safeties to Top Wallkill, 13-3

Billy Lohrman and Woody Osterhoudt combined to pitch a four hitter and New Paltz overwhelmed Wallkill, 13-3, in a UCAL attraction yesterday at the winners' diamond. The Huguenots are still unbeaten with five straight victories, including three in the league.

Every starter in the lineup with the exception of catcher George Bond had at least one hit for Huguenots' club. Valkey Van Valkenburg stroked three singles and Biff Longfield and Glen Moore had two safeties each. Leadoff batter John Keator rapped a triple.

Lohrman went five good frames for the winners and Osterhoudt finished up. They combined for eight strikeouts and four walks.

The Huguenots will hose Highland in a crucial league game on Tuesday while Wallkill will meet visiting Rondout Valley in another circuit clash.

Albany's 31 Sets 76-Year-Record

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—For the second time this week records for low temperatures for May dates in Albany were shattered. The Weather Bureau reported today.

At 6 a. m. today, the Albany temperature stood at 31 degrees, one below freezing, breaking a record set in 1885, when 32 degrees was registered.

On May Day, Monday, 28 degrees was noted here, breaking a record of 29 degrees set in 1876. On Wednesday, a record of 30 degrees, set in 1944, was tied.

Other low temperatures around the state today included Poughkeepsie, 32; Massena, 30; Watertown, 28 and Elmira, 29.

In a cheerier vein, the bureau said the next few days will bring balmy weather and above normal temperatures.

Zeller Gives Up, Was in Algerian Attempted Coup

ALGIERS (AP)—A rebel French general, hiding out since the unsuccessful army insurrection in Algeria collapsed last month, surrendered today.

Gen. Andre Zeller, white-haired retired soldier, turned himself in to the Algiers prefect of police after sending a letter saying he was ready to give up. Zeller now faces trial and possible execution.

Zeller, 62, told Prefect Rene Janin he had been hiding in Algiers with relatives since he vanished the night of April 25 with Gens. Raoul Salan and Edmond Jouhaud.

He ranked behind them in the chain of command under ring-leader Gen. Maurice Challe. Challe surrendered when his revolt collapsed. Salan and Jouhaud are still being sought.

The government said it also seized numerous documents dealing with the insurrection when Zeller surrendered.

A special court already has been set up in Paris to try Challe. Zeller now may be tried with him.

Vehicle Hits Sign

A Saugerties motorist escaped injury Friday when the 1961 truck she was operating went out of control and knocked down a no-parking sign at the intersection of East Chester Street and Hasbrouck Avenue.

According to Detective William Slover's report, June F. Jasienowski, Route 1, Box 7, Saugerties, was the operator of the vehicle. Police also reported the vehicle struck a traffic signal pole.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The business week quickened on a broad front this week.

Confidence soared that the economy definitely was on the upgrade from what some described as the shallowest depression in the country's history.

Highly Optimistic

Even as business men in many instances reported poor first-quarter earnings, they were highly optimistic about prospects for the rest of the year.

And there was much concrete evidence of better performances in many segments of business.

It included: rising automobile sales, increased steel production, a decline in unemployment, an improvement in sales of major appliances, a gain in manufacturers' new orders and sales, and an increase in installment credit.

A survey of purchasing agents showed the biggest percentage improvement in new orders for any month since September 1958.

The steel industry was scheduled for its eighth consecutive weekly increase in production. Last week the latest for which figures were available, the output climbed 41 per cent over the previous week.

The metalworking trade publication, Iron Age, said, "The improvement, while healthy, is gradual, and 'Steelmen' apparently feel their first real confidence."

Auto Sales Perk Up

It added that the market has come to the point where emergency orders may not be filled.

Syracuse Denies Taking Stand on Habits of Dating

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse University has denied a published report that it has an official policy of "discouraging dating between students of different religions and races."

The Daily Orange, student newspaper leveled the charge Friday after two white coeds claimed a student dean told them their parents would be notified if they continued going out with non-white boys.

Miss Marjorie Smith, dean of women, told 350 students assembled at an hour-long protest meeting Friday that she never had written any parents about girls' dating habits.

She acknowledged that she had at times advised girls to write parents themselves.

In the case of the two girls, the dean said she had talked to one about dormitory schedules that require students to be in at specified hours, not about mixed dating.

Miss Smith said she did not know the other girl.

Neither girl was identified. The university "does not discriminate against religion, race, creed or anything else," Dr. Eric Faigle, a university vice chancellor and dean of the Liberal Arts College, told students.

The meeting was called by Charoen Kanthawong of Thailand, president of the university's International Students Association.

"We came thousands of miles from home and we are insulted," he told the university officials.

"We realize we are here as a privilege and not as a right. If we had known beforehand—if it had been put in the university catalogue—we would not have come to this institution."

Faigle replied: "This university does welcome international students. We want you to know that you are welcome."

Tip to Women

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Dean Peter V. Ball of the Episcopal Cathedral of All Saints here suggests that women wear lipstick that does not rub off easily.

His reason: Communicants at the church receive the sacrament as a wafer and also as wine from a chalice that the priest carries along the altar rail.

Brush Fire Quelled

Firemen from Engine 1 Central Fire Station were dispatched to the Twaalfskill Country Club, 282 West O'Reilly Street, at 3:59 p. m. Friday to extinguish a brush fire. Deputy Chief Edwin Murphy was in charge.

Firemen from Engine 1 Central Fire Station were dispatched to the Twaalfskill Country Club, 282 West O'Reilly Street, at 3:59 p. m. Friday to extinguish a brush fire. Deputy Chief Edwin Murphy was in charge.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. put three additional furnaces into service at its Cleveland works and announced that all 10 furnaces at Aliquippa, Pa., were working.

Automobile sales picked up substantially.

Ford Motor Co. reported 109,500 of its cars were sold in April, the greatest increase in April selling rates over March since 1946.

Chrysler Corp. said its dealers sold 69,384 cars in April, more than in any month since October and a 29 per cent gain over March.

American Motors rehired 4,000 workers who had been laid off at its Kenosha and Milwaukee, Wis., plants last October.

Industrywide production jumped to the highest weekly total of the year, an estimated 126,600 compared with 114,529 last week.

The number of unemployed declined in April but the government said it was mainly seasonal. This left the number of idle at 4,962,000. Employment rose by 218,000 to 65,734,000.

The Kennedy administration won a big victory when Congress passed a compromise bill to increase the minimum wage and broaden the law's coverage.

Program for Textiles

The President signed into law a $394-million bill to aid areas depressed by unemployment. He said the legislation was an important step in carrying out his aim that anyone who wants a job will be able to find one.

The President offered a seven-point program to aid the textile industry. He said it was intended to "meet a wide range of problems the industry faces as a result of rapid technological change, shifts in consumer preference and increasing international competition."

Business faced a crackdown on expense account living. The government said it intended to plug tax law loopholes which permit deduction of such things as yacht trips, maintenance of hunting lodges and extravagant entertainment as business expenses.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 23,065,800 shares compared with 22,400,970 the week before.

Bond volume on the exchange increased to 33,091,000 par value from $31,692,000.

Briefly around the business scene: Soft drinks soon will be marketed in eight-ounce plastic pouches with built-in straws. Trans World Airlines plans to acquire 30 new Boeing jet airliners for $187 million.

"Our free market economic system demands protection against such violations as the recently exposed price-fixing conspiracy among electrical equipment manufacturers," said President Arthur H. Motley of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Walkkill Students Earn Certificates In Shorthand Test

The third "bumper crop" of Gregg certificates since the new semester are reported earned in April by students in the Business Department at Walkkill Central School.

Earned by advanced shorthand students, the following eight certificates for five-minute dictation tests, at the speeds designated, will be issued to the following:

At 80-words: Betty Jane Branley, Patricia Jockers, Sarah Koury, Carmela Labriola, Frances Sessa, and Kathleen Wager; 100-words: Sarah Koury; 60-words: Betty Shatney. In June these students will take a Regents examination at 80-words-a-minute.

Two seniors in the secretarial practice class have earned three-minute dictation speed test certificates at 120 words a minute. They are Eileen Napolitano and Brenda Teasdale.

Only those shorthand speed tests that pass at 95 per cent or better qualify. Miss Napolitano's was 100 per cent perfect; Miss Teasdale's 97 per cent.

Other certificates earned by Walkkill's shorthand students are for the following transcription rates:

Eileen Napolitano 32-words-a-minute; Brenda Teasdale 23; Sarah Koury 19; and Mary Schofield 18. These tests show rate of perfect intelligibility from dictations at speed of either 60, 80, or 100-words-a-minute.

In the beginning shorthand group, the following three have earned their certificates for five-minute takes at 60-words-a-minute: Jeanne Becker, Bettmann Galick, and Ellen Tozzi. Miss Galick and Miss Tozzi also hold complete theory certificates in Gregg shorthand.

In typewriting the following speeds were attained for certification: five-minute takes — Patricia Jockers 35, Susan May 40, Betty Shatney 36, Ellen Tozzi 37, and Elaine Pedersen 44; ten-minute takes (Competent Typist): Betty Jane Branley 46, Jean Egiziano 41, Carmela Labriola 53, Elaine Pedersen 42, Mary Schofield 57, and Kathleen Wager 67. Thus far, this school year, Miss Wager holds the highest speed in typing at Walkkill.

Senior memberships in the Order of Artistic Typists (perfect accuracy on advanced work) were earned by Jeanne Becker, Bonnie Davis, Paul Handy, Rosalie Hendrickson, Carole Martin, Betty Melody, Salvatore Milano, Rosemarie Minutolo, Margaret Noye, Linda Pendleton, Sandra Robbins, and Ellen Tozzi.

Junior membership certificates in the same order go to Louis DuBois, Carole Martin, Linda Pendleton, Leonard Rosa and David Winters.

Miss Jeanne Becker was recipient of an extra award (a lapel pin with the order's emblem) for submitting the best paper in the above set, which constituted a club of ten or more candidates for this month's typing certification at Walkkill.

Named President Of Jewish Center

SEYMOUR WERBALOWSKY
A vice president and board member, Seymour Werbalowsky was elected president of Jewish Community Center at the center's annual meeting this week.

Werbalowsky comes to this position with years of experience as a board member and officer of the center, having served last year as first vice president.

Werbalowsky attended the local school system; he attended New York University, Princeton University and Penn State. From the latter he received his Bachelor of Arts Degree. Werbalowsky received his law degree from the Albany Law School.

He served in the Navy during World War II on an L.S.T. He is commissioner of elections of Ulster County; former president of B'nai B'rith Zephaniah Lodge 131, past president of the Hudson Valley Council of B'nai B'rith. Last year he served as chairman of the Cerebral Palsy fund-raising campaign. He is active in a number of other local civic organizations and trustee of Ahavath Israel Synagogue. He lives with his wife and two children on Hillside Terrace in Kingston.

Other officers elected were: David Popick, first vice-president; Mrs. Harry Spiegel, second vice-president; Dr. Herbert Derman, third vice-president; John Levy, treasurer.

The following will serve as members of the center's board of directors:

Eugene Abramsky, Aaron Bahl, Herman J. Eaton, Max Eckdsh, Mrs. Herbert Gertner, Jerome Goldberg, Mrs. Leone Gross, Mrs. Sidney Halpern, Sidney Halpern, Mrs. Alfred Horowitz, Morton Kamen, Aaron E. Klein, Mrs. Herbert Kletske, Dr. David King, Mrs. Paul Mezer, Arthur P. Motzkin, Mrs. Arnold Pinsky, Norman Reamer, Charles Ronder and Mrs. Saul Schechter.

In accepting the presidency Werbalowsky stated that this annual meeting was one of the best attended meetings that the center has had; that he was conscious of a feeling of optimism on the part of the center membership, that he was convinced that the officers and the board of directors were representative of the total Jewish community and would enable the center to organize an expanding program of activities to serve all age groups in the Jewish community.

Motorists Pay Fines
Two motorists were fined $15 or 10 days in jail today after pleading guilty before City Judge Aaron E. Klein to operator license violations. They said they would pay the fines.

Wallace Hunter, 41, of 48 South Main Street, Liberty, was accused by Patrolmen James Amato and Richard J. Dempsey of operating a motor vehicle without a license. Millard Jerome Parker, 53, of 16 Gedney Street, Newburgh was charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his vehicle.

Educators Pick Banker
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cyrus M. Higley, a bank president from Norwich, N. Y., is the new first vice president of the National School Boards Association.

He was unopposed in the election Friday.

Motorist Killed
OLEAN, N. Y. (AP)—Charles Lee Thurston, 26, of nearby Ceres, was injured fatally Friday night when his automobile left Route 17 and crashed down an embankment, two miles east of here.

Stationed at Florida
Frank A. Purcell, airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Purcell of 69 Newkirk Avenue, Kingston, is serving in the administration department at the Naval Air Station,

Assigned to Korea
Army Pfc James H. Curry, whose wife, Marie, lives on Route 3, Walkkill, is scheduled to depart Fort Riley, Kan., for Korea with other personnel from the 1st Division's 2d Battle Group, 8th Infantry. The move is being made under Operation OVUREP, the Army's Overseas Unit Replacement Program.

Operation OVUREP is designed to provide infantry replacements for units in Korea on a unit exchange basis at battle group level.

Curry, an assistant squad leader in the 8th Infantry's Company A, entered the Army last June and received basic training at the fort.

Boy Who Lost Life, Crippled Youth Are Cited as Heroes

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A boy who drowned trying to save another and a crippled youth who pushed his exhausted swimming companion 1,000 feet to safety were among 23 persons cited Friday night for courageous action in the face of death.

Joseph P. Simon, 13, of Ithaca, N. Y., was cited posthumously by the Carnegie Hero Fund. A bronze medal and $250 were awarded his mother.

Use of Hands Limited
Leonard N. Smith, 18, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., was awarded a bronze medal and $500 for saving the life of his friend, William K. O'Reilly, 18, last July 10.

Smith was born with a defect that left him with only 40 per cent of normal muscle in his limbs. But he learned to swim at an early age by kicking his legs. The use of his hands was limited.

Smith O'Reilly and John Herling had been swimming in Fish Creek, an outlet of Saratoga Lake, when, Smith recalled Friday night:

"John hollered to me that Billy was drowning, and he was too tired to help.

"I swam (200 feet) to Billy and went under water."

"We came up together and I got hold of his bathing trunks and pushed him ahead of me sort of zig-zag."

They continued for 1,000 feet when a boat picked up O'Reilly near shore.

At Ithaca, Simon and Larry Utter, 12, were drowned May 24, 1960, in Cayuga Lake Inlet.

Fully Clad at Time
Simon, fully clad, dove nine feet into the water from a bridge railing to help Utter, who was struggling to remain afloat. Utter, a poor swimmer, wrapped himself around Simon's back in panic.

Both boys were submerged in 12-foot-deep water but resurfaced. Simon pulled Utter toward a ladder near the bridge.

Both went under again and were drowned just as a third youth extended a board to Simon.
